

Many in Attendance
At Medford Meet

Those attending the Jackson County project meeting held Tuesday in Medford from this community were Mesdames Irene Anhorn, Joy Bigham, Major Pierce, Kite, and Esther Camp. A goodly number of interested men and women were present to hear such men as Dr. Glenn A. Bakkum, head of the Sociology department of Oregon State college; Mr. Sherur from the office of the Oregon Tuberculosis and Health Association, who spoke in place of Mrs. Sadie Dunbar, who was ill.

The project of "Calling on all Homes" is a great, but worthwhile enterprise.

So little has been done in years past to better human relations. Most parents want to be good parents, but many times fail through lack of knowledge and expert help.

Mr. Bakkum stated that Jackson County had spent sixty four thousand dollars of tax money and three hundred and sixty three citizens have been sent to state institutions during the past two years. If half of the money expended had gone for prevention work, this might have been avoided.

There are many such organizations within the county but few people avail themselves of such. The purpose of the new project is to acquaint everyone in the county with the entire family relation's program.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 26 in the Parish Hall at which time Dr. Shultz, of the Southern Oregon college will be the speaker. Many are urged to attend these meetings.

Locals

Mary More returned home Sunday from an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Christopher, of Salem and a sister, Mrs. J. L. Hanna, of Depoe Bay and a granddaughter and family of Springfield, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pence, of Jacksonville were visited over the week-end by Mr. Pence's brother, Paul Pence and wife who motored from Portland where Paul Pence is employed by the Southern Pacific company. While here, the guests also visited with Mr. Pence's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Minus Pence of Central Point and other relatives here.

Supt. H. P. Jewett, High School Principal Alton Schopfer, and Elementary School Principal C. A. Meyer attended the annual School Administrators conference at Salem on Monday and Tuesday of this week. About six hundred administrators of the state were present for the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jewett accompanied by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Jewett and their grandson, Jimmy, drove to Salem Friday afternoon to attend the wedding of a relative. Mr. Jewett attended the school administrators conference and they visited their daughter, Jerry, a senior at Willamette.

Mrs. Ruth Hover, Mrs. Irene Anhorn and Mrs. W. T. Parsons attended the District meeting of the Parent and Teachers Congress held in Medford last Wednesday. It was reported the best meeting held in a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burns drove to Gold Beach Saturday, returning late Sunday evening. They drove cars to the coast owned by a party who had gone down the Rogue river from Grants Pass. One member of the party was Prince Helfrich of the McKenzie river, who is an expert at shooting rapids in mountain rivers. Mr. Helfrich is the son of Mrs. Ruth Helfrich of this city.

Lavina J., who married Dr. Jesse Robinson and moved to California. She and her husband had five children, all of whom are now deceased. Elizabeth, married to W. T. Leever, bore twelve children, two of whom died in infancy. Best known of these children probably was W. C. (Con) Leever, former county commissioner and long-time mayor of this city, who passed away in August, 1936. Others of the family still living include: Carlos Leever, San Francisco; Ada Damon, John Day, Ore.; Lucinda Guy, Portland, Nello McGee, San Francisco, and Elizabeth Mayer, Modesto, Calif.

William T., married to Jessie Bledsoe. Of their three children one is deceased. Of the others, Wm. C. now lives in Portland and Mrs. Julia Kincaid in Tacoma.

Julia A., was married to Wm. A. Owen, who served as an early-day sheriff of this county. Of their five children, three are deceased and one, Mrs. Mabel Hall lives in Oakland, Calif., and Wm. C., who will be remembered as a genial clerk in various stores in this city, is now living in Cornelius, Ore. Margery E., married Constantine Magruder, who owned and operated the first store and the first post-office in this part of the county. It was located just off East Pine street and the old Magruder home is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Les Bigham. Of the seven Magruder children three are dead and of the others Mrs. Mary Coker lives in Vallejo, Calif., Lettie L. Gregory in Central Point; Ray L. Magruder in Red Bluff, Calif. and Vernon Magruder in Portland, Ore.

Eliza Alice Constant died at the age of fourteen years.

Of the 32 grandchildren in the Isaac Constant family only one, Mrs. Lettie L. Gregory still lives in Central Point. There are also four great grand children living in the vicinity: Lysle L. Gregory, Leonard Freeman, Mrs. Lola Kincaid, all of Central Point, and Earl Leever, of Medford. Mrs. Kincaid has the distinction of living upon the Donation Land Claim formerly owned by her great grandfather and within sight of his old home. Mrs. Gregory also lives on land formerly owned by her grandfatehr near the high school.

The old Isaac Constant house still stands on the east side of the old county road which separated the Constant farm from the city of Central Point, (now known as the Freeman Road) and is owned and occupied by the Hare family.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new road connecting with the new bridge and it is expected to be open to travel within a few days. However, the new road cannot be paved this fall, but will be well gravelled for the present.

DON'T PUT UP THIS SIGN!

New industries can't come to Oregon now if they use large amounts of electric power. There's an actual power shortage in the state.

Why haven't more power dams been built? One big reason is an obsolete Oregon law that discourages building of hydroelectric plants by power companies.

The last state legislature corrected the law that is holding up Oregon's progress. It made Oregon power laws conform to the Federal Power Act. The vote was 70 to 20! Now the modernized hydroelectric law is submitted to the people for approval, in the form of Referendum 306.

City Club Report Blasts Arguments AGAINST LIQUOR-BY-THE-GLASS!

For years the City Club of Portland has been noted for the thoroughness of its studies and the impartiality of its reports on candidates and political measures. A City Club report just submitted on the Oregon Liquor Dispensing Licensing Act (Knox Law Improvement) while making no specific voting recommendation, completely disposes of the arguments most commonly advanced against this measure.

Don't be fooled by the propaganda of the prohibitionists. Here are the facts, as reported by a City Club Committee composed of seven leading citizens, including a minister.

Arguments Against the Bill

1. It would increase drinking, drunkenness and alcoholism in Oregon.

The City Club report says this argument is an "opinion only, unfounded on provable fact!"

2. The passage of this bill will lead to the return of wide open drinking throughout the state. A further possibility is the eventual breakdown of the Knox Law and complete revulsion by the public who would then hasten to dry up the state through local option elections.

The City Club report says this argument "is not based on fact. A careful search of the local option laws in the various states fails to show any correlation between the method of dispensing liquor and any trend toward dryness."

3. Liquor will be consumed in public places such as restaurants and hotels which are frequented by women and children.

The City Club report says "this argument is advanced by nearly all the dry forces. Its cogency depends on one's attitude toward drinking in public or semi-public places."

Actually, this argument is downright silly.

There will be plenty of restaurants to which women and children can go without being exposed to drinking in public places.

The argument of drinking by minors also fails to stand up. All provisions of the Knox Law covering this subject will continue in full force. Obviously, licensed establishments, operating in the open won't dare serve minors; the risk is too great.

4. If the bill passes and if the serving of liquor by-the-glass is as profitable as the proponents believe it will be, tremendous political pressure will be exerted on the Oregon Liquor Control Commission for issuing of new licenses.

The City Club report says this argument "depends upon the profits from selling liquor by the glass under this bill, and secondly upon the attitude and integrity of the Commission."

5. The bill is discriminatory because all establishments which would like to serve liquor by the drink will not be licensed.

The City Club report says this argument "is not only depending upon one's point of view. It discriminates against the beer taverns which cannot be licensed under this bill. However, with 277 restaurants (81 in Portland) and 105 clubs (18 in Portland) being potentially eligible to hold dispensing licenses under this proposed bill, your committee feels that the general public will not be discriminated against."

The City Club report clarifies the entire issue when it says: "The proposed bill would modify the present Knox Law only to the extent that it substitutes the dispenser's bottle for that of the customer's."

Oregon has much to gain and nothing to lose by improving the Knox Law. Why require purchase of a bottle? Legalize liquor by-the-glass.
