South America As

Seen by Local Lady

Mrs. Mildred Swain is writing to her mother, Mrs. E. E. Scott, from South America, where she is with her husband, who is employed by the government rubber research.

I could go on for pages describing Rio but better make this more brief. While in Rio I went to the top of Sugar Loaf (Pao de Assucar) but Mabel was too frightened of the suspension trolley cars on which you have to ride to get up there.

There are many, many things which we did not see in Rio but we saw a lot of it and it would take a book to tell you all about it. This will give you an idea of the highlights of it, however.

Letters From Our Boys in Service

Dear Mr. Powell: I am writing you and thanking for the Central Point American you have been sending me.

To the People of this Community

"My Thinking - My Money - My Time will stay in this war to the finish."

Ted R. Gamble, National director of the War Finance Division and leader of the millions of volunteers who are selling you the extra War Bonds needed to beat the Japs and complete the war job in Europe, put the wartime credo of Americans in these 14 words.

It's good advice to follow not only during war loans but every day. You can't help too much to win a war.

Our people haven't seen the war like the rest of the world, so would you put following rules in your paper so the people and children can see them.

If you see something strange laying around on the roads, lots or fields.

1. Hands off 2. Get in touch with the police. 3. It might look funny yet it might be deadly.

Well, I have seen a lot of the world since I last seen Central Point, but Central Point was best.

I had been in France and Belgium for a while. I wasn't there long enough to learn French but it was easy to get along, cause each GI is given a pocket French book, what couldn't say you would show them in the book.

I am now back in England. There is something we don't like and that is the rain. It rain almost every day. Must close now and will be looking for those papers.

Your truly, Wenting Hilkey.

VISITING MR & MRS. CAYS— Elaine Klewer of Fairview, Okla., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cays. She plans to be here most of summer.
