Well, we see some public spirited person has communicated with the Medford paper in regard to our Central Point shortcomings. Telling about the lax enforcement of our traffic laws etc. Maybe things could be better in Central Point. The traffic is getting heavier in our downtown district. And we believe traffic laws should be enforced.

But why shouldn't we keep these things at home. We wonder if this "F.H. (name on file)" ever made his complaints to our enforcement officers when these violations were taking place. Does he expect to settle Central Point traffic violations through the columns of the Medford papers.

We are sure that F.H. could not have been crossing the street in the middle of the block when these speed maniacs were racing down our main street.

Why not keep these things at home? There may be room for improvement in our local police! But if you can see where they could and should do better, tell them so. If you must write to outside papers, write something good. We are sure that F.H. can find many good things to write about Central Point.

It has been said: "The people are best governed who are the least governed." Wonder if it isn't about time to make a new start in this country. Wonder if we haven't got about twice as much government as we need. Twice as much as we can afford, too.

Thirty six billion dollars worth of government a year. Just federal government alone. That's a lot of rules and regulations to buy. We believe we could get along with about half of it.

We have always been a free people in this United States and pride ourselves on being able to care for ourselves. We don't believe we need 36 billion dollars worth of federal government a year.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Mickey Camp

Well, here I am again—ready to "chew the rag."

All of we high school kids are standing around like "eager beavers" waiting for a gay week-end. The Lions have promised us loads of fun. Of course, you've already heard about it, but I'll just remind you. Friday night, starting at 8:30 is the Box Social. Every person belonging to the fairer sex is to bring a decorated box containing lunch for two with her name on the inside of the box. The boxes will be auctioned off and the lucky buyer has the privilege of eating lunch with the owner of the box.

Saturday night there will be the community party and program and many prizes will be given, that have been donated by Central Point and Medford businessmen. The High School will furnish the entertainment including music by the band. There will be dancing and games both nights.

I also want to remind you again of our operetta. We've been practicing long and hard on it, but not nearly as hard as Mr. Meyers. And we all know that if Mr. Meyers is behind it, its bound to be a success! Remember that date—March 21.

"A Mind of Her Own," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the Junior Class the last part of April. The cast includes nine girls and four boys. Try-outs will be held as soon as the books come and practice will begin next week, according to Miss Martha Boshears, class advisor. The approximate date of presentation is the last week of April or the first week of May.

It started out as a titter, then a giggle, next a noisy laugh and finally hysterics. What was it???? Just a few students looking over the class and group pictures, that had been taken last week. Isn't it funny what a grease pencil applied to the eyebrows, face, and directly under the nose can do?

If you look real hard, you will probably see certain students washing desks—and blackboards, raking the lawn, sweeping the tennis court, and doing odd jobs. You'd probably wonder if spring fever was affecting them to such an extent that they were in a daze. That's a joke, son!! Laugh! They were convicted in the Kangaroo Court for traffic violations by the Order of the "C."

Have you noticed the grey hairs, the wrinkles, and the bags under the eyes of Mrs. Meyer? She sobs on everyone's shoulder and is almost a nervous wreck. As she walks the floor at night you hear her muttering something about raw meat-balls, fallen cakes, burnt steak, and soggy pies. As she drops back into bed, she whispers, "Those girls will NEVER, NEVER be able to cook!"

Seen and Heard

Mary Pence floating on pink clouds. Harold Kilburn could be the reason. Ted Franks receiving perfumed letters in blue envelopes, stamped "Yreka." Jean Jones blushing profusely as she hands Mr. Jewett the absence excuses written by her husband. Wilma Baker driving a big, grey limousine around town. How does she rate?? Dennis and Thale never getting to Operetta practice on the same night. Tough, huh??

That's all for now. See you next week.

Mrs. Myrtle Fisher left last week for Baker, Oregon where she will be employed by the United Airways. Her son, Duane, will reside with the Jantzers until school is out.
