EDITORIALS

One of the milestones in the lives of some of our people in Central Point, thirty-six students of our high school have completed their studies. They have received the best in education that we have to offer them in Central Point. If they desire to go farther in school they will have to go to some other city.

Some of these young people will go on to school. Some of them will go to work. They will probably never all meet together again. They will learn much that they don't know now as they go on through life. Some of them may go far and make a mark in this world.

But, regardless of where they go or what they do, they will find that the high lights of their school life in Central Point have taken a place in their minds that time or trials or tribulations will not erase.

They will never forget the day they graduated from high school in Central Point. We wish them every success and happiness as they travel into the future.

Well, the carnival has come and gone and once again we see the young folks playing baseball. We believe it's a lot better. We have no idea how much money the carnival took out of our community but it must have been thousands of dollars. Did you get your money worth?

We wouldn't be surprised if we didn't lose enough money on this deal to have some fine street lights or sidewalks or pavement or some of the many other things that are needed so bad in Central Point.

We will say that the carnival people were very efficient in getting the money out of the public. They even had one machine that picked you up, stood you on your head and shook the money right out of your pockets.

Every one seems to be telling what this country needs so we guess we'll put in our little bit. We believe a little depression would do a lot of good right now. Maybe some of the things that are needed would come back on the market.

Most powerful is he who has himself in his own power.

Mrs. Vanderdam was giving a bride party when the patter of tiny feet was heard from the head of the stair. "Hush," she said softly. "The children are going to give their good-night message. It always gives me such a sentimental feeling."

There was a moment of tense silence; then, shrilly: "Mamma! Percy found a bedbug."

Seven Tours Offered Soldiers

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—A new type of tour publicity is now on display in the lobby of the I. G. Farben Building, Headquarters of the European Command in Frankfurt, Germany. Created by the A. G. Art Section, the display shows the seven tours offered occupation personnel under the auspices of European Command Special Services. Figures representing G.I. Joe and G.I. Jane are shown on a magic carpet flying towards a half section of the globe. On the base of the display are seven discs depicting the various tours available, which are to the United Kingdom, Paris, the Riviera, Holland,

Denmark, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia.

Under the guidance of Major General A. R. Bolling European Command Special Services is responsible for the entertainment and recreation of occupation personnel in the European Command. Athletics, libraries, Army Service Clubs, motion pictures and manual arts shops are some of the other Special Services activities.

Lowry of Central Point, Oregon, attached to the 7704th WAC Detachment, Frankfurt, Germany; and Mr. Marvin Clemens of Peoria, Illinois, working with the American Graves Registration in Paris, France.

Corporal Lowry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lowry who operate Lowry's Motor Service in Central Point. Mrs. Lowry has just received a fine set of Swedish crystal vases from her daughter and Mr. Lowry is wearing a new French made wrist watch.

Corporal Lowry was in Central Point last fall for a months visit with her parents before leaving for her overseas duties.
