A V-E DAY THOUGHT
(The following poem was written by a friend of Gordon Conrad AM 2/c who sent it in the poem.)
Now that the victory in Europe is here,
Let us not be too happy nor shed a tear,
But buckle down to the task ahead,
Till every back-stabbing Jap is dead.
Let us do all we can and buy an extra bond,
So we may soon see those of whom we're so fond.

We'll need all the planes, ships and guns we can get,
So even tho' we're thankful let us never forget,
Those of the Allies who died over there,
That we might live happily and breathe free air.
Air untainted by slavery and war,
Let us NEVER forget what we're fighting for.

We may beef continually and complain,
But let me tell you we don't know the pain
Of starvation by a killer so ruthless and cold,
Or torture for something you'd never been told.
So be thankful you live in the land of the free,
AMERICA—the home of you and me.
—Alfred L. Perry, AOM 1/c.
