

What's Beyond

By V. A. DAVIS

The starry azure dome above, Excites our wonder and surprise; Those shining orbs all nightly prove Some power holds them in the skies,
But, what's beyond?

'Tis not ours to know the lan Divine The thought's too vast to comprehend;
We only have a finite mind, Yet, if space begins and has an end,
Then, what's beyond?

Fair science takes the flower sweet,
And ferrets out the hidden cell; Unveils life's mysterious seat, But whence life comes, it can not tell,
Nor, what's beyond.

There are those who hold, all is chance,
And that our faith is but a sham;
That death is but a circumstance,
And it ends all of earthly man, No, what's beyond.

The lowly savage, from his birth, Feels a power higher than he;
Has faith in life beyond this earth, Where his spirit roams, wild and free,
In, what's beyond.

How dark the mind of those Sad-duces,
Who see no beauty in the Spring!
How sweet the whisper of the trees, When God's hand we see in everything!
And, what's beyond.

'Tis sure that day will follow night;
'Tis sure the sun will set and rise;
And so, from out the grave's dark night,
The soul will live in Paradise,
In, what's beyond.

Not all the lore fair science knows, Nor all the creeds framed by man, Can give the soul such sweet repose, As simple faith in the Father's plan,
Of, what's beyond.

When we have run this earthly race,
And stepped across the border-line, As the curtain parts, we'll see his face, Then we'll know, through the future time,
Just, what's beyond.

"MORE"

Saute one large onion, one green pepper (diced) and one clove of garlic, if desired, in butter. When nearly done, add one pound of lean beef and one-half pound lean pork (ground) and cook until done.

To this mixture add about a pound of spaghetti which has been previously cooked, drained and with cold water run through it. To this mixture add, one can corn, one can peas, one can olives, one can cut tomato, and one or two cans of tomato sauce. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Put layer of mixture in baking dish, covering with grated cheese, add another layer of mixture then cheese and continue until all is used. Bake in a moderate oven for about one hour or more if desired.

(This is a very large recipe and will serve from twelve to sixteen persons.)

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

1 doz. small (medium may be used) cucumbers, sliced.

1 doz. small onions, sliced.
Sprinkles with salt and let stand for one hour.

Drain and add: 2 cups vinegar, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. ginger, 1 tsp. celery seed, 1 tsp. turmeric.

Boll five or ten minutes or until the cucumbers look almost transparent. When filling jars, add a pinch of alum to each jar. (Makes them crunchy).

SNOW CAKE

Two-thirds cup shortening.

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup water—mixed.
3 cups flour,
1/2 tsp. salt

3 tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. vanilla, 5 egg whites (added last)

Mix in the usual method. Bake in a slow oven in three large layers.

For filling, add red coloring to whipped cream and place thin slices of bananas on layers.

VIS GRAHAM COOKIE CAKE

Cream yolks of four eggs with 1 1/2 cups sugar; Add 1 1/2 cups rolled graham crackers; mix beaten whites of eggs and add to mixture. Add 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon baking powder, and flavor. Put in hot oven, turn down heat, and bake 1/2 hour.

Mrs. Ross gave a very good history of Home Economics at PTA last Friday. Wise purchasing of ready-to-wear was nicely demonstrated by three girls of Home Econ-semester work. Mr. Boswell explained the "student activity fee bill" which was very helpful to all present.

Mrs. Owen, 94, Passes at Home

City of Central Point. The first labor was the erection of a suitable home for the family which was provided slowly, as building a home at this time was a great undertaking, owing to the scarcity of building material, much of which had to be brought from a distance. The finished residence when completed proved to be well built for it has been in constant use since built and is the place known as the Witte place, recently purchased by Mr. Hair of Tillamook.

Grandpa Constant, as he was later called, was a friend to those who were less able to procure a livelihood and in many cases furnished provisions to many of the people who were sufferers when a cold hard winter was at hand and it was he who taught the Indians to piece out their scant rations of corn by using potatoes which he had raised upon his farm and later when the Indian war was in progress he was told by the Indians to remain upon his farm as none of the Indians would molest him or his family, and they kept their word.

On December 5th, 1861 Julia Ann Constant was married at the family home to W. A. Owen, who was also a Pioneer, coming to California in 1849 and attracted by the gold rush to this section, reached Jacksonville during the year 1852. He soon became attracted to the mild and pleasant climate and went into the merchandising business at Jacksonville and later he served Jackson County for two terms as Sheriff and was also elected as revenue officer for the Southern Oregon district. In 1855 when the Indian war broke out he became Major having formerly been a sergeant and later was a commissary officer, serving under General Ross during the Captain Jack difficulty.

Always impelled by the spirit of progress during all of his active life, he was for many years connected with the stock business and was reasonably successful and his hand was always out to friend and stranger alike and many successful citizens of Jackson county can trace their start in life to the friendship and material assistance rendered them when most needed by William A.
Owen.

Death came to Mr. Owen in the later part of December, 1907, and he left to mourn his loss his wife Julia A., his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Hall,

Mrs. W. J. Freeman and sons, William A. and Glen, the latter passing away several years later.

Besides her son and daughters, seven grandchildren mourn the loss of their grandmother: Seeley V. Hall Chicago; Henry A. Freeman, M. L., G. E. and Golda Owen, all of Portland; Leonard J. Freeman and Lola Freeman Kincaid of Central Point.
Also 10 great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman's home where Mrs. Julia A. Owen passed away rests upon a part of the Constant Donation Land Claim and is where her 94th birthday was recently celebrated. Mrs. Owen was an aunt of Mayor W. C. Leever of this city.
She was the last of six children of the Constant family to hear the final summons.

Funeral services will be held at the Conger chapel at 2:30 p. m. Friday, with Rev. R. C. Lewis officiating. Interment will be in the Central Point cemetery.

THIS WAS The Study Lamp of the Age of Whiskers . . .

Get one of the New
I. E. S. BETTER SIGHT LAMPS

The Study lamp of the gay Nineties, like its bewhiskered men, was as much the result of necessity as of fashion.

Today science has developed a radically new lamp for study and reading.
America's foremost eyesight specialists and lighting engineers wrote the specifications. It provides the wealth of glareless light that eyes need when studying or doing other visual tasks for prolonged periods.

It gives several times as much light as ordinary lamps. No eye-straining glare.
Uses 100-watt MAZDA lamp.

Every study table should have one of these new lamps. No other lamp can give you all of its benefits.

Specifications by: The Illuminating Engineering Society—country-wide organization of lighting experts.

Certified by: The Electrical Testing Laboratories—keen, impartial engineering organization of New York City.

Endorsed by: The Lighting Committee of the Edison Electric Institute, also by the National Better Light-Better Sight Bureau.

This Tag Identifies It

Because some models of this new lamp look little different from ordinary lamps, the tag shown at the right was developed. It certifies that the Electrical Testing Laboratories, famous engineering organization in New York, has made exacting tests and found that the lamp bearing it conforms to the new sight-saving specifications. Let this tag guide you to the new lamp designed to save eyes.
