TRAVEL BY SEA

Arrivals by Alliance from north. Aug. 5: Geo W Ellis, M A Welch, B P Welch, W E Rountree, Miss Grilla, Sam'l Maraden, L Wise, E M Gallier, J E Flint, H Madden, Mrs M A Madden, L Samuels, J A Lennon, Peter Loggie, A J Frost, Axel Westman, John Jackson, M Wallace.

Following parties have purchased tickets on the outgoing Alliance, which sailed Tuesday for Eureka: T D Cummins, J P Cummins, C A Garson, T J Taylor, Della Steckel, Edith Howell, Mrs A J Campbell, Reta McCormack, Chas Zahn, A Garcia, P Pazo, Claude Nasburg, Fred Kruse.

The Alliance arrived from Portland Monday and sailed for Eureka Tuesday. She took no through business for San Francisco as the intention was to turn back from Eureka unless conditions in the city should change.

The Arcata arrived from Eureka Tuesday, not having gone south of that point. She sailed on Wednesday for San Francisco, Captain Nelson expressing confidence that her freight could be handled, in some manner, and if the sailors should leave a crew could be secured sufficient to navigate the ship.

The Alliance was scheduled to arrive from Eureka at noon today on her way to Portland.

NORTH BEND

The Volunteer sailed Wednesday night.

Mrs. Bressam left for her home in S. F. Cal., Wednesday.

Miss Quigley of Ray City, visited friends here the first of the week.

Ole Johnson left Thursday for his home in Spring Valley, Wisconsin. Wilbur Mettler is suffering from what seems to be an attack of rheumatism.

J. A. Lennon and Peter Loggie have returned from South Bend, Wash., and have taken up their old positions here.

Quite a number of our young folks went to Marshfield Wednesday, to witness the launching of the boat there.

Another new dynamo came on the Alliance. North Bend has a fine plant now and the lights are strictly first class.

Mrs. Kriebel's afflicted eye is not improving as rapidly as we would wish and she is thereby suffering much pain.

Robt. Simpson Jr., did his first work since his escapade with the donkey engine here, this week, tallying piles for the Volunteer.

Peter Johnsen a sailor on the Volunteer, fell into the hold of the ship while loading her and received serious injuries. He was taken to the hospital in Marshfield Tuesday evening.

M. P. Pendergrass has the contract for carrying the mail between Marshfield and this place, and the new time schedule took effect Aug. 1. The mail now comes and leaves in the morning.

Mrs. Saltus, Mrs. and Miss Vaughan, Miss Simpson, and Mrs. Turpen, left Monday morning for Bandon where they attended the Teacher's Institute. The first three named returned Wednesday and report having a very delightful as well as profitable time.

FOUR MASTED SCHOONER

DAVID EVANS LAUNCHED

The four masted schooner which has been building at the yard of the Pacific Shipbuilding Co. here was successfully launched Wednesday afternoon at a few minutes before 6 o'clock. As she slid gracefully and majestically down the ways she was christened by little Irene Preuss. She is named David Evans after a prominent Humbolt mill man and ship owner, now deceased.

She is the largest and finest vessel ever built on the bay and presents a beautiful appearance as she rests lightly on the water. When ready for sea she will take 1200 piles, which are being put in by Noble & Sons. The piles are being brought over the hill from Pony slough, three donkey engines being used on the route. They are then brought down on the logging railroad.

CENTENARY M. E. CHURCH OF PORTLAND

How its Last Four Pastors Met Unusual Deaths.—Other Troubles

Superstitious folk can discover material for sending shivers along their backs in a series of events that are certainly strange. The Centenary Methodist church, of Portland, has lost no less than four pastors, each having a violent death. Simply coincidence, perhaps.

Pastor Dennison died of heart failure. Dr. Bushong was about to leave the Centenary church for Alaska when he was attacked by paralysis of the heart. Rev. Crawford R. Thorburn died suddenly of spotted fever. His father is Bishop of India and the minister had just returned from the land of the Hindoo when he became ill and died suddenly from a fever he probably contracted in the far East. Last month, Rev. George W. Gue, pastor of the church, dropped dead of heart disease while going to greet some friends on an incoming train. The very suddenness of these deaths places them in the category of violent. Rev. Thomas Boyd, another pastor, is said to have resigned sometime ago because he was heart sick and weary of the dissensions among his flock. These dissensions took the form of law suits over property left by the late James Abrams.

The mention of the Abrams estate brings forward another chapter in the series of strange events. Mr. Abrams died wealthy and it was through his worldly goods that the Centenary church had its beginning. Abrams was an ardent Methodist and is said to have hated the Catholic church in a manner not charitable. Through his wealth a magnificent college building was erected at University Park, the intention being to make it a Methodist institution. A fine Methodist hospital was built at Mount Taylor. Here enters the irony of fate. Both the college and the hospital proved financial failures, and last June each was acquired by Catholic organizations. It was only a few weeks ago that the clerk of the Centenary church sued the church for performing duties which he claimed were carried out in his legal capacity—for he is a lawyer.

UNFORTUNATE SAILOR FINDS WATERY GRAVE

Falls Overboard from Str. Alliance off Columbia Bar and is Lost

M. Matson, a sailor on the Alliance was lost on the last trip of that steamer from Portland. The accident occurred at 8:55 Monday morning, after the steamer had crossed the bar coming out.

The unfortunate man was engaged in putting the lashings on some beer kegs which were carried on deck. Standing on top of the pile, near the rail, he lost his footing and fell overboard, a life buoy and a couple of planks were thrown overboard, before the steamer got fairly away from the man. He was swimming high and the officers of the boat had no idea but that he would keep afloat until they could pick him up.

The steamer was stopped and turned as soon as possible and ran back, launching a boat, but the man had disappeared, and after spending some time in a fruitless search the boat was obliged to continue on her way.

It is supposed that the man was seized with a cramp and went down almost within reach of assistance.

Matson was a single man. He shipped from San Francisco, where a sister resides.

The Land Lottery

The last act in the opening of the Indian lands in Kiowa-Comanche reservation began Wednesday, when winners in the lottery were allowed to file their claims. It is estimated that from 200 to 3000 claims drawn at the lottery will never be filed on. The auction sale by the federal government of town lots at Anadarko, Hobart, and Lawton began and at each place thousands of people have waited for days for the opportunity to purchase lots and begin business.

GUN-CAPTAIN J. FELCHER

WILL LECTURE IN MARSHFIELD

Arrangements have been made by Rev R. C. Lee, to have Gun-Captain J. Felcher, of the Battleship Oregon deliver an address in the Methodist church in the course of next week. Captain Felcher served the Oregon's six gun's in the battle at Santiago. He has the honor of having sunk one of the Spanish fleet by a well directed shell and was personally congratulated for his accuracy of aim.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES

Special to the Coast Mail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Nearly 1000 marine cooks and stevedores, quit today. 120 apprentices at the Union Iron Works also quit, only 25 remaining at work.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 9.—There is little chance of a settlement of the steel strike. Non-union men who were to reopen the Panometer mill were won over by the strikers. It is expected that the Amalgamated Association and Federation and American Federation will co-operate, when the tie-up will be completed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—The police are convinced that John Masters is a robber of the Western Lumber Co's office in Portland, Or., when $5000 were secured by a bold daylight hold-up. He asks repatriation.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 9.—Sixty girls camped at Catskill were poisoned by canned corned beef. They will recover.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—James McDonald has given himself up here, confessing to the robbery of the Western Lumber Co's office in Portland, Or., when $5000 were secured by a bold daylight hold-up. He asks repatriation.

BRACMONT, TEXAS, Aug. 9.—An S. P. train fell through Keith lake bridge. All of the 30 passengers were saved by fishing parties.

Thunder and Lightning

Marshfield was visited Tuesday evening by a genuine full-grown thunder storm, but no damage was done so far as heard from. Showers followed until morning and freshened the grass and atmosphere. The storm was of considerable extent and was heavy in the Willamette valley.

Don't Rush the Can

The Centerville Dairy is educating hundreds of families to have their milk and cream delivered at their home and customers can easily see where they have been wasting life away by rushing around with a milk can. We are constantly increasing the number of cows and adding new customers every day.

A SUPPOSED LANDS

VICTIM HEARD FROM.

George Thompson, the man who left the grip and fur overcoat with Photographer Hicks, and who it was thought by many that Landis had murdered, has been located by our sheriff up in Washington, and is expected to be here again soon.—Coquille Herald.

Tenmile items received too late.

Those returning from the teachers' institute at Bandon report a magnificent success.

The G. A. R. encampment at Myrtle Point is reported to have been most successful and enjoyable.

Sam Marsden returned this week from Wilkinson, Wash., where he has been visiting a sister, Mrs. A. Bradshaw.

In anticipation of reaping a rich harvest during the fair many fairs are congregating at Marshfield. Look out for them.

Dr. J. G. Goble, the optician is now in Coos county on a professional visit. He will visit all the towns in the county during August. If you need glasses wait for him. He guarantees all his work to be satisfactory. Watch this paper for further announcements, dates, etc.

WHO HAS LIED

V. G. London, president of the fair association requests the MAIL to publish the following notice. It should be given the widest publicity to head off false reports.

A report has gained circulation that no premiums for exhibits will be paid at the District Fair to be held at Marshfield beginning Aug. 27th. That is entirely erroneous as the state appropriation of $900 per year can be used for no other purpose. This amount at least will be paid to exhibitors of livestock and for pavilion exhibits on that occasion, and reports to the contrary should not be credited as they are without foundation.

A Daily Paper For Marshfield.

THE DAILY COAST MAIL TO BE ISSUED DURING THE COMING FAIR.

During the five days of the coming fair a full-fledged daily paper will be issued by the COAST MAIL. It will be called the DAILY COAST MAIL and will be 9 x 12 inches in size, 16 pages. A condensed press report of the world's news will be received by wire every evening, the day's doings at the fair will be written up, also the local news. The paper will be set up and printed at night and issued in the morning. This will be the first fully developed daily ever issued in Coos county, and the project is receiving the strong approval of every one to whom it is mentioned.

The plans for this enterprise are fully matured and sufficient patronage is already pledged to make it a certainty that the paper will be issued as announced.

Every morning a copy of the paper will go to each business house in town, and the MAIL will have a representative at the fair grounds whose business it will be to put a copy into the hands of every one visiting the fair.

Subscriptions for the five days of the life of the DAILY COAST MAIL will be received at 25 cents each. Every postmaster in Coos Co. is authorized to receive subscriptions and forward them to this office. To insure receiving the five issues, subscriptions should reach us not later than Saturday, Aug. 24th. The price has been placed within the reach of all, though, the paper not being admitted as second class matter, each copy mailed will require a 1 cent stamp.

The COAST MAIL will be at considerable expense in the carrying out of this project, but believes that recompense will be found in the approval of the wide-awake and progressive people of Coos county.

We will show the people that Marshfield can get out a daily paper as well as other towns.

It is part of the plans of the COAST MAIL to establish a daily paper in Marshfield as soon as the time is ripe. The interest shown in this fair daily will furnish a good indication as to what support can be expected from the people of Coos.

And now, gentle reader, if you want to enjoy the novel sensation of reading a daily paper printed in Marshfield, containing the latest telegraphic news, fair news, and local news, your subscription will be received here with the liveliest appreciation.

If you wish to show your appreciation of this bit of newspaper enterprise send in your twenty-five cents, in coin or stamps. You will get your money's worth and help the prospects for a regularly established daily here.

SPECKLES PUTS HIS HAND TO THE PLOW

Will Build Fine Steamer Here and Will Put Two on the Run

It is learned from a source of unimpeachable reliability that the late visit here of Mr. Samuel, representing Speckles & Co., will have results big with importance to Coos Bay.

The plans of Speckles & Co., which have been fully decided upon, and which are only temporarily interfered with by the strike, include the placing of two large steamers to run between here and San Francisco and the operation of the Beaver Hill mine on a scale not before attempted.

The Czaria is now making her last trip to the sound and will be placed on this run at once. As soon as the strike situation improves sufficiently the keel will be laid in the Marshfield yard for the finest steamer ever on this run, for the Speckles. She will be of large size, splendidly fitted up for passenger accommodations, and will have a speed of 17 knots an hour.

These steamers and perhaps others, will carry coal from the Beaver Hill mine, which will be worked up to a production of about 500 tons per day.

The fact that the Speckles are turning their energies in this direction to the extent indicated means a great deal more for Coos than appears on the surface, and the next year will show changes of great importance.

False Alarm

An alarm of fire was turned in Tuesday evening and the fire boys turned out and had their apparatus in motion before the bell had fairly stopped ringing. After making a record run to D. L. Rood's residence on the hill, where the fire was supposed to be, they learned that there wasn't any fire. Much indignation was expressed by the victims of some one's excitability.
