TROUBLES DOUBLE

The whole Government set-up to prevent and settle strikes, stabilize wages, fix prices and influence the cost of living is not practical—therefore, not successful.

The Maritime strike has practically tied up shipping at sea.

The Pittsburgh and airways strikes read like fairy stories, and bad ones at that. Salaries are so high as to be almost unbelievable.

The hotel strike in Washington has tied up business, as there are not hotel accommodations in Washington to take care of people who come to the Capital to conduct public affairs.

The plunge in the cotton market has closed some of the Exchanges, and if cotton shortages continues it will stop the operation of hundreds of factories and establishments.

The political campaigns are running smoothly enough in different States—but they don't seem to be very important so far as major problems are concerned. The battle goes on between government controls and inflation, accompanied by all kinds of predictions described by Chester Bowles as "a joy-ride to disaster."

Crime is rampant, because the people of the country are not living their normal ways of life. Finally as one modern prophet observed, "everything is getting no better fast."

THINGS GRANNY TOOK IN HER STRIDE

The other day we talked with a woman who was frantically searching for a recipe to make her own soap just as granny did in days gone by. And that reminded us of the many things that this generation's do for the first time—things that granny took in her stride as a matter of course.

We heard another story, too, of the past catching up with the present. It seems that this housewife decided to make some mayonnaise using a bottle of oil she had hoarded; but fearful that her dressing might separate and she might waste the oil, she wrote to Best Foods, manufacturers of Hellmann's and Best Foods' Real Mayonnaise, asking what they used to keep their product from separating.

They told her of their machines which double whip the ingredients, thereby always assuring a velvety, smooth product. . . While we doubt if this information helped the good lady with her own concoction, she mothers and daughters are learning will no doubt be happy to know that such thorough care is taken to give her a good, dependable product now and in the future.

THE BRAVES TREATED—

On account of two birthdays the Browns invited the Indians to their home last Thursday and feasted the tribe with sandwiches, coke, ice-cream and hot chocolate. The Braves were exceedingly grateful to the lovely ladies who served them.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Morris returned home from their bull farm at Brookings last week and have finished planting their bulls but will need to make occasional trips over there to look after them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Johnson, who spent the summer at Dead Indian, for their health, have returned home and are living in a cottage at the Harry Elden home. Mrs. Elden is their daughter. Their grandson, Bobbie Elden spent the summer with them and is much improved in health.

Mr. Ted Sims, of Medford, and Mr. Arnold Bohnert of Central Point, attended Dad's day at Oregon State at Corvallis. Mr. Bohnert visited Mr. and Mrs. Grey Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is his daughter. On their way home they were stopped at the scene of the wreck near Eugene where six people were killed Saturday.

Mrs. R. R. Seegmiller gave a birthday party honoring her husband at their home October 27. Many of his relatives were present for the occasion.

What made Greyhound Grow?

...giving the people
good transportation...at low cost
...and lots of it!

From puppyhood, Greyhound grew on one good idea: to build a new, "American-style" travel system for THE PEOPLE.

Not mail...not freight...but PEOPLE.

The thing Greyhound knows best is how to get people to the places they want to go...at the times they want to go...at prices they can afford.

And Greyhound does this for more cities, towns, villages and corners than any other transportation system in the West.

What's more, Greyhound makes this "American-style" travel friendly, easy, convenient...stopping in the heart of big cities...at the drug store across from the city hall...or at Pete Jones' ranch, if that's where Pete wants to get off.

Why do the people like Greyhound? There's your answer: good transportation...at low cost...and lots of it.
