Contest Opens to Select Queen Wonderland Assn.

REDDING, Jan. 16—The Shasta-Cascade Wonderland Association's 1941 "Fun Festival" campaign for the selection of a "Miss Shasta-Cascade—Alicia in Wonderland", and for a "Miss Jackson County" will start in Jackson county Friday, February 7, with the arrival in Medford of Trefle LaSenay, association director of publicity, to establish county headquarters there. This was announced today by Tom L. Stanley, association general manager, who predicted keen interest and competition in each of the Wonderland region's nine counties for the honor and publicity benefits of being the home county of "Miss Shasta-Cascade" who will be regional "theme girl" and Wonderland Hostess. Location of county campaign offices will be announced prior to the arrival of the campaign director in Medford to personally interview and instruct those who desire to take part.

Young ladies of Jackson county still have time to obtain advance information and full details, prior to the arrival of the campaign director, by writing to the association, P. O. Box 151, Redding, California, said Stanley. "Every girl who takes part will be generously rewarded with cash prizes, and every girl has an equal chance, first to obtain the highest titular honor, that of 'Miss Shasta-Cascade—1941 Alicia in Wonderland' and, second 'Miss Jackson County' with the grand prizes, honors and festive ceremonies of 'fun Festival' events they bring with them."

The period for enrollment in Medford will positively close at 2:00 P.M. February 12 so those interested should obtain all information now, in advance, or at the time the campaign director arrives at Medford headquarters. He will be in Ashland February 13 and 14. Location of headquarters will be announced next week.

Howard District By Mrs. Ella H. Leonard

The Extension Unit of the Howard District met with Mabel Johnson Jan. 9 for its all day session. The Home Ec. specialist, Miss Brier, gave the morning talk and guided the discussion of the group on "Adjusting Farm Family Living" to the impact of war abroad and home defense. The usual pot luck luncheon was served at noon with Joe Johnson and Foney Leonard eating in the kitchen with the children. Mrs. Elny Yantis presided at the afternoon business meeting when there was discussion of the presentation of a play soon. Miss Brier held forth on further points of interest to the Unit afterward.

What does it mean when a frog under the house gives a few lazy long-drawn "cro-OAKS" day after day? Perhaps he is the only egg the ducks failed to get last year.

The Rural Inspector was making her usual round in one rural district. For a number of years she had been trying to persuade a certain woman of a family on relief to exert herself to better the home conditions, and especially to change the method of planning meals. This day the call fell at the end of a long hard day. When she saw what was prepared for the meal, after all her instructions and pleading, she simply boiled over. When she finished, the stolid housewife said, "It don't make no difference to me what you think or what you say. My family likes pie crust and coffee for supper, an' pie crust an' coffee is what they're gittin'." She drew the breadpan from the oven filled with piecrust sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon. The half-gallon coffee pot boiled in the stove, waiting the arrival of the husband and brood. "What proportion of such people on relief are ever interested enough to put in practice the instruction given them?" the teller was asked. She studied a few moments, then answered, "I don't know. I doubt if such a record has ever been made."
