RUBBER FROM ALCOHOL

A recent release from the Standard Oil Company of Indiana makes an effective denial of the rumor that the oil industry is seeking to block production of artificial rubber from alcohol made from farm crops, in order to create a rubber monopoly for itself.

It is likely, the release points out, that rubber can be made from oil more cheaply than from alcohol. But today rubber is urgently needed no matter what the cost of production. Present indications are that all the rubber to be made from oil will be required for military purposes. Thus, if civilian cars are to keep running, it will be necessary to produce additional rubber from alcohol.

The very existence of the oil industry depends largely upon automobile transportation. The oil industry is in business to sell oil, not rubber. Its commercial interest in rubber is confined to the fact that cars must keep rolling if an adequate market for oil is to be maintained. It is only logical for the oil industry, in general, to favor rubber production from any and every practicable source.

"IN THE NAME OF DECENCY"

In connection with the record-breaking $42,820,000,000 Army supply bill, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon took a stand that should receive public commendation. He asked for time to consider the bill, "in the name of decency and some concern for expenditure of public funds." He said, "I always try to be fair and reasonable. But here is a bill calling for an appropriation of nearly $43,000,000,000 with a 92-page report and a record of four days' hearings."

The Senator objected to being required to pass on such an important measure on virtually an hour's notice. "I don't question the amounts. I am interested in a display of judgment. This is just pushing members of the Senate around. We ought to have at least one day to consider this bill—a sum bigger than the cost of the last war, a sum which a few months ago was considered by many as bigger than a safe limit on the public debt."

Senator McNary is to be commended for asking "a display of calmness and judgment," instead of blindly waving the flag to cloak unnecessary, hasty action on matters so vital to the nation. With the public debt estimated at 130 billion dollars in 1943, his action may encourage closer scrutiny of future appropriation measures.

Unbeatable Team—Soldier, Bond Buyer

Four new color posters soon will be seen all over the United States, emphasizing new themes in the War Bond sales campaign. The poster reproduced above stresses the double-purpose utility of War Bond purchases.

A SCRAP OF PAPER

Will the unions be permitted to exploit war needs to force concessions from management without arbitration by proper governmental bodies? That is not an academic question. It is an extremely practical one, and it was made so by the heads of the United Mine Workers.

Some time ago, the southern coal operators, under the terms of their contract with the union, fined workers for taking part in what they believed to be an illegal strike last November. The operators planned to give the money to charity. Then it appeared that union workers could not take their scheduled ten-day July vacation without imperiling production of coal which was vitally needed by war industry. The highest government officials requested that the vacation period be reduced to three days. The union bosses would agree to this only on condition that the fines be returned to the workers—without arbitration of any kind.

The operators agreed. As the Huntington, W. Va., Herald Advertiser said, they made this concession of principle "to insure the nation's war production machine against any serious stoppage of the flow of fuel. For that, the operators are to be commended."

And now the nation is entitled to know whether unions, in the future, will be permitted to blackmail industry into similar concessions. If they are, we will have rule by force. Instead of by law, contract and arbitration—with the union bosses the dictators.

Telephone Company Shows Large Growth Since Early Days

Ike Williams and daughter operated the central office several years and then sold out to W. J. Clements of Eagle Point who operated for one year. At the annual meeting, better conveniences and enlarged system was decided on and money borrowed for same. The present building was built, the board was operated one year at a time by Mr. Porter and wife, Roy Jones, O. P. Pankey and Dollie Love. Then Sanford J. Richardson and wife took over and ran the office for four or five years. Our present operator, Mrs. Nan Tharp and husband have been in charge for the past 5½ years.

Mr. Alexander said that many times he and Mr. Freeman had closed up their business and went out and worked on the telephone line. Its early history is very interesting. Wire fences were used for lines, but we have not space for it all. The central office was enlarged this year and a twin switchboard with two operators on full time. From a half dozen phones, it has grown to over two hundred and with many waiting for phones. It has always been a strictly mutual company, every one being equal, no dividends to declare or money to squabble over. During this time of 39 years the board has tried to furnish patrons telephone service at cost.

There has been no dissension during all this time which is rather unusual in a mutual company. Mr. Alexander suggests every one help win the war by using the telephone whenever possible and thereby save tires and gas.

FIGHTING MAN of the Forest Front

Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production
Board States:

THE production of war materials such as lumber from the woods and copper from the mines is just as important in preparations for defeat of the Axis as is the production of finished war items made from such raw materials. Indeed, without the raw materials the finished products cannot be made. . . . Lumber from every region in the United States is an important and critical material in our whole war program."
