

The Country's First "War Loan" Advertisement

ADVERTISEMENT

Lancaster, May 24, 1755.

NOTICE is hereby given to all who have contracted to send wagons and teams or single horses from York County to the Army at Wills Creek, that David M. Conaughy and Michael Schwoope of said county, Gentlemen, will attend on my behalf at York Town on Friday next, and at Philip Forneys on Saturday, to value or appraise all such wagons, teams and horses, as shall appear at those places on the said days for that purpose; and such as do not appear must be valued at Wills Creek. The wagons that are valued at York and Forneys are to set out immediately after valuation from thence to Wills Creek, under the Conduct and Direction of Persons I shall appoint for the purpose. The owner or owners of each wagon or set of horses should bring with them to the Place of Valuation and deliver to the appraisers, a paper containing a description of their several horses in writing, with their several marks natural and artificial; which paper is to be annexed to the contract. Each wagon should be furnished with a cover, that the goods laden therein may be kept from damage by the rain, and the health of the drivers preserved, who are to lodge in the wagons. And each wagon, and every horse driver, should also be furnished with a hook or sickle, fit to cut long grass that grows in the country beyond the mountains. As all the wagons are obliged to carry a load of oats, or Indian corn, persons who have such grain to dispose of are desired to be cautious how they hinder the King's Service, by demanding an extravagant price on this occasion.

B. FRANKLIN

BEN FRANKLIN, at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, on May 6, 1755, caused to be written what is termed the country's first war loan advertisement. Franklin warned his readers against inflationary prices for the "under the King's Service," a lesson still good in the Mighty Seventh War Loan. The document was written in 1755, and the words used by Franklin. This was a loan of material to the British.

Buy, Buy a Bond, They'll Bye-bye Junior for Mom.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Buy, buy a War Bond and we'll bye-bye baby" is the slogan of two sisters here, who are also sisters in Mu Chapter.

THEKLA GILDA
Psi Lambda Tau sorority at Central High School.

The Misses Gilda and Thekla Klevit announced that parents who'd like a night out, but are held home-bound by baby's needs, now may break their shackles in the easiest possible fashion—by purchasing a War Bond from one of a group of 20 sorority girls.

Graduated now, the Sisters Klevit have kept up their contact with their friends, and when not tending baby are Federal workers. They'll take care of baby if pop and mom will buy a War Bond.

The sisters said that during previous loans other sororities and some fraternities shoveled ashes, cleaned cellars and did other household chores in return for War Bond purchases and they suggest their plan be carried out nationally.

HOUSE GUEST—

Mrs. Roy Murphy of Grants Pass, is house guest at the H. Troutman home. She is a sister of Mrs. Troutman and arrived Sunday and will return home Friday. Ms. Murphy visited Wednesday with the L. C. Munns, whom she has known all her life. Her mother and the Munns were friends, before her mother was married.

Letters to Nephews

By Ella H. Leonard

Dear nephew:

An item in the Farm Home Garden said, "The cave baby had to yowl for his own protection." The squawk of one of these kittens brings Niek on the run, all solicitation. Saturday was the first day they stirred around. Monday, what a difference. Set on the porch, they tried to find themselves. Spry saw his shadow. Frightened, he tried to run from it. He spit, slapped, clawed, and finally accepted it. Patty, too, was frightened, but was too sluggish to fuss much about it. Their learning process reminded me of a baby's.

Did I tell you that Robin generously offered his mommy some of his frog eggs for her birthday gift? Sissy calls a frog a "watermouse".

Reading of Rev. Melville T. Wire's teachings, I got to wondering if the thought ever struck him to do a scene in hunting swan on Goose Lake. Dad invited Rev. Wire and our then district superintendent to a swan supper. It was boiled first in the scrubbed wash boiler, the only thing big enough. The biscuit pan was the only pan big enough to roast the swan in. Can you imagine the amount of dressing it took to stuff it? They ate as if they enjoyed it as much as if it were wild goose. (The simplicity of our living! Inviting folks to meals, even though our dining room was our kitchen. Not a convenience in the house. The shelf for the wash basin was put outside the back door by our seven year old son. But if dad had one big failing, it was being hospitable. . . .) A swan hunt etching, Mr. Wire.

Sure there's a job waiting for you: for one, removing the make-up in the rooms, and giving them a new face. A hundred home-y things like that, and let me be lazy and just boss. Can you read under the surface? You're a dear, think your Aunt.

WHERE DO YOU LIVE?

This is a question that had Jack Sharp and me puzzled five or six years ago, but at that time, try as we may we couldn't seem to get any one else interested.

At that time I was secretary of the Telephone Co. It came time for the new directory—so far everybody's address was Central Point, Oregon, so we knew if they had a Central Point phone, they lived somewhere in this valley between Sams Valley and Beall Lane, but that was as close as we could get unless we happened to know personally the location of their home. We decided to be more specific on addresses. We knew the streets of town and could find the official name of some of the country roads. Others we didn't know nor couldn't find out, so we coined names for them, hoping those who didn't like our choice of the name would protest. We finally got the protest after these years of anxiously waiting. The thing I hope now is that some of those people will get so mad that they will get official names to their respective post markers at the intersections and roads and have them recorded and we don't care whether they decide on VanScyoc, Freeman, or Smith's Lane.

Letter Received From
Mr. M. C. Merritt

Received a letter from Mr. M. C. Merritt saying (we are sorry to say) that he didn't believe he would continue the paper "If it wasn't for Bob and Lola's store cat, I am anxious to know what it has to say and to sell."

"I have been real well all winter. Haven't even had a cold, the rest of the family are well. Elmer is in Portland and has a firestone store there."

"Edna is still in Bly and is doing a good business with her Grocery store."

"We are having the nicest spring I ever saw in Klamath Co. Haven't had any frost since it got warm in April."

"Just had a fine rain and everything looks fine. Lots of Potatoes being planted and lots of farmers are through."

Well if you want to you may stick this in your paper so my friends (if I have any) may know that I am O. K. I may get over there some time this summer. I expect to go to Portland the first of next month to visit Elmer. John and I are still batching and manage to eat part of what we cook.

Give my best regards to your Father and Mother and save a little for yourselves.

LOVELY GIFTS—

Among the numerous and lovely gifts and messages received by Mrs. Tracy on Mother's Day was a gorgeous bouquet of snap-dragons and ferns from her son overseas. The order was handled by a Detroit firm and elayed to a Medford flower shop, who asked her to call for them on account of restrictions on delivery outside the city. His wife, Helen Inman, received a beautiful bouquet of roses. Were we thrilled!

NEW WELDING SHOP OPENS—

Mr. J. M. Harper recently opened up a welding shop in what was the Obenchain garage at one time. On going to work the other morning he found that someone had broken into the shop and cut the hose of his welding machine, which he had recently purchased from Clyde Lees and drawn all the gas out of his gas tank and other damages. He lives in one of the Borah houses on 6th and Maple.

WHITE BABY ROBIN—

Sunday evening Mr. Wayman Warner hearing the birds making a big commotion in the yard, went out to see what was the matter. He started back into the house when he noticed what he thought was a piece of paper on the lawn. He went over to it and found a white baby robin just out of the nest. He took it into the house and cared for it all day Monday. Sunday evening Mr. Buck took it home with him for his wife to care for it. It is snow white with pink eyes. A few white robins have been heard of, but a few people have seen one.

VICTORY IS NEVER CHEAP

They're giving their all... back them up with YOUR dollars!

AS THE battle lines approach the heart of the enemy's homeland, the fighting grows fiercer...and more costly in men, materiel and money. That's one reason why every red-blooded American must back this mighty 7th War Loan with every dollar he can lay hands on. Another reason is that this is really two drives in one. In the same period last year, you were asked to invest in two war loans, as against one this time.

No need to tell you that War Bonds are the safest and best investment in the world. So pour out your might, Americans, in the MIGHTY 7th War Loan. Let's show our valiant Fighting Men that we're backing them to the limit of our means... 100%.
