COOPERATORS MEET

During the week of July 15-20, the American Institute of Cooperation will hold its 11th annual meeting at Cornell University.

In a recent statement, Charles W. Homan, Secretary of the Institute, said that the 1935 session will be somewhat different from its predecessors, in that it will be more of an instructional character, with lectures by practical authorities on cooperative marketing, with special emphasis on the business problems of the agricultural cooperatives. In other words, where previous annual meetings have been in the nature of conventions, the forthcoming session will be primarily devoted to searching discussions of farm problems. It is said that the meeting will be attended by the representatives of more than three million organized farmers. And, during the same week, a number of national farm groups allied with the cooperative movement will hold their meetings at Cornell.

Cooperative marketing has come a long way since it began. Every year has witnessed definite progress—that handful of farmers who belonged to the first cooperatives has grown to millions. Cooperatives have learned much and done much. Meetings such as the Institute holds, by bringing varying viewpoints and different minds together, take the cooperative movement still another step toward its goal—stability and prosperity on the farm.

When three million individual producers can be represented at a single convocation, it shows that cooperation has passed the pioneer stage, and has become a dominant influence in American life.

"Hand Tailored" NIGHTINGALE STOCKINGS

GIVE TRIMNESS TO YOUR LEGS

NO WOMAN wants stockings that bulge and wrinkle around the foot and ankle. No woman needs to wear that kind of stocking if she knows about Nightingale. They're "hand tailored" at the foot and ankle and yet there's plenty of stretchiness at the top to accommodate any size leg.

Though Nightingale Stockings are moderately priced they are as good looking and as long wearing as stockings for which you'd pay 49c pr. much more.
