Mrs. Hedrick Has Story in Liberty

Another of Mrs. Helen Hedrick's stories "Wild Cat's Kiss", appears in the Liberty of December 3rd. This is a very interesting sketch of life in the Oregon mountains and holds your interest until the last word. As the by line says it is "a stirring, memorable story of love and life and youth's awakening". Mrs. Hedrick, as you all know, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Norcross and wife of Professor Hedrick of the Medford high school and was born and grew to womanhood here, graduating from our local school. It has not been many months since we were able to print about the "Road Kid" written by Mrs. Hedrick and printed in the Saturday Evening Post. The Liberty should have let folks know it was coming and it would have increased their sale immensely. We hereby extend our congratulations to Mrs. Hedrick, Mr. Hedrick and children and Mr. and Mrs. Norcross, and lastly to Central Point as it is claimed that our surroundings all lend influence on our lives.

Dr. A. J. Loeffler Now in Practice

Dr. A. J. Loeffler recently announced the opening of an office in the Fluhrer building at Main street and Central avenue. He will engage in general practice of medicine and surgery.

Dr. Loeffler is a graduate of Wayne university's medical school, class of 1929. After graduation he spent a year at the Delray Industrial General hospital in Detroit and two and a half years at the Ford Motor company hospital. For 14 years he engaged in general practice at Lincoln Park, Detroit suburb.

He took a post graduate course in children's diseases at Physicians and Surgeon's college, Columbia university. He then spent a year as attending physician in the clinic of Children's Hospital of Michigan in Detroit.

A visit to an uncle in Florence in 1935 convinced him that southern Oregon was the kind of place he wanted to live in. He sold his eastern practice and came here with an old friend, William Barrett, in 1937. He and Mr. Barrett constructed one of southern Oregon's finest auto courts on the Pacific highway at the southern city limit.
