From a Local School Paper.

They have started up at the academy local school paper, which is read every Friday afternoon, by the pupils. It is made up entirely of editorials, locals and contributions by the scholars, and has for its aim their improvement in writing and composition. In the number of the 25th ult. appears a well-written article on the needs of our school, in so far as its furniture and apparatus are concerned. We quote this article entire, to show the importance that the scholars attach to the matter, and to suggest to "the powers that be" that a little money devoted to improving our school building and to more thoroughly equip it for the work it should do would
