

GRANGE

LIVE OAK GRANGE

Live Oak Grange regular meeting was held April 9 with all regular officers in attendance and Master Cassie Goldie presiding.

Two members of the Medford Chamber of Commerce addressed the Grange and asked for an expression of the Granges wishes in what they felt could best help the agriculturist. The Chamber is undertaking a program to help the farmer and is requesting the Granges in the valley to state along what line the Chamber could best serve their interests. The matter was turned over to Walter Kasworm for consideration and a report to be made by April 16.

The charter was draped in memory of Lester West of Rogue River who was killed in a logging accident in Butte Falls.

Betty and Woody Frantz were obligated in the first and second degrees.

Agricultural chairman reported egg prices steady, a slight drop in wholesale grain prices, and potato crops about 20% over last year with lower prices in view.

HEC announced a rummage sale and bazaar in the Grange Hall on Saturday April 18th. Grangers were also invited to Central Point Grange April 20th when they are celebrating their 25th anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson and Mrs. Florence Northrup of Wimer were guests.

Novel and attractive were the refreshments served individually in egg boxes by the hosts of the evening, Cassie and Joe Golding, Edith Coburn, Mrs. Hawks and Mr. and Mrs. Lenderman. Edna Sheehan

DEAR PATRONS OF RTE. 1:

Being this is a critical mail box in movement week, we wives, the members of the Rural Letter Carriers Auxiliary, help our husbands in this work.

Have you taken a drive on Sunday through the different communities and seen the mail boxes along the way? Of course, on the highway the stakes point the poles and keep them up, but on the country roads, the mail box is your property located to Uncle Sam so your mail can be delivered. Take a look at your mailbox. Does it do you credit? Is it so that it helps your carrier do a more efficient job without delay owing to open doors and reaching them?

A carrier is really proud of mailboxes pointed and names on them standing straight and sturdy along the way. He can point to them with pride and say "they belong to my patrons". Make your carrier proud of you.

Sincerely,

Ms. W. Hargitt
Member of ORLCA

PEE-WEE

Only the Hawks in the Brave's League of the Pee-Wee series remained undefeated this week as the Cubs led the Papoose division with five wins to two losses and the Tomahawks led the Warriors division with a like rating.

Most exciting game of the week, according to Roy Brown, coordinator for the Pee-Wees was between the Eagles and the Owls.

Last Thursday they played to a 11-11 tie and the next day went at it again hammer and tongs.

The Eagles were weakened by the loss of a couple of the boys whose scholarship kept them from playing.

The Eagles were leading but in the last few minutes the Owls came from behind and won 11 to 9.
