Ice Cream Time Is Here

Ice cream time is here. I mean Snider's—what a dream—Made from only richest Jersey cream Not just manufactured, but created by an artist. To cool a persons insides when the sun's a shining hottest. In a plant as cool and modern as some doctor's laboratory. This Artist works—his work is play. With cream he tells his story. With cream, and ice and flavors rare And also flavors common. He mixes dreams of tastefulness, That cannot be forgotten. I don't know why the sun should shine So dog-gone hot on me. I don't know why that Ice Cream tastes So dog-gone good to me. I only know that Snider's is the only one for me.
