THE DAIRY INDUSTRY.

Last Thursday W. G. Ide, manager of the State Chamber of Commerce gave Ashland business men something to think about when he gave out some rather surprising facts regarding Jackson county as a dairy center.

According to information he has gathered this county is particularly blessed with dairy possibilities. The production per cow ranks third in the state, and practical dairymen have stated that dairying in Jackson county should be carried on more successfully than in Tillamook—the banner dairy county of the state. It is nice to know these things but the difficulty arises when they are considered from a practical view point. How can these facts be turned to practical advantage?

Mr. Ide suggests that the banks be asked to help finance worthy farmers in the purchase of dairy cattle. A little investigation will show that at least one Ashland bank, and possibly all of them, have been for the past ten years willing to do this very thing, and are still anxious to assist any man who is capable, to secure first class dairy cows, and there has been but very little demand for assistance of this kind.

This being the fact then there must be some other reason why dairying in Jackson county or at least this section of it, has not made further strides. The Register would be glad to have communications from dairymen, or other interested citizens, giving us the facts concerning the lack of general interest in this industry. There must be a reason and if there is anyone that can enlighten us, we would appreciate it.

THE PARKING PLAN.

The question of parking upon the main streets of Ashland has again been answered. Proposals to change from diagonal to parallel met defeat at the hands of the city council last night, after a spirited debate between Mayor Thornton, and representatives of local business houses.

The mayor's argument was based upon the looks of the city and greater safety; the business men claimed the safety features would not be changed and in addition, such a change when once tried materially affected business. The council sustained the plea of the business men and the parking will remain as it is, and this is as it should be. The business interest of the town is the very life-blood of any community. Take away from their prosperity and you have stagnation; add to it and you have progress.

One feature of the meeting which we think is highly commendable, is the statement made by the mayor that the one-hour limit will hereafter be enforced. We do not know of one business man who attended last night's meeting, that violates this section of the ordinance, but we do know of several who drive their car down town, leave it parked in front of their place of business until meal time, drive it home, and then park it again. It would seem inconsistent for a man to sign a petition requesting diagonal parking to conserve parking space, and then be guilty of using up a good portion of it for purely personal convenience.

If the statement made last night that Ashland needs all of the parking space possible is true, and we firmly believe that it is, then local business men should not selfishly use this space that rightfully belongs to their customers.

LOGANBERRY BORER BEST CONTROLLED BY PULLING

The loganberry crown-borer, serious pest of loganberries and raspberries in Oregon is controlled by pulling out all infested canes and destroying them. Careful inspection of the patch is necessary to detect all wilted canes and evidences of borings, says the experiment station.

Infested canes may be severed at the girdle by grasping firmly and giving a twisting pull. Often the borer is revealed in the severed cane. One may carry a short, heavy wire looped over the belt to insert in the tunnel of the severed stub to get the borers not found in the cane.

um Chloride, one pound to n of water, has proved an re quack grass killer when l on with a good pressure. esults have been obtained by lotting the quack grass get a good spring growth.

Spraying when the grass begins to head out has given good results in tests carried on by the Oregon experiment station. Spraying seems most effective at a dry time during bright weather. Best results are usually obtained by thoroughly coating the stems and leaves of the plants with the spray.

Local Woman Complimented—

A number of ladies of the Royal Neighbor lodge of Ashland assembled at the home of Mrs. Guy Randles in the Bellview district last night to honor Mrs. Merritt Randles.

Conversation, various games and stunts occupied the hours. The complimented lady received a number of useful and appropriate gifts which were opened for the benefit of the donors.

Mrs. Guy Randles, the hostess, served delicious refreshments to about twenty ladies.

Auxiliary Held Social Meeting—

The ladies of the Auxiliary to the American Legion held their regular social meeting Monday evening at the Legion hall. Instead of the usual evening of cards and needlework the ladies were engaged in getting the paper poppies in readiness for the poppy sale on Saturday. The poppies are made by the boys at the Veterans' hospital in Portland and the ladies place the stickers on them in readiness for the annual national poppy day sale.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. J. Q. Adams, chairman, assisted by Mesdames Guy Applewhite, R. L. Burdick, Ralph Bowen and Glen Addis.

Miss Sanders Honored—

Miss Hazel Sanders, instructor of home economics at the junior high school was honored at a surprise kitchen shower held at the home of Miss Edna Gohenn on Palm avenue last Thursday night. The affair was in honor of her coming marriage to Robert Norris, who is employed at the Southern Oregon Experimental station. He is also a brother of Miss Helen Norris who has been receiving so much notice recently through her motion picture plays.

The evening was spent most congenially with games and guessing contests. Miss Sanders was the recipient of a number of useful utensils suitable for the kitchen of the bride.

Miss Gohenn assisted by Miss Gertie Haan served delicious refreshments to the following guests: Miss Hazel Sanders, guest of honor; Misses Hazel Smith, Nora Ward, Nellie Carter, Ella McCleod Ethel Reid, Emma Maloney, Katharine L. M. Milne, Ila Myer, Ellen Waters, Johnson, and Mesdames Cleo Howell, Lezie Merritt and Russel Cripe.

Mrs. McNair Honored—

The members of Zuleima Temple, Daughters of the Nile, were hostesses on Wednesday evening, May 16, at the home of Mrs. Henry Enders on North Main street, the pleasant occasion being in honor of Mrs. Hal McNair, Queen of Zuleima Temple, who leaves Saturday to attend the supreme convention of the Daughters of the Nile at Buffalo, New York. The affair was in the form of a surprise shower, each guest bringing a dainty handkerchief to Mrs. McNair, who was also presented with a huge green basket of yellow rosebuds, the handkerchiefs being concealed in the basket with clever little verses attached.

The evening hours were congenially spent in guessing games and conversation. Mrs. Frank Dean won a dainty gift for winner of first prize in the contests, and Mrs. C. H. Vaupel was consoled. Dainty refreshments were served, the color scheme of green and yellow being carried out both in the rooms and in the refreshments.

Members present were, the guest of honor, Mrs. McNair, and Mesdames Henry Enders, H. L. Claycomb, J. H. Hardy, P. R. Hardy, I. R. Bateman, Frank Dean, Sam McNair, Andrew McCullen, Clyde Malone, Clifford Jenkins, Belle Schwein, O. W. Long, William Loomis, C. H. Vaupel and Thomas Simpson.

Foreign Missionary Society —

The members of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society were entertained last Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Ethel Reid on East Main street.

The program of the evening was opened with devotional services led by Miss Beulah Hussey. This was followed by a short business session and the meeting was again turned over to Miss Hussey, who had prepared an interesting program. Miss Hazel Bruner spoke on "The importance of education in the mission work of the church;" three stories told made vivid to those present the spirit and devotion of the missionaries.

At the conclusion of the program, Miss Reid assisted by her mother served delicious refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed before disbanding.

Those who had the pleasure of attending the meeting were: Misses Hazel Brown, Minnie Beaver, Clara Anderson, Isabella Wattenbarger, Beulah Hussey, Cora Mason and Adena Hunt.

Medford Hotel People—Mr. and Mrs. Clemenson of the Jackson Hotel in Medford spent Sunday in Ashland with Mr. and Mrs. Lew Hansen of the Hotel Ashland.

FEEDING ASHLAND

No wonder that the truck gardeners around Ashland find a ready market for their product! Who is there who wouldn't prefer home-grown vegetables and fruits right from the garden, to those which have come from a distance?

It has been said that the greatest asset of this section is its soil and its greatest need, people. People to till its soil means also people to consume its products. Yet, over and above this market, we have the cannery to consume the surplus; and the cannery can use a greater surplus.

Fortunately Ashland has no "over-production" problem. We are glad to welcome newcomers in the Ashland district—and at the bank.
