MR. W. C. LEEVER BETTER
Mr. W. C. Leever is able to be in the store part of every day now and is gaining strength. He said that there were two places he never had any desire to go—one place was the hospital and the other to jail. He found the hospital not so bad and chuckled about qualifying for the other. Mr. Leever reports that it snowed 12 inches here on Feb. 1, 1887 and it stayed on until Feb. 26 or 27. The sun would shine during the day but it would freeze hard at night. It froze so hard that it cut his arctic overshoes to pieces walking over to the old Constant place, which is now occupied by the Hair family.
