

Mrs. Crow Entertains.—Mrs. Earl Crow presided over an Easter luncheon Tuesday afternoon, guests arriving at 1 o'clock and luncheon being served at five small tables. A color scheme of yellow was artistically used, daffodils, narcissus and fluffy yellow chicks adding their share in making the decorations beautiful and novel. A three course luncheon was followed by an afternoon of bridge and the hostess awarded prizes to the following: Mrs. Sylvan Provost, Mrs. Gerald Wenner and Mrs. Charles Haines.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Crow was again hostess to a group of friends from Medford, entertaining them at a 1 o'clock luncheon followed by bridge. Eight Medford ladies accepted Mrs. Crow's hospitality, who were Mrs. U. S. Armstrong, Mrs. R. W. Sleeter, Mrs. Roy Mason, Mrs. R. D. Stearns, Mrs. C. B. Rogers, Mrs. O. C. Boggs and Mrs. Charles G. Thomson.

Wednesday Assembly.—"Budget your time" was the topic of the talk given by President Churchill at the first assembly of the spring quarter held Wednesday morning. He urged students to make out a time budget and evolve a definite study program to be carried out during the entire term. If the students are conscientious this idea will be of much value and result in better grades. The budget system is being used throughout the entire United States in government finances, and municipal apportionment of funds and in a great many homes has met with wonderful success wherever tried, he stated. Verne Caldwell, head of the psychology department of the normal explained the absence of rule and the making up of class work, for the benefit of new students.

Return from Harbor.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Perozzi returned to Ashland Tuesday after spending several days at their summer home in Harbor. They were joined at Eugene by their daughter, Thelma, who is attending the university at that city, and she enjoyed the spring vacation with them at Harbor, returning to Eugene on Sunday to resume her studies. Mr. and Mrs. Perozzi visited several days in Eugene before returning to their home in this city.
