Every Morning at Nine

Baby is put into his tub, and splashes to his heart's content in the warm cleansing water. Through the day hot water keeps his hands and face clean and germ-free, even though he is now at the creeping age. And hot water is available at an instant's notice for tiny cuts or sudden colic, or for keeping his clothes immaculate.

That is, of course, all this is true if you have an Automatic Electric Water Heater. Think of a supply of hot water that never fails . . . constant both day and night. All the hot water you need or want for every purpose. Plenty for dishes three times a day. Plenty for daily washing out of clothes. Plenty for windows and wood-work. A luxury that has become a necessity . . . that's continuous hot water. Special very low water heating electric rates cost the average family less than 1/2 cent an hour.
