

Tin Can Drive to Start Very Soon

A tin can drive will be started in the near future and every one is urged, who is not already doing so, to save every tin can.

Tin is badly needed and even if for some untold reason the special tin from our can didn't get into the war effort, how much better to save our cans and not have them used, than to have them needed and not have them. It seems there are some people that think tin is not badly needed. Here is an extract from an editorial written by Herb Grey in the Mail Tribune:

"The increasingly grave situation in regard to the nation's dwindling stock-pile of tin again emphasizes the urgent need for salvaging every single tin can. The collection here will begin March 5, and every home should have a supply on hand to add to Jackson county's salvage contribution."

"Last month Oregon failed to ship a single carload of tin—the first time we have failed to furnish at least some of this precious wartime material for reclaiming. It seems both paradoxical and regrettable at a time when demand for war materials are at their greatest pitch since Pearl Harbor, that Oregon's tin can collections should slump to their lowest levels."

SOME DOG!

For quite some time Faber's Market has been missing packages of groceries off their back porch. It was a puzzle just what could become of them. Someone's order would be put up all ready to go and after being delivered would be short of something they were sure had been included in the order. Much time and thought had been given to the problem, but it hadn't been solved.

The other day looking out the front window they saw a small dog crossing Pine St. carrying a large package almost as large as itself. Watching the dog a few minutes an idea came into their mind and some one followed him. He led them straight to the Walter Franks home, and lay down on the porch with a choice piece of bacon. Faber's Market did not want the Franks to tie up their dog as any dog that can bring home the bacon these days is too valuable a dog to be tied up.

(Editor's note—We knew the Walter Franks were blossoming out, with their lovely new home, telephone and various articles of new furniture, but with a dog that brings home the bacon, Oh—dear.)

Harry Young New pco "Ad" Man

The appointment of Harry A. Young as Advertising Manager of The California Oregon Power Company was announced today by A. S. Cummins, president of the company. Young assumes his new duties March 1st.

In placing Young in charge of all company advertising and publicity Cummins stated "We intend to keep our customers fully informed of postwar developments in electric service, and the important part electricity can play in making their homes more livable and convenient. The people of this territory enjoy one of the lowest electric rates in the nation and we feel it is our duty, as a public service company, to help them obtain the maximum benefits from their electric service."

Young has been associated with Copco since 1934. He first served as local sales manager and later was placed in charge of the company's dealer development program. Always active in civic affairs, Young is, at present, Commander of Medford Post No. 15 of the American Legion.

Letters to Nephews

By Ella H. Leonard

Near nephew:

A few portraits: A step backward. Nic's tail under a heel. Her fangs soaked in a calf. Loud screams. The leftover piecrust was baked in a shell and set on the backroom table to cool. Some cat had found it and chewed all around the edges, so it was put outside in the catplate. Mikey came over to watch dad break twigs. Dad saw him as the last bit was disappearing and yelled, "Mike, what are you doing?" To which the kid answered, "The cat lost out this time." Dad grabbed him to wash him. He hung back and declared

"I don't want my face washed—just my hands."

It seems big Jimmy found a fine fat rooster dead. Suspicious as dad's get, he called and began to question little Jimmy. Looking his dad square in the eye, the boy said, "I'll tell you, dad. He just stretched his self up tall, fell over backward and hit the back of his head on a rock, and it killed him." "Wa-a-ait now, son. Better tell me what really happened," said the dad, who could hardly keep a straight face. "Well, daddy, if you really have to know—we shot it with our slingshots."

Things I'd like to know: If our vote is secret; if we can vote as we think is right, then how can any man "control a bloc of votes"? Another thing—if the government needs men so desperately for service, why don't it first take those who work in breweries and distilleries; instead of farmers. Or is the government like the old lady who said to a kid, "Take this money and get me a loaf of bread and a pint of whiskey. No. Better get all whiskey. Bread is the staff of life, but whiskey is life itself." Liquor and tobacco have gone "all out" to win the war, don't you think? Or don't you. It would be interesting if not informational to hear you say what you are fighting for. Is integrity dying? God is in His heavens. Be of good courage. Stoutly. Aunty.
