

Pointers Lose Badly To Klamath Pelicans

It was child's play for the Klamath Union high Pelicans at Klamath Friday night as they ran wild over the Central Point high eagles, 50-16.

Nearly all of the Pelicans who saw action swished in 10 points or more. Scott Rupp was high for the outclassed Pointers with six tallies. The victory was the third in the conference for Klamath against no defeats, while the tilt marked the third loop loss for the Pointers who have two wins.

High School Student Sorry for Food

The following news story about food was written by a young lady, a student of biology in one of the high schools of our county.

Mr. ——— introduced a very interesting subject this six weeks in the sophomore biology class. As we proceeded farther and farther into the digestive system, I began to feel very sorry for the food.

To begin with the food is masticated then it passes down the pharynx and just barely misses the larynx, which if it hadn't missed you would be in a sorry mess. Then the food passes down the esophagus helped along by the peristalsis waves and is finally trapped by the fundus and is kept there by the cardiac sphincter.

The gastric juices work on the proteins for a while then the food passes into the pyloric region where the mixing action is taking place. By now the food is only partly digested, but it manages to get out of the trap by changing itself into chyme and escapes through the pyloric opening in spurts.

Indigestion is caused by food feeling sorry for itself after it passes the second trap door and is padlocked in, and somebody loses the key.

The things people eat and drink it is no wonder God provides us with an elevator system.

The Oddfellows and Rebekah lodges of Central Point attended Gold Hill installation Tuesday evening. About thirty five attended. Central Point drill team put on the work.
