YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL
By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

A Code for Child Health
While the industrial codes we read about may come and go, be popular or unpopular, a code for child health will always be a requisite of successful parents. Let us review the elements out of which such a code should be made.

I believe most parents would list first: the quart of milk daily, taken in different forms; two or more vegetables, with at least one the green leafy variety daily; some fresh fruit; meat, fish and eggs; and bread and butter.

The amount of sleep is important; restful, quiet sleep. The young child should have an afternoon rest in addition. Fresh air and sunshine must be in the health budget in liberal allotments. And the diminished sunshine of winter calls for one of the fish liver oils as a regular item in the code.

Be sure that the child's right to playtime is honored. Let nothing interfere with this natural heritage. Permit some time every day when the child may do as he pleases. Consider seriously the annual health examination by your family physician and dentist. Insure against smallpox and diphtheria. There are the routine daily health habits such as cleanliness and elimination to be added to the code. Finally do everything possible to bring happiness to the child and to make him feel secure and safe. Give him companionship; laugh with him; encourage his confidences.

Next week Dr. Ireland will write about Health Protection.

WHY NOT?
Hecla (S. D.) Journal: Inasmuch as the allotment plan has been adopted in almost every other business, who not apply it to the newspaper business also? The newspapers will be "delighted" and perfectly willing to plow under every fourth delinquent subscriber provided Uncle Sam will pay the arrears on the remainder. If something like that isn't done pretty soon a great many newspapers—and especially the small country papers—will have to plow under the whole works. Here's a golden opportunity for the NRA to come to the rescue.
