WRESTLING NEWS

Sockeye Jack McDonald employed a Boston crab after 26 minutes of tough mat work to dispose of Australian Joe Corbett in the main event of last Monday night's mat program in the Medford armory. It was the lone fall of the battle, and Corbett, after suffering for some two minutes in the throes of the maneuver, was unable to return for more action.

Cliff Olson, slated to face Soldier Jo Buccola in the opening event, failed to show up, and Prince Mihalkis and Bob Kruse took care of the curtain-raising fireworks. Mihalkis copped the match by taking falls in the third and fourth rounds, with a Boston crab and a body press, respectively, after Kruse pinned him with a wristlock and press in the second heat.

Mihalkis then faced Buccola in a 30-minute or one-fall contest, and lost when Referee Jack McDonald gave the match to Buccola on a foul when the Prince failed to cease his rough stuff.

MEETING HELD THURSDAY—

The Berean class of Federated church met at the basement of the church on Thursday July 12. There was a goodly number of ladies present and some visitors.

Mrs. Minniek was hostess with Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Elliott as helpers.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Weldman as hostess.

Mr. E. P. Stone received a letter from his wife who left last week for Montana, that they had a fine trip and arrived safely at their destination. She expected to be home either today or tomorrow. Mr. Stone expects her tomorrow as she will stop in Portland to see Neal.

Miss Vivian Tharp returned home Wednesday evening after spending several days as house guest of Miss Joan Collins.

Geo. A. Coddling Gets Federal Post

MEDFORD, July 15—George A. Coddling, local attorney and former district attorney of Jackson county, has been appointed a special attorney under the United States attorney-general, according to a telegram received by Coddling Tuesday, from Norman M. Littell, assistant attorney-general, Washington, D. C. The appointment is effective at once.

Coddling will be under the supervision of Bernard H. Ramsey, Portland, in charge of the government acquisition of all lands in Oregon for defense projects.

CROQUET GROUND OPEN—

One of the croquet grounds east of the Stone drug store has been cleaned and fixed up in playing order. The small boys of the Community are taking advantage of it to play. Any one wishing to play may get a croquet set at the Stone drug store. There is no charge for this. The Civic club furnishes the set and has paid for cleaning the court.

Mrs. Vera Bailey of Klamath Falls returned home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, who had been visiting at the Bailey home. Mrs. Bailey will visit them until Sunday.

The E. E. Scotts have their new home nearly completed.
