

Operetta To Be Held On April 3rd & 4th

The boys and girls who belong to the junior high chorus are busily working on an operetta to be given the nights of the 3rd and 4th of April. The operetta has a Japanese background and promises to be both colorful and entertaining. The title of it is "Yanki-San," the story taking place during the reign of the Mikado. Much of the story is told in song with several solos and dances as well.

If any people in the community have Japanese kimonos to loan for these two performances it would be greatly appreciated and good care of them is promised. Please call 462 if you have a kimono that can be used.

Melvin Harsh Voted Most Valuable Player

In a recent vote by the athletes of the Central Point Junior High—Melvin Harsh was voted the most valuable player. Melvin played guard on the basketball team and was a real leader. Last year the award was won by Vern Parent now playing for the Crater High freshmen. The other award for the player displaying outstanding sportsmanship for the year was won by Jack Lilly. Jack was always in the thick of things in every game—never once giving up—last year this same award was won by Fred Hogue. The boys have their names engraved upon a trophy which will be retained by the school.

Ruth Powell Named On Dean's List

Greenville, S.C.—Miss Ruth Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Powell of Oakland, Oreg., has been included among students named on the Bob Jones University dean's list, which was released at the close of the first semester. These students made averages of "A" or "B" in all their courses for the first semester of the 1951-52 academic year.

Miss Powell is a member of a student body of approximately three thousand young people who have come from forty-seven states and from more than a score of foreign countries to attend "The World's Most Unusual University." She is a freshman at the university, enrolled in the School of Fine Arts. She is a chorister of Christian and Missionary Alliance Sunday School Class and is chorister of the Keramion Literary Society.

Prayer For World Refugees

New York, March 10—Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, President of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, has written the following Prayer for World Refugees which will be read in churches of 29 Protestant denominations all over America on Sunday, March 16, in connection with the opening of their "One Great Hour of Sharing" United Appeal for overseas relief and reconstruction.

"Almighty God, whose compassions fail not and whose loving kindness reacheth unto the world's end; we ask that thy blessing may rest upon the millions of our brethren in other lands who through no fault of their own, are in dire need. Grant them the help and comfort of thy Presence, the simple gifts of food, clothing and shelter, the greater gifts of freedom and of opportunity. We thank thee for all thy goodness to us as a nation and as a people. Help us to use these blessings in the service of others. Touch our hearts that we may gladly share with those in want to the glory of thy Name, through Jesus Christ."

Special offerings will be taken in the co-operating thousands of churches on March 23 in an attempt of the denominations to raise more than $6,000,000 for the continuance of their humanitarian work among the distressed of Korea, the Middle East India and Central Europe.

OWES LIFE TO BIBLE, BLOOD, TAPE

Long Beach, Calif.—Army Sgt. Roger E. Haag, 21, believes he owes his life to a Bible, five pints of blood plasma and a tape recording. Wounded in the chest in Korea, a Bible in his breast pocket turned much of the shrapnell from his heart and kept his severe wounds from being fatal. Kept alive by plasma, the youth seemed morose and spoke to no one. A tape recording of his parents' voices was flown to his bedside. As he listened through earphones, a smile spread over his face and he seemed to take on new life and had a desire to get well.

VIVID LESSON—

Omaha, Nebr.—When Wylie Lawson found a loaded and cocked 12-gauge shotgun in his home, he called his son, Samuel, 12 to explain the danger. As the lesson proceeded, Lawson threw open the breech, the gun discharged, striking Samuel on the foot and now the boy is minus a toe and a half.

GIVES UP HIKES—

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Rev. Alvin Couchman has decided to give up his daily 10-mile walk—for two reasons: One is that he's 93 and the other is because a truck struck him and broke his right leg on his last outing.

MARRIES 7,103 COUPLES—
Las Vegas—James Down, Jr., Justice of Peace, set a new record, he thinks, in marriages last year. He performed 7,103 weddings, slightly under 20 a day, with Sundays his busiest days. Altogether, there were 18,142 weddings in Las Vegas in 1951.

Mass Production—1902-1952

ABOVE—Early Rambler chassis waiting to be moved onto the Rambler assembly line at the Kenosha, Wisconsin, plant of Thomas B. Jeffery Company in 1902 looked more like bicycle frames. The company built 1,500 Ramblers that year to become one of the world's first mass-producers of automobiles.

HIGHLIGHTS OF NASH MOTORS FIFTY YEAR HISTORY

In 1902, Thomas B. Jeffery, whose company later became Nash Motors, began production of the famous Rambler automobiles in Kenosha, Wisconsin. Jeffery built 1,500 Ramblers that year, as his company became the world's second mass producer of automobiles.

The Jeffery Company was the first to introduce a spare wheel as optional equipment on its Rambler models in 1905.

The famous Rambler name was changed to "Jeffery" in 1914 in memory of its founder, Thomas B. Jeffery, who died on March 21, 1910, while touring Europe.

Charles W. Nash resigned as president of General Motors in 1916 to purchase the Thomas B. Jeffery Company and founded Nash Motors Company. Jeffery production was continued, bearing the Nash nameplate.

In the fall of 1917, the 1918 Nash was introduced, which was the first Nash designed car. Some 10,000 cars were sold in the first full year of production.

Nash Motors produced more than 11,000 trucks in 1918—a record unequalled by any other manufacturer prior to that time. Most of these trucks were the famous Quad used in World War I.

Nash Motors purchased a half interest in the Seaman Body Corporation in 1919. The other 50 per cent was purchased in 1935.

In 1922, Nash Motors introduced the first rubber-mounted engine.

Nash Motors produced its millionth automobile in 1934. The company also began production of the low priced LaFayette model.

Stockholders of Nash Motors Co. and Kelvinator Corp. approved the merger of the two companies in 1938. Charles W. Nash was named chairman of the board and George W. Mason, president, of Nash-Kelvinator Corporation.

The new Nash "600", first completely new low-priced car in a decade, came off the production line in 1940. It was built on an entirely new principle, known as "Airflyte" body and frame construction.

During World War II, Nash-Kelvinator Corporation built more than $600,000,000 worth of aircraft material, including engines, propellers and helicopters.

Charles W. Nash died on June 6, 1948. He was succeeded on the board of Nash-Kelvinator Corporation by George W. Mason, who also continued as president.

In 1950, Nash Motors revived the famous Rambler name. In April the convertible model was introduced, followed a few months later by the Rambler station wagon. In July, 1951, the company introduced the third in the Rambler series, the "Country Club" hardtop convertible.
