

New Years Day Hike

A hiking party composed of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Peters, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cripe, started New Years morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kline, near Hiatt's Dam. They drove as far as Howard's service station on the Greensprings road, hiking the two miles to the Kline ranch where a most wonderful New Years dinner was prepared for them, and for other guests who included Mr. and Mrs. William Bullington, who live near the dam, as Mr. Bullington is in charge there. After dinner hours were spent congenially, and the guests departed by moonlight to hike back in knee-deep snow, to where their cars were parked.

Dinner Party at Peters Home

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Provost, Jr. entertained at a bridge dinner Thursday evening, having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Dom Provost, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crow, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Read. A pastel color scheme was used in table decorations, the centerpiece being a large bouquet of pink carnations and ferns. Lighted pink tapers were at each end of the table and nut cups in pastel shades were used. Bridge was the diversion during the evening and Colonel Lindbergh's book "We" was given as a prize for high score, which was won by Mr. and Mrs. Dom Provost.

Business Girls Club

Miss Emma Jenkins was hostess to the Business Girl's Club Thursday evening at the home of her brother, Cliff Jenkins on North Pioneer street. M'NAIR BROS. The Rexall Store

IN CLASS BY ITSELF

Books are classified as ornaments, tools, or friends. Books bought and kept only "for looks" are the ornaments; the useful dictionary and reference works are tools; while friends are the books with which one whiles away a spare hour or an evening. They should be carefully chosen, as one's spare time should always be spent in good company.

In a class by itself is the savings passbook which is both a tool and a friend. Its usefulness requires concentration in working hours and a will to make headway.
