WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 .- Among those who defended the duty on lumber in the rather lively debate to-day were Senators Allen, of Washington, and Dolph and Mitchell, of Oregon Senator Allen said the lumber industry was one of the greatest in his state and quoted statistics to show the growth of the business from 1850 to 1890. The production was 60,000,000 from 1860 to 1870, 125, 000,000 from 1870 to 1880, 250,000,000 from 1880 to 1890. The shipment of shingles alone was 1500 cars last year. Senator Dolph claimed that the tariff was not for one state or several states. There were many industries that Oregon was not directly interested in, yet they were for protection. Lumber was one in which the state had great interest involved and he expected that it would be protected by the paternal system of the government on the basis of what helped one helped all. He had no patience with the men of his side of the chamber the sappers and miners, who were try ing to undermine the protection system Senator Mitchell referred to the cheap Chinese labor of British Columbia which came into competition with the people of the Pacific coast and the costly transportation would endanger the lumber interests of both Oregon and Washington without protection. Only three rement, Washburne, Plamb and Paddock The democrats were all against free lumber.

The present appearances are that free augar will go by the board The substitute proposed in the senate for the bouse bill fixes the duties on all sugars between No. 13 and No. 17 at 1% cents a pound. This rate of protection is much better for our beet-sugar interest than the bounty which the house bill proposed as a substitute for duties on Agent for Coos county, Oregon.

Mr. Manderson thinks with Mr. Spreckels, of this state, that within a few years enough beet sugar will be produced in the United States to supply the entire demand for home consump tion. Is in not better to give our farmers a new and profitable branch of industry than to seek to make markets for grain and meats in foreign countries?
