Dime Social.

There will be a social at the Baptist church on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock sharp. The exercises will consist of singing, recitations, and a performance by Stanley's Dwarfs. These dwarfs were discovered by Stanley in Africa, and are of full human size but only two feet in height. They will sing native songs and dance religious dances. After the exercises there will be a go-as-you-please social, and everybody can be sure of a good time. The ladies will see that strangers are welcomed. Admission 10 cents. Everybody invited.

The political editor of the News has experienced a transformation which is unparalleled. He is extremely sensitive on the question of slurs and mud throwing, and makes a profession of charity which covers a multitude of sins. It makes no difference that his past policy has consisted of Just Mud Slinging and nothing more, and that his pronounced policy has been aggressive; now, you would think an uncharitable thought had never ruffled his lamb like breast. And won't some of the democratic contingent smile when they read his declaration that he wants to run nothing but the democratic party. It seems he wants to run that all the same.

J. W. and Mrs. Bennett returned on the Ajax, after an absence of several weeks, during which they visited several of the principal cities in Ireland, England and the U. S. of America, and were warmly welcomed. Mr. B. brought with him a fine breed of animal raised on the farm of Mr. Balaam of Palestine, and it is said the great grandfather of the brute could talk like a man, but this one hasn't made any remarks as yet, although if J. W. gets downright mad, it may tell him to "wipe off his chin" or make some other remark similar to the one used in the long ago by his historical predecessor.

Mrs. Angelina C. Keating, wife of D. B. Keating, died at Bay City on Tuesday, Feb. 25th, 1890, aged 56 years. Deceased was a native of New England, and was married to Mr. Keating in Boston, on Dec. 30th, 1852. Four years after their marriage they went to the West Indies where they resided for some time, and eventually came to Oregon and settled at Coos bay in 1862, where they have since resided. Mrs. Keating left no children, but was a good wife to her bereaved husband, and many friends on the bay will greatly regret her loss.

The weary, woe-begone look on the cheerful countenance of Postmaster Border is not the result of the failure of the mail to connect, but it arises from the fact that about three thousand letters came through on Saturday, and he was compelled to work pretty near all night and all day Sunday. The church Bro. Border belongs to don't allow any work on Sunday, and he was afraid he would lose his position as deacon. But it is all right now and he will get over it.

Washington's birthday came very much the same as any other day, and our citizens were oblivious of the fact that the "father of his country" first saw the light on the 22d day of February, but when the Arago came in about noon with flags flying, the day we celebrate was suggested, and flags were thrown out and George was appropriately remembered for half the day.

The schooner Gardiner City has been bought by the Simpson Lumber Company. She was built a short time ago for Joseph Knowland and others, but when she came to be measured it was discovered that she had a carrying capacity of 125,000 feet of lumber less than contracted for, and the people for whom she was built refused to take her.

The steamer Lillian is now running on the Empire-Marshfield route for freight and passengers. The following is her time-table: Leave Empire City for Marshfield, every morning at 8:30 o'clock, and every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock; leave Marshfield for Empire City, every morning at 10:30 o'clock, and every afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The Union party held a Convention at Coquille City last Thursday, and the following ticket was nominated: For representative, W. S. Vandenberg; for clerk, J. J. Stanley; for judge, J. H. Schroeder; for sheriff, J. W. Bonebrake; for assessor, John McKenna; for treasurer, Fred Schetter; for coroner, Dr. H. Dunham.

The M. E. B. A. masquerade came off on Saturday evening, and was a credit to the organization. The maskers were numerous, the attendance large, and the enjoyment rich. Everybody praised the management. The net proceeds amounting to $123.75, were donated to the widow of Walter Keating.

Parties who can get hay for their starving cattle and yet allow them to take their chances of living without, so as to save expense, ought to be severely punished. Some of the cattle about town ought to be fed and the expense taxed upon the owners.
Why do you allow your lungs to be worn out by colds when a fifty cent bottle of Dr. Murphy's Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry will give you immediate relief? For sale by all leading druggists and dealers in patent medicines.

Wm. Ross, of Pleasant Point fell from a scaffold which surrounds the new steamer at that place, on Saturday last, struck the edge of a scantling and broke his right shoulder blade. The fracture was reduced by Dr. Tower, and the patient will have to keep quiet for a month.
2000 pounds fresh garden seeds just received at Golden's, and offered cheaper than ever before.

Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

Notice.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Oakland Box and Barrel Manufacturing Company, held at its office on February 18th, 1890, the delinquency of the last assessment was postponed from February 19th, 1890, to March 1st, 1890, and the day of sale of delinquent stock, was postponed from March 10th, 1890, to March 27th, 1890.
T. P. STROOK,
Secretary.

Manager Hinchman returned on the Arago from San Francisco, where he has been making arrangements for the work of the coming season. Machinery has been ordered for a steamboat, and its construction will be commenced immediately. It will be about 60 feet in length, and adapted for towing, freight and passengers. A railroad on Coos river will be constructed at once. Two hundred and fifty tons steel T rails have been ordered, and a first-class locomotive and the latest and best model of cars. Manager Hinchman is full of business and means to crowd the work this season. Dandridge H. Bibb, the Managing Director of the California Lumber Company, has made a great business success in the establishment of a lumber yard in the city, and takes rank as one of the first operators in the lumber market in that city.

The Coos started down for Empire City on Sunday morning, and in making a landing at Porter, the strong ebb tide threw the steamer against the wharf and broke a hole in her side, through which the water came rushing with great velocity and quite a panic was created among the passengers who quickly landed, fearing the boat would sink before they could get ashore. The vessel was then run upon the mud flats, Fred Jarvis dived under the water and took a look at the hole, and it was found she was not badly injured. Capt. Manly Roberts was a passenger and became back to Marshfield and brought down the Comet, which took the passengers on to Empire.

Porter.
H. Laird gave us a call Tuesday. This is good weather for sap, but not sugar sap.
The Porter mill will start again Monday, March 3d.
Frank Thibault went to the city on the Ajax Tuesday.

H. N. Crain went up Coos river to make some needed repairs on his ranch.
Manager Hinchman arrived home on the Arago, looking much better after his trip.
Ten good men can find steady employment at the Porter mill, on and after March 3d.
C. L. Moon, our rustling real estate agent, has the grippe. I sympathize with you Charles.

Mr. Allman took charge of the store Monday, and will be pleased to see all of the stores many customers.
Work still continues on the water-works, and before the 1st of March Porter will have a fine water system.
Mr. Barnhisel expects to go to San Francisco on the next steamer. We regret very much to lose such sociable people and we all wish him immense success in his new undertaking.

Last Sunday as the steamer Coos was on her way to Empire, she concluded to go overland from Porter, but for some reason or other she failed. Guess the engineer slipped a cog. RAY L.

There are indications that the winter is about over. The spring fogs commenced Wednesday evening.
Immense quantities of snow are yet piled up in the mountains, and there is a possibility that we may yet have a second freshet.

Wm. A. Forgey came in from his mountain ranch the first of the week. He informs us that his sheep have fared much better than those along the coast, and that he has suffered no loss.
Uncle John Woodruff and Wm. Sutherland came down the river this week. Both were heavy losers by the flood, the latter suffering the loss of much of his bottom lands, while the former lost his house and much of his improvements.

The Frank Brothers have secured certain privileges from Mrs. Colebrook, at the Three Sisters, which will enable them to engage extensively in the tan-bark business at that place. They have also secured by lease three acres of land fronting the river at Bagnall's Ferry. The firm of S. H. Frank & Co. are the most extensive tanners in California, using not less than four thousand cords of tan bark each year, and their principal object in locating here is for the purpose of securing such bark, though it is hoped they may be instrumental in opening up other enterprises and making better times for Curry.

The Union Labor party unanimously adopted the following resolutions at the Coquille City convention:

"We, the delegates of the Union Labor party in convention assembled, declare the following:
"That we recognize with deep regret the fact that the wealth of this great nation is centralizing in the hands of the few; that vast corporations and trusts are being continually formed to the injury to the laboring masses; that riches corrupt our national congress, our state legislatures and our courts of law. We deplore the fact that the gulf between the rich and poor is continually broadening and deepening. That the rich are growing richer and the poor more miserable. Therefore,
Resolved, That we pledge our support to such principles as shall tend to the elevation of the masses and bettering the condition of the laborers of both sexes.

Resolved, That while we deplore the fact that the laborer often squanders his wages in the saloon, we yet ask our state convention not to adopt an extreme prohibition platform.
Resolved, That religion is only a relation between the individual and his Maker, hence we request our state convention not to abridge the free exercises thereof.
Resolved, That we advocate the principle that the government should own and operate the railroads, telegraph lines, express business and also its own banking.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to principles of justice and equality before the law of every American citizen and charity for all.
Resolved, That our delegates be instructed to present a copy of these resolutions to the coming state Union Labor convention."

Dispatches of February 29th, say: It has been raining or snowing right along on the Oregon line in Northern California for several days and new blockades occurred yesterday between Sisson and Edgewood, a stretch of about twenty miles near Mount Shasta. There have been several slides of mingled earth and snow loosened by the rains. Ashland is thus again cut off from communication by rail, which was afforded for a few days by transferring at tunnel 9, near Delta, after the rest of the line from Ashland south had been cleared. The storm kept up yesterday and further damage will probably be reported to-day. Eight inches of snow has fallen at Sisson yesterday morning and it was still snowing there.

The last three days have brought the company fresh trouble at tunnel 9, where a big landslide buried the track and the mouth of the tunnel several weeks ago. A large gang of men, with horses and carts, had got it pretty well cleared on Monday, and then the rains brought down another slide, and the pile of dirt was about as big as the start. It was then determined, as reported in the Chronicle, to try sluicing the small mountain of earth away by the hydraulic mining process. A complete hydraulic outfit was secured here, and Assistant General Manager Curtis went up with it yesterday. There is no convenient elevated water supply to which pipes can be laid to use the force of gravity, and so a powerful pump will be set up by the river close by to force the stream into the giant nozzle.

"The only occasion where the hydraulic process has ever been used in railroading before," said Car Service Agent George F. Richardson yesterday, "was several years ago, when a big slide of wet, heavy clay, which could not be handled with shovels, occurred at Towles, and the Towle brothers ran some pipes to the track and quickly sluiced it out.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—The present indications are that there will be another railroad blockade in the Sierra Nevada as great as the one experienced last month. Snow is falling furiously and despite all the efforts of the snow-plows and hundreds of shovelers it is piling up on the track. All trains have been halted or until further orders. There are nineteen locomotives at the scene used in pushing the three bucker plows. Two hundred and fifty men and a large supply of provisions were sent to the mountains to-night.

Louis Clemmenson returned from San Francisco on Monday, where he procured a fine brand of Danish liquor, known as Tusifer, manufactured by Kummén & Kornagav, and handled by Bronckton & Son, of Copenhagen, Denmark. Mr. Clemmenson formerly lived at that place and knows the brand as a superior liquor. Call at the Brewery and sample that and other brands.

Mr. W. H. Baldrige, druggist, Escondido, California, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best selling medicine I handle. In fact I sell more of it than all other cough medicines combined. Everyone who has used it speaks in glowing terms of its efficiency." For sale by H. Sengstacken, at Marshfield and Empire City.
