WASHINGTON REPORT (Continued from Page 2)

Washington, D.C. is a crowded city these days. I doubt if there is a hotel room available in town. Members of the Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the Women's Spring Conference of the Republican Party, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and perhaps some other organizations are convening here. Every day groups of high-school or college students, generally in chartered busses, are visitors to the Capitol. Members of Congress are pretty busy at this season of the year but none of them are too busy to meet and talk to people from their home districts. I am delighted to have a chance to talk to folks from Oregon. Maybe a few letters will not be answered as soon as they otherwise would be but aside from that the work of your Representative is not hampered. On the contrary, I feel it is most helpful to get the ideas and opinions of people from home.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

A surprise birthday party was given for Mr. Henry Baker on Saturday evening.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Hardin and family, Mrs. Ruth Davis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker and son, Mrs. Frances Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee.
