For Vice President, JOHN A. LOGAN. D. P. THOMPSON WARREN TRUITT J. C. LEASURE

A Valuable Thing for Miners.

A Colorado miner has suggested a new idea to H. N. Copp, the land lawyer and publisher of Washington, D. C., as to what is wanted by practical men in the mineral regions. The result is "Copp's Prospector's Manual," price 50 cents, now before us. It purports to enable a prospector to determine with reasonable certainty any mineral he may discover. Acid and blowpipe tests are given, in abundance. Considerable space is given to descriptions of gold, silver, copper, and other metals and their compounds, gems, paints, etc., with tables to determine all known minerals. In addition, it gives the United States and local mining laws to date, land office instructions, and valuable forms for location notices, miners' liens, proofs, leases, deeds, and applications for patent. Every enterprising business man and miner should have a copy.

By this arrangement the bourbons will have side by side the unrerecently uttered the vile slander on the dead Garfield, and the man who is opposed to educating the masses, and in favor of "applying the torch to every school house in the state." Such votes for Cleveland in the loyal north.

An officer attached to the Chinese consulate in New York does not give very encouraging reports for those who are eager to seek positions in the Chinese service. He says Americans are more favoraply regarded than officers of other nationalities, but the position with fat salaries are few and most of the posts of honor and profit are occuopportunities for Americans who had some knowledge of the Chinese tongue but the gang of adventurers who flocked to the Orient from all quarters of the globe has killed the goose that laid the golden egg.

The democratic candidate for vice president is canvassing his own state. Indiana is one of the doubtful states, so called, and Hendricks is abroad in the land, in the hope the rote over to him. How uncertain, however, Hendricks is of this consummation is best shown in his speeches. He fairly begs his audiences to vote for him, and discarding all consideration of the principles or issues involved in the election, bases his appeal for votes on any grounds that may secure them. He becomes really lachrymose in begging for votes on the score of neighboring ache introduces himself as the best sort of Knox and Waldo counties. a fellow, and hat in hand, as he says, implores their support. Now, apart from the very undignified spectacle be makes of himself, Hendricks' conduct discloses a fact. It discloses the fact that he is grievously doubtful of the result, and however ill-advised his course may be regarded, he has adopted it in the hope of saving at least his own state.
