

Professional and Business Cards.

D. L. WATSON, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW.

S. F. WILSON, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

JOHN A. GRAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

S. H. HAZARD, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

W. SINCLAIR, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

J. W. BENNETT, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW.

JOHN F. HALL, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

NIGLIN & LUNE, LAW, REAL ESTATE, LOAN, BROKER-ERAGE AND COLLECTION OFFICE.

All Claims Against the Government Prosecuted.

Real Estate of all Descriptions for Sale.

C. W. TOWER, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

J. T. McCORMAC, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

J. D. SPONOGLE, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

A. M. EVANS, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

DR. H. E. DUNHAM, HOMOEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

J. G. COOK, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

DR. O. E. SMITH, SURGICAL AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

DR. F. H. NICKERSON, DENTIST.

A. P. CAMPBELL, CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR.

W. E. RICHARDS, COUNTY SURVEYOR.

J. F. WINTON, CIVIL ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR.

I. HACKER, INSTRUCTOR.

Flanagan & Bennett, BANKERS.

Capital in Business, $20,000; Surplus, $5,000.

We transact a general banking business, and draw on California, San Francisco, Cal.

Foreign money orders issued on 800 banks throughout Europe.

COAST MAIL.

VOL. XII. MARSHFIELD, OREGON, THURSDAY, AUGUST 21, 1890. NO. 37.

GRAY & HILL, Real Estate Brokers, MARSHFIELD, OR.

All Kinds of Property For Sale or Exchange.—Good Investments.—Persons Having Farms For Sale or Lands to Dispose of, will Do Well to Consult This Agency.

COOS BAY FAMILY MARKET, Front Street, Marshfield, Or.

ARCADIE SALOON! MARSHFIELD, R. M. HUTCHINSON, Proprietor.

THE NORTHWEST FIRE & MARINE INSURANCE CO.

City Drug Store! W. J. BUTLER, Prop.

JOHN KENYON, DEALER IN FANCY GOODS.

JOHN BEAR'S LIVERY STABLE, MARSHFIELD, OREGON.

DR. WOOD'S LIVER REGULATOR.

DR. WOOD'S VEGETABLE PANACEA.

R. MAIN, TAILOR.

THE SPRING CASSIMERES.

NICHOLAS LUNING, Death of the Well-Known Millionaire Broker.

Nicholas Luning, the many time millionaire, banker, broker and money-lender, died in his rooms at the Palace Hotel on Monday night, Aug. 11th.

Pioneer residents of the city remember the little building on Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento, where Mr. Luning once had his banking office.

Mr. Luning was born at Hamburg, Germany, in the year 1822.

Mr. Luning was a shareholder in the Bank of California.

He invested largely in real estate and gilt-edged securities.

His figure was a familiar one by reason of his custom of taking a daily walk, during which he inspected his various pieces of realty.

Deceased was about 68 years of age. His family consists of two sons, John and Oscar Luning, and three daughters.

Mr. Luning was well known in this county as the owner of the Newport Coal mine property.

Yesterday the apportionment of the school fund interest of the state among the thirty-one counties was completed.

Meigs was exonerated, but the author of the articles, who was the man who Meigs had refused $100,000 was never punished.

Meigs declared that the articles cost him $1,000,000.

Meigs then related the story of the articles in the Nationale, and at the conclusion added: "That man who just left is the man who asked for the loan and wrote the Nationale articles."

Salem Statesman: A newcomer from one of the storm ridden states of the West reached Oregon last year and purchased land near Salem on which was a nice young orchard.

WOOD and COAL always on hand, which will be delivered anywhere at the lowest rates.

Having just received a new hearse I am now prepared to take charge of funerals.

GRAND ARMY VETERANS. Speech of the President.

The grand army presented a magnificent spectacle as the procession nearly two miles long marched through Boston Nov. 12th.

Mr. Chairman and Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic—I have had impressions, both pleasurable and painful as I looked upon this great procession of veterans which swept through the streets of this historic capital to-day.

Mr. Walker, member of the well known firm of Staver & Walker, of Portland, was killed near Eugene last week.

It seems that the younger Powers boy, aged 18, had, in company with his cousin, killed two bucks on the mountain north of their house on Saturday.

Mr. Walker and George Witter, of Eugene, left the camp at the bridge a little later in the afternoon.

As neither party built a fire, for fear of alarming the deer, neither knew of the other's presence.

Tuesday morning, after watching until about 7 o'clock, Mr. Walker began to move up the trail, watching ahead all the time in hope of seeing a deer.

The Powers boy, looking down the trail from his stand, saw a slight movement as of a deer's head.

After the lapse of some minutes, and finding that Mr. Walker was really dead, the boys succeeded in placing his body upon their horse.

A runner was at once dispatched to overtake Mr. Powers, who had left the bridge in a large farm wagon about 8 o'clock to go to Eugene.

Mrs. Walker left the bridge at 10 o'clock with Mr. Friswell, who is the proprietor of the hotel there, arriving in Eugene at Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Powers and Dr. Harry Lane, superintendent of the state insane asylum, started for Eugene with the body, but owing to the roughness of the road and the distance, fifty-eight miles, were unable to arrive Tuesday night.

Two pair of horses were sent out to Eugene during the night to assist in bringing the body in, so it could be placed on the 9 o'clock train for Portland.

"All who know the circumstances of the accident," said Mr. Warner, "into in exonerating the boy of any blame or excessive carelessness in the matter.

The affair by all is regarded as a most deplorable accident, for which it is hardly possible to blame anyone under the circumstances.

Meigs was compelled to charter a steamer and take the commission to the works, all the time feeding them on the best the market provided at his own expense.

Meigs was exonerated, but the author of the articles, who was the man who Meigs had refused $100,000 was never punished.

Meigs declared that the articles cost him $1,000,000.

Meigs then related the story of the articles in the Nationale, and at the conclusion added: "That man who just left is the man who asked for the loan and wrote the Nationale articles."

Salem Statesman: A newcomer from one of the storm ridden states of the West reached Oregon last year and purchased land near Salem on which was a nice young orchard.

WOOD and COAL always on hand, which will be delivered anywhere at the lowest rates.

Having just received a new hearse I am now prepared to take charge of funerals.

ever occurred between them. He then and there entered into another railroad scheme with the audacious stranger which netted each of them $2,000,000.

Death of W. H. Walker.

W. H. Walker, member of the well known firm of Staver & Walker, of Portland, was killed near Eugene last week.

It seems that the younger Powers boy, aged 18, had, in company with his cousin, killed two bucks on the mountain north of their house on Saturday.

Mr. Walker and George Witter, of Eugene, left the camp at the bridge a little later in the afternoon.

As neither party built a fire, for fear of alarming the deer, neither knew of the other's presence.

Tuesday morning, after watching until about 7 o'clock, Mr. Walker began to move up the trail, watching ahead all the time in hope of seeing a deer.

The Powers boy, looking down the trail from his stand, saw a slight movement as of a deer's head.

After the lapse of some minutes, and finding that Mr. Walker was really dead, the boys succeeded in placing his body upon their horse.

A runner was at once dispatched to overtake Mr. Powers, who had left the bridge in a large farm wagon about 8 o'clock to go to Eugene.

Mrs. Walker left the bridge at 10 o'clock with Mr. Friswell, who is the proprietor of the hotel there, arriving in Eugene at Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Powers and Dr. Harry Lane, superintendent of the state insane asylum, started for Eugene with the body, but owing to the roughness of the road and the distance, fifty-eight miles, were unable to arrive Tuesday night.

Two pair of horses were sent out to Eugene during the night to assist in bringing the body in, so it could be placed on the 9 o'clock train for Portland.

"All who know the circumstances of the accident," said Mr. Warner, "into in exonerating the boy of any blame or excessive carelessness in the matter.

The affair by all is regarded as a most deplorable accident, for which it is hardly possible to blame anyone under the circumstances.

Meigs was compelled to charter a steamer and take the commission to the works, all the time feeding them on the best the market provided at his own expense.

Meigs was exonerated, but the author of the articles, who was the man who Meigs had refused $100,000 was never punished.

Meigs declared that the articles cost him $1,000,000.

Meigs then related the story of the articles in the Nationale, and at the conclusion added: "That man who just left is the man who asked for the loan and wrote the Nationale articles."

Salem Statesman: A newcomer from one of the storm ridden states of the West reached Oregon last year and purchased land near Salem on which was a nice young orchard.

WOOD and COAL always on hand, which will be delivered anywhere at the lowest rates.

Having just received a new hearse I am now prepared to take charge of funerals.

The dilatory action of the house, as compared to the work of the senate, is shown in the fact that up to the first of August the senate had passed 900 bills, and of these but 200 had become laws through the action of the house.

Death of W. H. Walker.

W. H. Walker, member of the well known firm of Staver & Walker, of Portland, was killed near Eugene last week.

It seems that the younger Powers boy, aged 18, had, in company with his cousin, killed two bucks on the mountain north of their house on Saturday.

Mr. Walker and George Witter, of Eugene, left the camp at the bridge a little later in the afternoon.

As neither party built a fire, for fear of alarming the deer, neither knew of the other's presence.

Tuesday morning, after watching until about 7 o'clock, Mr. Walker began to move up the trail, watching ahead all the time in hope of seeing a deer.

The Powers boy, looking down the trail from his stand, saw a slight movement as of a deer's head.

After the lapse of some minutes, and finding that Mr. Walker was really dead, the boys succeeded in placing his body upon their horse.

A runner was at once dispatched to overtake Mr. Powers, who had left the bridge in a large farm wagon about 8 o'clock to go to Eugene.

Mrs. Walker left the bridge at 10 o'clock with Mr. Friswell, who is the proprietor of the hotel there, arriving in Eugene at Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Powers and Dr. Harry Lane, superintendent of the state insane asylum, started for Eugene with the body, but owing to the roughness of the road and the distance, fifty-eight miles, were unable to arrive Tuesday night.

Two pair of horses were sent out to Eugene during the night to assist in bringing the body in, so it could be placed on the 9 o'clock train for Portland.

"All who know the circumstances of the accident," said Mr. Warner, "into in exonerating the boy of any blame or excessive carelessness in the matter.

The affair by all is regarded as a most deplorable accident, for which it is hardly possible to blame anyone under the circumstances.

Meigs was compelled to charter a steamer and take the commission to the works, all the time feeding them on the best the market provided at his own expense.

Meigs was exonerated, but the author of the articles, who was the man who Meigs had refused $100,000 was never punished.

Meigs declared that the articles cost him $1,000,000.

Meigs then related the story of the articles in the Nationale, and at the conclusion added: "That man who just left is the man who asked for the loan and wrote the Nationale articles."

Salem Statesman: A newcomer from one of the storm ridden states of the West reached Oregon last year and purchased land near Salem on which was a nice young orchard.

WOOD and COAL always on hand, which will be delivered anywhere at the lowest rates.

Having just received a new hearse I am now prepared to take charge of funerals.

Miscellaneous Advertisements. E. A. ANDERSON. LIVREY AND FEED STABLE.

RITZMAN'S BOOT AND SHOE STORE. FULL LINE OF Ladies', Gent's and Children's Boots and Shoes.

CENTRAL HOTEL. Corner of Front and A streets, MARSHFIELD, OREGON.

BLANCO HOTEL. Front Street, Marshfield, Or. J. L. FERREY, Proprietor.

WESTERN HOTEL. Front street, Marshfield, Or. PAUL BARTHOLEMY, Proprietor.

The Arago Hotel, EMPIRE CITY, OREGON. MRS. A. H. MOORE, PROPRIETRESS.

UNION Furniture Company. CABINET-MAKERS and UNDERTAKERS. Front Street, Marshfield, Or.

FURNITURE STORE, Empire City, Or. GILBERT & EVENSON, Proprietors.

R. MAIN, TAILOR. A NICE LOT OF CASSIMERES. THE SPRING CASSIMERES. GOOD FITS WARRANTED.

STEAMER MAGGIE ROSS. Freight from San Francisco to Coos Bay. E. E. HINCHMAN, Agent, Porter, Coos County, Oregon.

JOHN SNYDER'S MEAT MARKET. Families, hotels, vessels and logging camps furnished with the best of all kinds of meats.

J. H. Roberts & Son, DEALERS IN GENERAL MERCHANDISE. Myrtle Point, Or.

C. M. VOLKMAN, COMMISSION MERCHANT. No. 421 Front street, Near Washington, San Francisco, Cal.

DR. WOOD'S LIVER REGULATOR. A VEGETABLE PANACEA PREPARED FROM ROOTS & HERBS.