71 Boys, Girls Sign for Summer Recreation Play

A total of 71 boys and girls, ranging in ages from 9 to 15, turned out Wednesday for the first meeting in the Central Point summer recreation program.

Director Bill Esselstyn reported that interest was shown in baseball, basketball, tennis, archery and photography and that youngsters signed up in each division.

Eleven have signed up for tennis to date. A championship trophy will be given to the boys and girls singles winner at the end of the summer program.

Three youngsters signed up to date for photography classes which will be instructed by Sanford Price of Camp White. Four have signed up for archery classes which will be taught by Arden Pinkham. More youngsters are needed in both these classes, Esselstyn said.

Twenty-three boys have signed up for basketball play. Forty-six PeeWee baseball players signed up Wednesday and 21 boys in the intermediate age group signed up.

The actual summer recreation program will begin Monday, June 25. Today and Friday will be devoted to baseball practice, intermediates in the morning and PeeWees in the afternoon.

Sportsmen Asked To Respect Rights

Mr. Hunter and fisherman, will you please take a look at your hunting or fishing license?

Whether you have noticed or not, across the face you will find these words printed: "This license does not permit you to trespass on private property."

Misuse and abuse of private lands and property by some license holders has prompted the Oregon Game Commission to remind sportsmen of their obligations.

Director P. W. Schneider said, "The commission remains hopeful that each person going afield to fish and hunt this year will recognize his responsibilities and respect lands and waters upon which we depend for this recreation."

Month of June Is Dairy Month

June is Dairy Month, and a huge team of people and organizations are pulling together to put dairy foods into the public spotlight for 30 days.

All segments of the dairy industry, from the farmers who produce the milk to the truck drivers who delivery dairy products to stores and doorsteps, are working together to make the public dairy foods-conscious.

Dairy Month is a project of retail food outlets, restaurants, hotels, soda fountains and a host of other groups which are interested in expanding distribution of dairy products through normal channels of trade.

Originated in 1938, June Dairy Month is officially sponsored by 13 national organizations, with the American Dairy Association serving as headquarters for the event.
