MOTTOES OF STATES.

HOW MANY OF THEM, WITH THEIR MEANINGS DO YOU KNOW?

The Great Seal of the United States Was Designed by an Englishman, Who Also Suggested the Motto Adopted, "E Pluribus Unum."

If you desire to have fun with a reduced acquaintance, ask him simple questions about his country, its history, its present condition, political divisions, geographical lines, climatology, etc., and the questions that any scholarly man answer Dr. Knowall will grumble obscenely over, often getting a bad salt. There is one question that I have seen Dr. I. buy one answer book. "What are the mottoes of the seventeen states of the Union and their meanings?" A clever man may name that of his own state and guess at those of three or four of the more important sister states, but he is unlikely to know the meanings of any that are in the original Latin. Try some able professor in a crowd and see him founder.

Ask the professor if he knows that the great seal of the United States was designed by an Englishman, Sir John Prestwich, who also suggested the motto, "E Pluribus Unum?" Our atheist men had failed to propose anything acceptable. Franklin, Jefferson, Adams, Lafayette, Madison and others wasting nearly four years on the task.
Franklin proposed Moses dividing the Red Sea with this motto, "Rebellion to Tyrants is Obedience to God;" Adams proposed the choice of Hercules and Ishmael the children of Israel in the wilderness. Doesn't it seem funny?
None of the suggested mottoes were "Homo vel Pax" (For War or Peace),
"Sic Semper," (Moreover), "Deo Exente" With God's Favor, "Virtus Sola Invicta" Virtue Alone Invincible, etc.
After all comes the Englishman's design was adopted, and it yet remains the motto of the United States.

If the professor is familiar with the history of the great seal, ask him what he sees to say of the reverse, and chances are nine to one that he cannot recollect this unfinished pyramid, the eye in the triangle, the glory projecting from the center over the eye, "Annuit Cœptis" (God favors the Undertakers) and that under all, "Novus Ordo Seclorum" (A New Series of Years). The obverse of the great seal, with its splendid eagle, the bundle of arrows, the olive branch, the 13 stripes, the 13 stars, the glory breaking from the clouds and the "E Pluribus Unum," is magnificently American, but the pyramid, the desert, the forbidding Europeansky and the eye in the triangle on the reverse are simply horrible.

The great seal of the Confederacy by a strange arbitrament of fate was never used. It was made in England and reached Richmond about the time of its evacuation by the armies of the lost cause and the Confederate government. Its motto was "Deo Vindice" (God Maintains). The seal is a handsome silver die about three inches in diameter, bearing an equestrian portrait of Washington after the statue in Richmond, surrounded with a wreath composed of cotton, tobacco cigar cane, corn, wheat and rice—the principal products of the Confederate states. It cost in England about $300, with press, wafers, seal papers, wasilk cords, etc. It was presented to the state of South Carolina about 1867 and is kept in the office of the secretary of state.

Ask the professor if he remembers that Minnesota, founded by Americans, is the only state in the Union that has a French motto. The one originally selected and ordered engraved was Latin, but the die was spoiled and the French substitution adopted, "L'Etoile du Nord" (The Star of the North). Does the professor recall that Montana is the only state with a Spanish motto? Strange that far traders should have adopted "Oro y Plata" (Gold and Silver). If you say that one state has a Greek motto, he probably will do some pretty hard thinking before answering that it is California. "Eureka" is believed to be Greek for "I have found." The only Italian motto belongs to Maryland, and it originally belonged to the Calvert family. "Fatti Maschi, Parole Femine" (Deeds Are Males, Words Females). To be a trifle plainer, "Manly Deeds, Womanly Words." Ask the professor if he knows that Washington is the only state with an Indian motto.
"All K" is pure Chinook for by and by in the future or hereafter. Exchange.

The Plucky Rector.

Dr. W. S. Bainsford had started a school in school in the back rooms of a saloon on Avenue A and at one of the first sessions found a big ruffian in possession, greatly to the discomfort of the teacher. Told to go out, the fellow informed Dr. Bainsford with an air that he would see him further first. The doctor talked peacefully enough to the blackguard, hoping to avoid a disturbance, but when he swore at him again gave him his own medicine in a blow that felled him like an ox. The fellow arose, dazed and groping, to find the doctor standing over him, ready to have it out.

"Have you got enough?" he asked.
The man cried quits and went his way.
The Sunday school session proceeded.

A week later there was another fight.
The rector started in to clear the room, persuasion having failed, and found the burly ruffian of the previous encounter at his elbow.

"I thought I was in for it," he said, telling of it, "and that they had come to clean me out. I made sure my back was free and turned upon them. Imagine my surprise when I saw my customer of the week before grab the other by the neck and rush him to the door."

"Here!" he said, "Bring him out, the rector and I can clean out this saloon!"
That was the last fight we had.—
