Former Sams Valley Man Killed in Calif.

Walter Straus, 49, of Sacramento, Calif., formerly of Sams Valley, was killed in a lumber accident where he was employed in Sacramento recently.

Word of his death was recently received by friends in the valley.

Straus, who moved from Sams Valley about 10 years ago, was the son of the late Dick Straus of Sams Valley.

Demonstration Team from TR Appears on TV

By Mrs. Ray Doran.

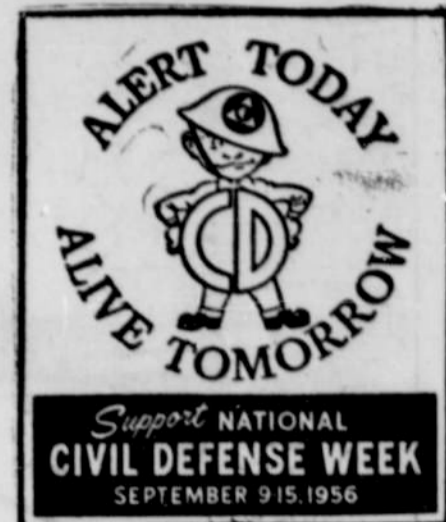

TABLE ROCK—Anita Pierce and Aletta Myers, the home-making demonstration team in 4-H which won a first in bed making, were guests on television Monday afternoon to give their demonstration again.

Mrs. Mary Myers, long time 4-H leader, is the one responsible for the class in Table Rock and we are all proud of her and the two nine-year-olds who have worked faithfully to finish all their projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor and daughters spent a few days on the coast at Yachats, then motored by way of Portland Sunday.

Mrs. Elmer Hull with granddaughters Reanna and Marilyn, left Monday by train for Los Angeles and a trip through Disneyland. They expect to return about Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George McClung and daughter, Sharon, Palo Alto, Calif., arrived Sunday for a 10-day visit with Mrs. McClung's father, Dan Doran, and brother, Ray, and family.

Of interest to this district was the news of a son, John Gilbert, for the John Heberling family at San Jose, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richardson and children left Saturday morning for their home in Portland after several weeks visit here with parents and relatives.

Bartlett pear picking on Modoc resumed Monday after a few days off to allow the pears to acquire more sugar for weighing packing. The second picking of Bartletts began on Redskin Wednesday.

Myron, Harlow and Mae Johnson, Portland, visited the Everett Browns over the weekend.

Livestock Market Tour Slated Sept. 5 For 4-H Members

An educational tour for 4-H club members in livestock marketing has been set for September 5 in Portland, reports Cal Monroe, state 4-H extension agent at Oregon State college.

Exhibitors of 4-H market livestock at State Fair and other club members are eligible to participate in the day's events, which will be highlighted by sale of their 4-H animals at the Portland Union stockyards.

Oregon Farm Bureau Federation will truck Stage Fair animals from Salem to North Portland Tuesday, September 4. Other participants in the program are expected to have their animals at the stockyards by 7 a.m. Wednesday. The sheep market opens at 8 a.m. and the hog and cattle markets open at 9 a.m.

Club members will watch as their animals are sorted, weighed and delivered to buyers by commission agents, according to W. Y. Fowler, OSC livestock marketing specialist and chairman of the tour.

W. E. Williams, president of the Stockyards company, and Prosser Clark, secretary of the local livestock exchange, will explain marketing procedures to the group. The exchange is a voluntary organization of the commission firms at the stockyards.

Club members will arrive at the yards for breakfast September 5 at 7 a.m. Morning and noon meals will be provided by the stockyards and livestock exchange.

Visits to Swift and Company, the livestock exchange building and Kienow's market will complete the day's program and give club members information on distribution of meat products brand inspection and market reporting.

The forests are dry. Be sure that cigarette is out.
