Vital Facts of Great Value to Manufacturers

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, July 20 (Special)—Vital facts that should prove of great value to Oregon manufacturers are shown in a study just completed here by the bureau of business research. It is declared by David E. Faville, director of the bureau. The study is entitled "Wage Payment Plans Used by Oregon Manufacturers," and is the work of Clausen D. Hadley, assistant professor of business administration. It is compiled from answers to questionnaires received from 134 manufacturers employing 10 or more workers.

The study revealed that textile manufacturers have been most progressive in adopting incentive systems of wage payment and are increasingly tending to follow the Eastern practice of changing from a day rate to a piece rate. It also shows that unwarranted failure of incentive wage plans in Oregon for certain concerns has been brought about by the practice of basing piece rates on past performance rather than scientific studies. Too many Oregon plants, in the opinion of the writer of the study, are using the "depression" as an excuse for continuing antiquated wage payment systems, the plants holding that this is "no time to make a change." The arbitrary changing of wage rates in some plants has caused a feeling of distrust on the part of workers and loss of interest in increasing output, it was declared. In Oregon 79 percent of the industrial workers are paid by the day as compared with 47 percent for the United States as a whole, while only a little over a third as many workers on the average are paid piece rates in Oregon as in the country as a whole. The booklet containing the study, which is of particular interest to manufacturers, may be obtained from the Bureau of Business Research at the university upon request.

Coast Pear Crop Is Major Portion Over All Nation

CORVALLIS, July 20—(Sp)—Pacific Coast states will produce close to 75 per cent of the nation's pear crop this year, instead of the usual half, on the basis of information gathered by the United States department of agriculture and Oregon State college.

A review issued today said that the total crop of the country is estimated at only 21,503,000 bushels, which is about 2,000,000 bushels under last year, but slightly above the harvested average for five years. California already is sending Bartlett's to New York, where early prices for all grades average around $2.50.
