Wets and Dries In Debate over Place of Women at Bar

Woman's place in beer taverns and saloons has thrown liquor dealers, bartenders' unions and temperance groups into a furor of discussion this week, following the adoption of resolutions both condoning and condemning the "lady bar-fly".

The Omaha Bartenders' Union is at work for the passage of a state law which would prohibit women from drinking at bars in Nebraska.

The San Francisco Bartenders' Union will present a resolution at the California State Federation of Labor in Sacramento this week, condemning the hiring of women bartenders.

"The time has come for women to be barred from taprooms", declared Roy Adams, proprietor of the largest bar in Springfield, Mo. recently. That started the uproar.

"Women add dignity to a bar-room", reads a resolution which the Hotel and Restaurant Men's Association in Nassau County, N. Y. has just passed. This is contrary to one adopted by the Federation of Liquor Dealers of New York City, which read: "There is nothing more disgusting than to see a woman, especially one under the influence of liquor, standing at the bar!"

Even the temperance leaders seem divided on this trouble-some repeal problem. The Associated Press quotes Mrs. Anna DeYo, national corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U. as follows: "Personally, I see no reason for such action on the part of the Omaha bartenders. Women are doing everything now that men do. They have the same rights that men have."

"For once, I can agree the bartenders," declared Miss Ethel Hubler, editor of a national temperance weekly. "When the men who sell liquor say that prohibition is on the way back, they ought to know what they're talking about."

Miss Hubler has just undertaken a nationwide poll of public opinion to get a cross-section of the public's attitude on "woman's place at the bar."

HERE AND THERE

Frank Marshall Smith, 29, Klamath Falls sawmill worker, died late last night from injuries received when the car he was driving in the feature event of a Sunday auto racing program here, rolled over him after striking railposts on a curve.

Sam O'Connor, 77, died earlier yesterday, victim of a skull fracture. O'Connor was hit by the door handle of a car as he crossed The Dalles-California highway two miles north of here Saturday night.

SALEM, Sept. 14.—A fire works display on a background of black clouds closed the Diamond Jubilee Oregon fair last night while several thousand faithful braved the wind and rains to witness the final program of a successful week.

Director Solon T. White stated the fair was both a success financially and educationally. He lauded the cooperation of the exhibitors.

Despite heavy showers Saturday about 10,000 people attended the feature programs.

LOEN, Norway, Sept. 14.—Rescue parties today searched beautiful Lake Loen, turned into a death-trap by a roaring avalanche and resultant flood, for the bodies of the 74 victims of one of Norway's great natural disasters.

The natives, startled from their early morning sleep, had no chance to escape from the great wave which poured through the narrow valley after the massive rock—at least 1,200 feet broad and 1,500 feet high—rolled into the lake.

More than 16,000 children have been examined in the Oklahoma State Fair's annual babies' health conferences since 1913.

Confident after its success in obtaining a postoffice in recent months Cave Junction is discussing incorporation.

Started as Cave City less than five years ago at the junction of the caves and Redwood highway, the tiny community has successively celebrated street lights, touring registration station, and the postoffice which was named Cave Junction by the government.

The Kerby Legion post now has its headquarters there, new stores are rising, and even a new townsite using the old name of Cave City, has been platted.

SCHOLARSHIP

The first Student Body meeting of the year was held Friday with Libby Hamilton, the new president, presiding. The purposes of having a student body ticket were presented and all were urged to support the Student Association and buy one.

Mr. Hulbert, the new coach, gave a brief outline of his athletic plans for the year. Interclass games in football will be played. The Junior and Senior classes will be combined and in order to give the low classmen a fair chance a certain number of points will be added to their scores before the games start.

On Wednesday, Sept. 16, the Order of the C held a meeting and elected the following officers: Richard Jewett, president; Max Knadler, vice president; Roger Lawrence, secretary; and Arthur Copinger, treasurer.

Mary Lou Gerber visited Maxine Terrell Sunday.

Roberta Pankey motored to Diamond Lake, Crater Lake and Klamath Falls Sunday.

Edith Vincent visited friends in Medford Sunday afternoon.

Janice Nealon motored to Diamond Lake Sunday.

Marjorie Dodson motored to Grants Pass and Leland Sunday.

The following classes have elected officers—Sophomores have Letha Hesselgrave as president; Howard Long as vice president; and Mary Lou Gerber, secretary-treasurer.

The Juniors elected Morris Dow, president; Edith Vincent, vice president; Clayton Yost, secretary; and Lorne Webster, treasurer.

WEEKS A SUBSCRIPTION PAID UP TO YEAR 1939

The Marcellus (N. Y.) Observer boasts of having the longest paid-up subscription in the world. John Abend, a rural subscriber, has a paid up receipt to December 2036, and the receipt cost him $200.

John Abend has a little farm on the shore of Otisco lake. When he first moved to Marcellus he subscribed for the Observer. A few years of reading this bright little weekly convinced him that his family should long be readers of the paper. Last May he dropped in and paid $200.

He was absolutely sober, and in his right mind, according to the statement of Roy A. Gallinger, editor and publisher.
