

The Claymoore

C. A. Moore will re-open his saloon, the "Claymoore," today. It has been newly painted, papered and decorated, and presents a handsome appearance. J. R. Rochon, who did the work, understands the intricacies of color combinations, and brings out a harmonious whole. The back rooms of the saloon are not yet quite finished, but will be pushed to completion.

Two enclosed arc lamps will light the front and back divisions of the establishment. These are the first lamps put in here on the alternating current and are something new and novel. They are arc lamps adapted exclusively to indoor use and furnish a brilliant but beautiful light. Mr. Friedburg will undoubtedly be called upon to put in more of them in the town.

It has been reported here that D. E. Norton has been granted an increase of pension to $12 a month. This appears to be an error. Mr. Norton is a veteran of the Mexican war and is now an inmate of the National Soldiers Home near Los Angeles. Robt. Starkey, himself a Mexican war veteran informs the MAIL that Mr. Norton has been receiving a pension of $12 for the last eight years, and that as this is the highest pension allowed for service in that war there could be no increase.

F. S. Dow, who has just returned from San Francisco, reports that a prosperous year in California has made a lively demand for lumber in the interior of the state, and stocks are disposed of as fast as they arrive.

A. M. and A. T. Colver, proprietors of the Clover Leaf creamery on Catching slough have concluded not to operate their creamery this Summer, and will send their milk to the Coos Bay creamery.

R. F. Twombly went to the Coquille Monday to rustle for the COAST MAIL. He struck Myrtle Point first, and when the mail left there yesterday he was still alive and able to send in a string of new subscribers.

The ladies and members of the Baptist church will give a clam social Saturday evening at the room next door to George & Tibbits, beginning at 5 p. m. The bill of fare will appear in Saturday's paper.
