Notice.

Parties knowing themselves indebted to the undersigned in cash or Coos Bay or Empire City Drug Store, are respectfully requested to settle their accounts at the respective stores up to January 1, 1885. [Jas] HENRY SENGSTACKEN.

John Thelin, late of Norway, this county, is located at Santa Cruz, Cal.

Ladies, did you see those Princess shoes at Sengstacken's Empire store? *

Judge G. W. Cooley, late of Curry county, is now a resident of Altamonte, Florida.

Fine selection of French candies just received at Sengstacken's Coos Bay drug store.

The Arcata left San Francisco for this place last Tuesday afternoon and will be due to-day.

"Infinity" and "Reason"—two communications—are crowded over. They will appear next week.

Miss Gussie Palmer of Scottsburg is on the bay, visiting her sister, Mrs. Capt. Hill, at North Bend.

Save money, time, trouble and risk by subscribing at New Variety store. We can furnish any periodical in the world.

Dr. Tower and Ren Smith have bought Bob Painter's ranch on Daniels creek, paying therefor the sum of $750.

F. P. Norton has added a new soda fountain to the New Variety store, with all the latest fancy drinks of the season.

Capt. Cliff Campbell and Manly Roberts, engineer, have the steamer Comet chartered and are now running her.

Our butchers are paying 6 cents for their beef and have no difficulty in getting a good article and all they want at that price.

New stock of clothing, dry goods and boots and shoes just received by Sengstacken at his Empire store. For sale at bottom prices.

Mrs. John Thelin has bought Mrs. Duffy's house and lot in this place and Mrs. Duffy is preparing to move with her family to Skagit county, W. T.

Episcopal services at Empire next Sunday, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., in the court house. Also at Ellensburg, Curry county, on Sunday, March 29.

"Brutus" had a good article in the News of last week under the caption of "Integrity." Practice that which you preach, "Brutus." "See" us and then send your partner.

The trout are biting some on Coos river, but they have not yet reached Ferin's on the north fork, for he always sends us some of the first, finest, freshest and fattest that bite at him.

The calico ball given at this place by the Chosen Friends last Tuesday night was a great success. The hall was full, the music was good, the dresses were gorgeous, and everybody had a good time.

Catching slough has a literary society that meets at the Union chapel at M. M. Stock's place. Persons from this place, Sumner and Coos river assist the local talent in enlivening the proceedings of the society.

A. M. Collier returned from Portland last week, where he recently graduated at a business college. After graduating and before coming home he visited his brother, O. G. Collier, at Boyd, in Wasco county.

The new school law has frustrated the calculations of the directors of this district in regard to the term of public school inaugurated to begin next month. It has been postponed and it is now uncertain when it will begin.

The sewing society will meet to-day. At its last meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Mrs. C. W. Tower, president; Mrs. J. W. Bennett, vice president; Mrs. H. R. Reed, treasurer; Miss Mary McNamara, secretary.

Little Sabina Kinyon has returned from East Portland, to which place she went on a visit with Mrs. S. S. Bailey three or four months ago. Of late Mrs. Bailey has been quite sick, and this hastened the child's return, who had intended to remain with her about six months.

Wm. Stock of the Coos Bay market threw 45 and won the nice rug made by Miss Helen Greene and Miss Blanche Bates and raffled at the New Variety store last Saturday night. Stock appears to be an expert with the dice. It was he who won the McLaughlin sewing machine raffled a short time since.

The gleamer Coos Bay brought from Nasburg & Hirst a large stock of boots and shoes, embracing all of the best makes. Among the lot we noticed some French kid dancing pumps that will find ready sale; and in fact this entire stock of boots and shoes will find ready sale, for they are being sold at remarkably low prices.

The only business transacted at the school meeting held at the school house Tuesday night was the election of a director to succeed Dr. McCormac. E. A. Anderson and Wm. Hall were placed in nomination and balloted for. Of the 22 votes cast Anderson received 12 and Hall 10. Anderson was declared elected and he at once qualified.

A private letter from Myrtle Point reports times as very dull on the river, owing to the stagnation in the lumber trade. The writer says the only stir in his locality is that made by cattle buyers and the locators of land claims. Yearling calves have been selling at $12 per head and two-year-olds at $15 to $20. About all that were for sale were bought and driven to the valley.

Special Notice.

Under the operation of the new school law, there will be no money left in the treasury for another term of public school in Marshfield before next September. The undersigned having been elected principal of the school for the coming year, desires to find out whether or not the people of the district want a private school till that time, or a term of private school commencing the first or second Monday in April. A three-months term will be started if the people want it, and are willing to give it sufficient support.

It is not my desire to organize a term unless liberal patronage be extended—sufficient to justify the starting of a good class of academic grade, as well as those of the lower grades. If you wish to continue the school till July, please notify the undersigned immediately, that he may have time to make the necessary arrangements. Unless such notice is given by a sufficient number there will be no further session till September. F. A. GOLDEN.
Marshfield, Or., March 18, 1885.

The New School Law.

We have been interviewing Dr. McCormac, county school superintendent, in regard to the effect of the new school law on our own and the other schools in the county.

Question—Have you a copy of the amendment to the school law? Answer—I have. It simply defines the duty of the school superintendent in making the apportionments of school money, and reads as follows: "He shall, on the third Monday in April and the third Monday in August of each year, make an apportionment of the entire school fund then in the county treasury in the following manner: Of the school fund in the treasury of his county that has been collected in pursuance of the school tax levy of the county court of his county, he shall apportion the sum of $50 to each of the several districts of his county that has reported to him as required by law, and all the balance of the school funds, of whatever nature, thereafter remaining in the treasury of his county shall be apportioned by him among the several districts of his county that have reported to him, as required by law, in proportion to the number of persons in the district over the age of 4 years and under 20 years; provided, that if, at the time of making such apportionment, there shall not be a sufficient sum of money in the treasury of his county, of the school funds collected in pursuance of the school tax levy of the county court of his county, to enable him to apportion to each district in his county that has reported to him, as required by law, the sum of $50, then in that case he shall apportion the entire amount of the school fund then in the treasury that has been collected in pursuance of the school tax levy of the county court of his county pro rata among such districts of his county as have reported to him according to law. As soon as he shall have made such apportionment he shall draw orders on the treasurer in favor of the districts for their respective shares, and immediately transmit the same to the clerks of the respective districts."

Q.—What will be the effect of this law on the Marshfield school? A.—It will reduce the amount of money received from state and county funds from $825 to less than $400, and, as it requires over $500 to conduct three months of public school, it will become necessary to levy a tax every year to maintain enough school to comply with the law, which requires at least three months of public school to be taught in each district to enable it to draw any funds from the state or county.

Q.—What effect will it have on other districts? A.—It will reduce the apportionments of Empire, Coquille City, Myrtle Point, and in fact all of the larger districts, and distribute the funds among the smaller ones. Several districts in the county have less than 20 pupils each; but each of these districts will receive nearly as much as this district, with 278 pupils.

Q.—What is your opinion of the law? A.—In my opinion it is a very unjust law, in that it does not secure the greatest good to the greatest number. The heaviest tax-payers are located in the thickest settlements, and by the old law the money paid by them for taxes came back into the district and paid for the education of the children in that district. Now that money is distributed among remote districts. While these property owners will be compelled to pay a special tax to enable the children of their districts to attend school for even three months in the year, small districts will now be able to maintain from four to six months public school on the apportionment received from the state and county funds. This is what the law was framed to accomplish, and to that extent it accomplishes much good. You can easily see why there is so much difference in the apportionments when I tell you that our county apportionments in March and August are about $2000 each. When $50 is set aside for each of six districts, but $350 remains to be distributed among 2300 children—about 15 cents in each pupil.

Q.—What do you think will be done in this district? A.—From a conversation had with the other directors, I think they will simply call upon the tax-payers to grant enough of a tax to make up the amount necessary to carry on three months of public school, unless it should be decided to put proper furniture in the school building, in which case they will endeavor to levy a 5 mill tax, which will raise about $1300. Of this sum, about $1000 will be required for the furniture, $150 to make up the deficiency in the school fund, and the balance for insurance, repairs, etc.

A Singular Case.

WHEELING, Feb. 26.—A singular but well-authenticated case is reported from Flemington, Taylor county, this state. Drs. Curry and Finley, two well-known reputable physicians, vouch for the truthfulness of the story. Five or six weeks ago a young man named Mower had a limb amputated because of the effect of a scrofulous disease. The amputated limb was put in a box and buried. Shortly afterward the remaining limb began to give Mower pain. The doctors contracted the leg being drawn back ward and upward until the heel touched the body. The pain was intense and nothing afforded relief. A neighbor advised the family of the sufferer to examine the buried limb. It was found in a cramped and strained position. It was straightened and reburied. From that hour the young man began to improve. His limb resumed its natural position and is now perfectly well.

The ridiculous article above quoted, and others similar to it, appear from time to time in the press and are accepted by the reading public as truthful statements of mysterious facts. We have taken the trouble to interview upon this subject physicians and some persons who have lost limbs, and the conclusion at which we have arrived is that the items above referred to are absurd and not borne out by facts. When a person loses a limb that is contracted before amputation, it is an undoubted fact that there is the sensation remaining of the limb still being there, and it still in the shape it was before amputation took place. This arises from the sensation made upon the nerves, which time blunts, until it finally disappears. It seems strange, in this enlightened age, that any one should believe that a dead limb, moldering in the ground, would have any influence upon the living parts remaining.

County Clerk Lamb, who had his leg amputated at this place some time ago, says that in the stump remaining he often experiences the same feeling that was there before the leg was taken off and when he carried it in a bent and cramped condition; but this disagreeable experience in his case is not attributable to the fact that his amputated leg was improperly or carelessly buried. Lamb's trouble increases when he exposes himself and takes cold, and the sensitiveness of the stump of his leg to sudden changes in the weather renders it advisable for him to take extra care to remain as free as possible from colds.

Another fallacy in the surgical line is that persons, after injury or fracture to the skull, are accustomed to go about the country wearing silver plates over the site of the injury; and we have heard truthful people assert that they knew of such cases as actually existing. This is as silly as the statement about the Flemington man's leg, for it is a fact well known to surgeons that the human body, as a general rule, will not tolerate any foreign substance. It is true, however, that a bullet in the body will sometimes become encysted and remain harmless.

These stories about resurrecting and straightening amputated limbs and wearing silver plates in the skull have been handed about by the press so long that it is time they were refuted, and any reputable surgeon will, we have no doubt, fully corroborate our statements.

Some idea can be formed of the rigorous winter in eastern Oregon when it is known that on the west side of the Deschutes river dozens of deer were found lying dead along the trails. The men who hunted stock on snow-shoes caught and marked the ears of many large mule deer, and when one was found that was fit for food the hunter had only to walk up to it and cut its throat. While the past winter has been unusually severe almost everywhere excepting in this part of Oregon, here it has been remarkably mild. We have had our regular rains; perhaps more than usual; but as to cold weather, we have had none, and not enough frost to stop the growth of grass. At this place we have had neither ice nor snow, and stock has kept beef fat all winter on the ranges in this and Curry county. R. C. Dement reports fine weather at his place above Myrtle Point, where the season is a month ahead of time, and that is about the situation all over the county. Dement says this has been the best winter for stock that has been experienced here since 1870.

The town board at its meeting Monday night passed an ordinance to improve Cedar street its entire width from the south end of the bridge at Third street to the north line of C street, near J. D. Garfield's residence. The ordinance was passed at the request of the property-holders along said street. The estimated cost of the improvement is $400, which is assessed upon the property along the street in the proportion of $10 70 for 50 feet frontage. The work will be prosecuted under the supervision of the committee on streets, and the sums assessed upon the lots will be due in 15 days from the passage of the ordinance.

The Steamer Coos Bay arrived from San Francisco last Sunday, after which she went to the Umpqua, retraced to Empire and sailed again for San Francisco on Tuesday. Her passengers were J. D. Klopstock, Ed. Backliff, G. Brown, John Smith, Henry Scharfenberg and Jas. Smith, and she took away Ed. Bumsted, John Hockettman, Andrew Neube, W. W. Wells, S. C. Rogers, Andrew Bagley, J. B. Taussig, F. G. Eaton, Jos. Bear, Wm. Glover, Wm. Gardner and John Larsen and wife.

The eclipse of the sun was perceptible here about 10 o'clock last Monday forenoon, but not so much so as to attract one's attention unless his attention was called to it, for at that time it only looked as if the Oregon mist had thickened a little and that we were going to have an unusually heavy shower. It was the return of the annual eclipse of February 13, 1831, and extended over a line from Cape Mendocino, Cal., in lat. 40, to Greenland, in lat. 71, over a path about 70 miles wide.

Empire City Items.

The new mill resembles a big beehive, all the men that can be worked to advantage being employed in and about it. It will probably be running by the 1st of July, though some people expect it to start sooner.

Charles Deitz of Myrtle Point is at Empire, tuning and repairing musical instruments of all kinds that need skillful manipulation. He expects to be in Marshfield next week, on a similar mission.

The only occupant of the county jail at present is Matt Tyner of Randolph, charged with stealing a watch from Robt. Bullard several weeks ago.

John Harding, late of Uter City, has a neat boot and shoe shop in the drug store building, where he keeps a good stock and does a thriving business.

The Empire public school, taught by Miss Florence Smith, with Miss Cynthia Rogers as assistant, is flourishing, with 63 pupils enrolled.

S. H. Hazard, Esq., had a rough-and-tumble tussle the other day, in front of the livery stable, with a lively team that started and wanted to go before the attorney was ready; but his pluck and perseverance prevailed, however, though to the detriment of his good clothes, which were torn and soiled, and one of his legs was cut by a nail in a board over which he was dragged.

While crossing a fence a few days ago Mrs. David Morse, Jr., received a hard fall and was severely hurt, but her numerous friends will be pleased to learn that she is now convalescent.

Sheriff Simpson carries his right arm in a sling, from the effects of a badly sprained wrist, the result of a fall at one of the stairways at the Blanco hotel the other night, when the sheriff was hunting his room in the dark.

The special school tax voted for the Empire district is now due and payable to the district clerk, who wants delinquents to settle and save him trouble and themselves extra costs.

The recent addition and other improvements made at the Pioneer market give the place an appearance commensurate with the business carried on there. Everything good for the inner man is kept at this market and sold at reasonable rates.

Ren Smith has resigned as deputy sheriff and gone to his Daniels creek ranch to put in a crop. W. H. Smith is Sheriff Simpson's new deputy.

Rev. H. P. Webb of Roseburg is expected to be at Empire next Saturday evening, to at that time begin a protracted meeting in the church there that will continue for three or four days. A week from Sunday Mr. Webb will probably preach in Marshfield place.

Our markets are importing cabbages from California and selling them at 2½ cents per pound. This may be necessary, and all right, but it does not seem to us that it should be so. The finest cabbages that we have ever seen have been those grown here, and to-day there are better cabbages standing in gardens in this town than those that come from California. At J. R. Lightner's residence may be seen some of them, and also some good heads that grew on stalks from which the first heads were cut last season. At Empire, the other day, in the garden at the Lockhart hotel, we also saw some nice cabbages that had remained there through the winter. This is not particularly due to the mild winter we have had, for the people who have these cabbages tell us that they have them in this way every spring. Then why should they be imported before ours would be gone if they had been raised? We are free to admit that California is a wonderful state, from which we should draw some supplies, but nature never intended this place for a cabbage and vegetable market for that state. Every year a vast amount of money goes from here to California for hay and vegetables. The most of this money should be kept at home by our farmers supplying the home market. If the drain can be stopped it should be stopped as quickly as possible. There is a reason for it. What is it?

An employee at North Bend, named Harry Johnson, had a boat capsized with him last Sunday afternoon, about halfway between this place and Centerville, while he was on his way home. From some cause or other Johnson was unable to work the sailing gear properly, and in jibing, over she went, when Johnson grabbed and held to the boat until Capt. Dunham went to his rescue with the steamer Coos and took him and his boat home.

Green Ferin gave a grand birthday party at his place on North Coos river last Saturday night. Everything was first-class and free and the large crowd in attendance had an extraordinarily good time. In regard to the birthday, Fern took time by the forelock. The birthday is yet to come, some time this spring, and it would be just like Fern to revoke this party and give another then on the "green."

A Public meeting was held at Wabashaw, Minn., recently, and it was determined to send Captain and Dr. Stone to Southern Oregon to "spy out the land." These gentlemen are now on the way to carry out their instructions. If their report be favorable on returning to Minnesota, they state quite a large colony will start for Oregon soon. These gentlemen state that the climate in winter in Minnesota is so very rigorous that a great many people about Wabashaw are disgusted with the country and are determined to come out to the "glorious west."—J. Reiley.

Ex-Senator Nesmith's condition shows a slight improvement and hopes are entertained that he will soon be able to return home and be cared for by his family.
