

Sport Gags

By K. D. P.

Last Sunday, after careful preparation by our printer's devil and I, we left for a three days' camping trip out in the mountains. We left pretty early in the morning and got to Diamond Lake where we would fish for a while in the lake and while the fish were not striking very good, we got three nice ones averaging about a pound or two. Then after having our fill of hard rowing, we left for a further trip into the mountains. Taking a road which is known as the Sky-line Road, which is where Bend can be reached, we traveled about six miles before hitting a road that turned to the left. We turned and traveled six miles more before we came to the Clearwater creek, one of the most beautiful and clearest creeks I have ever seen in my life.

When we got to the Clearwater camp, I was never so dumfounded in all my life to see a doe walking calmly among the cars. Stanley having a piece of candy, attempted to get close to the deer and see if the doe would eat out of his hand and he got real close, at least five steps from the doe before it walked off. One of the campers told me that it has been among the campers all day and for several days too. Because of the crowded condition of this camp we decided to go on farther and see if we couldn't find a camp ground with plenty of room for our elbows. We soon came to another beautiful camp ground where only one camp outfit was stationed, named Trap Creek camp-ground.

Then we saw more deer than I have ever seen in my life. The forest fairly abounded with deer of all sizes. While fishing I saw two cute fawns that looked so weak and kinda staggered around the grounds. Well it was getting dark and so we fixed up the bed to get ready to go to bed, when it got dark. Then we sat by the fire and watched across a small open flat meadow. Where we could see deer everywhere and some of those bucks were terribly big ones too. Nearly every one of them have moss on their horns and are beginning to shed the moss. It was impossible to count because of the way the deer kept on the move. One man who camped there, had a powerful spotlight and he would use it and everytime he moved it he could hit upon a deer in some part of the forest.

A view of the huge Recreational Diorama in the rotunda of the main building. It includes an action waterfall, camp scene, and typifies the scenic and recreational resources of the Wonderland.

We got sleepy and went to bed. It must have been an hour at the most when that devil of a printer excitedly woke me up and pointed at something in the immediate neighborhood of our bed. Gee, I certainly shivered and looked in all directions. Mind you, it was dark then, and I looked and could not see anything so I asked Stanley what he saw. He whispered that a big buck was right in front of my bed. Well I looked again and certainly shivered for a big buck was only three steps from our bed. Picking up a piece of wood, I threw it at him and he was off in a flash. Drat it, I was unable to sleep all night because of the fear that the deer might step all over our bed.

If I was to explain all of our miseries and fun for the other two days it would just about fill up this paper. So I will finish this story with just two words so that you may draw your conclusions. IT RAINED!
