

11-WAYS TO HEALTH

by ADA R. MAYNE
OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

Strawberries are with us again, for a long and impatient wait on part of most of us. Since we told their season is to be a short one, we are justified in making the most of them while they are available to us.

Although the nutritive value of them, which is chiefly in the juice, is not high, their delicious, refreshing flavor more than compensates the lack of food elements. This, too, is often supplied by the addition of cream and sugar, or by combining with other foods.

Salads and milk shakes, on ice cream, or as shortcake, are only a few of the ways to use strawberries. Interesting recipes call for the fruit. A number of tempting strawberry recipes are offered this week:

Strawberry Bavarian
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup strawberries
1/2 cup strained lemon juice
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup whipping cream
Often the gelatin in the cold water. Crush 1 1/2 cups of the fruit and press quickly through a strainer to remove the seeds. There should be at least a cup of the berry juice. Stand the soaked gelatin over a pan of hot water to melt, then strain it into the berry puree. Add sugar, and when dissolved, set in a pan of cold water. As soon as the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the whipped cream. Turn into a mold that has been rinsed in cold water and lined with the remaining strawberries, cut in halves. Chill before serving. Yield: 7 servings.

Strawberry Tarts
4 egg yolks
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups scalded milk
1/4 tsp. vanilla
Baked tart shells
1 quart strawberries, well ripe
Whipped cream
Beat egg yolks slightly. Add sugar and scalded milk. Turn into the top of a double boiler and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until the custard coats the spoon. Immediately remove from the fire, cool, and add the flavoring. Just before serving time turn the custard into tart shells to a depth of about half an inch. Over this pile strawberries that have been cut in halves and sweetened. Top with whipped cream and serve at once. Yield: 6 tarts.

Strawberry Sauce for Angle Food
1 cup cream, whipped
1-3 cup powdered sugar
1 egg white
1/2 cup crushed strawberries
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Whip cream, add sugar, beaten egg white, strawberries and vanilla, and combine all lightly. One half cup pecans or walnuts may be added for variety. This sauce is delicious served with angel food cake or with an ice cream sandwich.

Farm Bill Information

Farm mortgage benefits as well as other prices for farm products in relation to things farmers buy are provided for in the new Farm Act. According to information released by the Oregon Agricultural Extension Service cooperating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Borrowers from Federal Land Banks are to receive a moratorium on payments on principal for five years, plus reduction in the interest rate to 4 1/2 per cent. They also will be helped with interest due which they are unable to pay. There are 9,000 Federal Land Bank mortgages in the country with over $1,000,000 borrowed.

Farmers who have mortgages through Joint Stock Land Banks may be benefited under the provisions of the Farm Act which offer assistance in the liquidation of these banks, provided they reduce their interest rates to 5 per cent and will use foreclosure proceedings for 2 years.

The Act provides help to other farm mortgages through a special bond issue of $2,000,000,000 to use funds for loaning to farmers who wish to borrow from the Federal Land Banks. New loans are to be made on the same liberal terms granted old borrowers.

Further provision is made to provide funds to enable farmers to redeem farm property lost by foreclosure since July 1, 1931. In fact, the section of the Farm Act contains provisions through which excessive debts may be cut down, interest rates reduced, payments on principal postponed, foreclosed farms redeemed and other provisions to assist farmers to meet urgent obligations, according to a circular issued by the Extension Service.

The first part of the measure is the Farm Act proper, or the part that applies to controlling production and increasing farm prices. In its section, Congress declared that the present acute economic emergency is in part the consequence of increasing disparity between the prices of agricultural and other commodities. For instance, index numbers prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture show that for several months farm products have had an exchange value only half as much as before the war.

Congress declared the policy of the Nation to "reestablish prices to farmers at a level that will give agricultural commodities a purchasing power with respect to articles farmers buy, equivalent to the purchasing

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

President Roosevelt's proposed plan for providing employment, long a subject of discussion, has finally been completed. Principal feature is a $3,300,000,000 public works program, including federal, state and municipal building projects. Between $250,000,000 and $350,000,000 of this will be for highway construction. Bonds will be issued to finance the project, and will be amortized over a period of 15 to 20 years. There will be provision for a certain amount of new tax levy in the bill—sufficient to pay interest and sinking fund requirements. This tax will probably take the form of a sales tax—described as "re-employment tax" or a "breakfast tax" on coffee and tea.

Of wide interest to business, both large and small, is the provision of the bill which will lift the anti-trust laws and permit industrial cooperation in a manner that is now illegal. Government and business will work in partnership, and the government will have the power to act. An industrial control board, of which four of the five members will be cabinet officers, is to be appointed to supervise trade association agreements.

This marks the first successful effort to lift or make less stringent the anti-trust laws, since their passage during the Theodore Roosevelt administration. Business has long held that they have outlived their usefulness, and that they were created to meet a condition which no longer exists. They have forced wasteful production and cut-throat competition. Industrial leaders believe elimination will make possible cooperative work vital to orderly and sound business recovery.

The other pending Administration measure—railroad legislation—is meeting difficulties. Its chief purpose is to coordinate lines, under a Federal supervisor, thus preventing the waste and economic loss arising from too many trunks serving a given locality. Obvious result of this would be additional railroad unemployment. Labor is demanding that something be done to prevent this, if the legislation passes.

The Administration is thus between two thorns, the necessity of making possible the reduction in rail operating cost if the lines are to be saved, and the fear of creating more unemployment when employment is the most vital of issues.

The new farm relief act has become law. Curiously enough, the best known portion of it—the currency inflation section—does not deal directly with the farmer at all. Two billion dollars will be made available for a vast program of farm mortgage financing. The Secretary of Agriculture has authority to boost farm prices, limit production and release the food and textile industries from anti-trust law prohibitions.

He will soon call a conference of producers, handlers, and others interested in the basic commodities—wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, rice, tobacco and milk products. Later on commodity councils will be formed and movements launched seeking to rehabilitate agriculture.

On signing the bill the President issued a special public message urging a halt on all farm mortgage foreclosures until the machinery can be set up for the refinancing project. A similar message on town and city mortgages is expected later on. The President said that, when the act gets into operation, the holders of farm mortgages will have the privilege of exchanging them for Federal Land Bank bonds, upon which interest payments will be guaranteed by the Federal government.

The "trade boom" is actually attaining appreciable dimensions. A general rise all along the industrial line has been made and held. Newly reported statistics are the most encouraging in many months.

CARLOADINGS—Sizeable increase reported by several railroads.

STEEL—Prices rising, production up.

CONSTRUCTION—A demand for new housing is beginning to appear.

RETAIL TRADE—Sales increased in greater degree than the usual seasonal gain would have indicated.

COTTON—Textile industry reports a sudden rush of business.

Decided improvement in the business failure situation has been reported for several months. Other good signs are reports of wage earners of wage increases and new employment from many parts of the country. Security markets have, of course, been extremely active, with stock prices rising sharply, because of the possibility of currency inflation. Industries which have, in the past, done a large export business, are much encouraged by the tariff truce which was recently agreed upon by the major powers, to last until the world economic conference has had an opportunity to iron out some of the difficulties in international relations.

KLAMATH FALLS—Several Klamath county farmers, cooperating with County Agent C. A. Henderson, will test out seed flax on the major soil types of the county this year. L. E. Tillotson and John Coakley will plant on the lake bottom soils of Tule Lake; the H. J. Beardsley planting at Lone Pine will be on hill land on which water is available; E. A. Geary, Wocum, will make a planting on heavy peat land; and the trial on the H. G. Bunch farm at Honey will be established on soil typical of the upper project.

"I really don't see how we managed," remarked an electric refrigerator owner. "It wasn't until we got our electric refrigerator that I began to wonder how on earth we'd been getting along without it. I know Baby's milk is fresh and pure now and that no chances are being taken with his health. Then the money we wasted in spoiled foods alone seems fantastic now. We wasted money by buying in tiny quantities because I knew it wouldn't keep well. Now, I never have to worry about food being tainted and unhealthy. And how I do appreciate the new convenience!"
