Mr. Merchant Better.

C. H. Merchant, who has been confined to the house for several days was reported considerably better yesterday. His ailment was neuralgia in the region of the heart and it culminated Friday evening in a very severe attack which, but for prompt relief might have had serious results. Yesterday the neuralgia seemed to be leaving the chest and the pains had nearly ceased, and he was feeling much better.

But for Friday's attack, Mr. Merchant accompanied by Mrs. Merchant and daughter, Miss Lillie would have gone to San Francisco with the intention of taking quite an extensive tour, including a trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

This trip will probably be taken later, when Mr. Merchant has gained strength, and will undoubtedly do him much good, besides being a pleasant and well-earned vacation.

The Pending Deal.

M. J. Kinney, an Astoria capitalist, accompanied by T. V. Ward of Michigan, arrived on Coos Bay Monday morning and were in Marshfield with R. E. Shine, manager of the Southern Oregon Co., Monday afternoon. It is generally understood that these gentlemen are at the head of the corporation that has an option on the S. O. Co.'s property in this county. They both express themselves as being favorably impressed by Coos Bay but declined to make any statement for publication in regard to their business here.

Mr. Kinney at one time owned the M. J. Kinney cannery at Astoria, which was, before it burned about six years ago the largest salmon cannery in the world. He also owns the controlling interest in the Clatsop Mill Co. at Astoria. He left Marshfield on the Flyer Monday on his way back to Astoria. Mr. Ward expects to remain in Coos county about a month looking over the situation here.

The citizens of Empire City are in a very cheerful frame of mind over the prospects that the big mill may pass into the hands of people who will operate it. It will be a good thing, not only for Empire but for the whole Bay, if the S. O. Co. sells, but to some one who will do something with the property.

Quick Work.

The Arcata Arrived Monday morning and landed for the first time at the Standard Oil Co's. warehouse. Agent F. S. Dow and his assistants, Miss Mamie Mahoney and Jay Taylor were prepared for the worst, and it is well that they were, for the very unusual quantity of 80 tons of freight was piled out of the steamer and into the warehouse.

To sort this, check it and deliver it to the teamsters was a task that kept Mr. Dow and his force on the jump all day, and the teamsters were kept on the move until the last package was delivered. Eleven hours work disposed of the 80 tons of miscellaneous merchandise, and this looks like a good record for the new agent. The free delivery feature seems to give general satisfaction.

Japanese Archers.

In Japan archers test their arrows by balancing them on the nails of the second and third fingers of the left hand and rapidly twirling them by the feathered end with the fingers of the right hand. If the arrow makes a whirling sound, it is crooked and must be straightened.

Speaker Coming

J. D. Lee, of Salem, will address the citizens of Marshfield in support of the Republican ticket on May 16th. Mr. Lee is Superintendent of the State Penitentiary, and his appointment to that office is one of the acts of Governor Geer which reflect the greatest credit on his administration. For Superintendent Lee is a gentleman of the highest character. He is also a pleasant and entertaining speaker, and should be greeted by a large crowd when he speaks here.

OBITUARY

Died at the residence of her son, Rev. F. E. Scofield, Dora, Coos Co., Oregon, April 27, 1902, Mrs. Mary Scofield (more familiarly known as Grandma Scofield), aged 83 years, 10 months and 26 days. The deceased was buried April 30 in the Dora cemetery by the side of her husband, Wilson Scofield who died Oct. 29, 1862.—Rev. C. A. Stockwell, pastor M. E. church of Myrtle Point, officiating. Grandma Scofield leaves three children, —Francis E. Scofield, Dora, Or.; Mrs. Ruth A. Baker, Belvidere, Ill.; and Mrs. Loretta J. Russell, Lacomb, Canada; to mourn her loss, besides seventeen grand children, eight great-grand-children and a host of friends.

Mary Scofield was born in Warren Co., N. Y. May 31, 1818. When 14 years old she moved with her parents to Chautauque Co., N. Y., settling near Dewittville. At the age of 19 she was converted and joined the M. E. church, of which church she remained a member till her death; her last membership being at Forest Grove, Or. On Nov. 4, 1838 she was married to Wilson Scofield; four children blessed their union. In 1839 they moved to Webster Co., Iowa; from there to Lincoln Co., Kansas in 1870, being one of the pioneers of that county, and remaining there till after 1874, the great grasshopper year. Seeing their crops and fruit trees destroyed they became discouraged and said: "We are getting old; we will go where life is easier and fruit is plenty." Hence they journeyed to California, staying two years in the Sacramento valley, and then, with their only son and his family, moving to Oregon where they finally settled on homesteads in Coos county. Here Wilson Scofield lived long enough to gather apples from trees his own hands had planted, and here Mary Scofield lived on in widowhood, greatly beloved and respected by her neighbors, for nearly twenty years after the death of her husband.

H. Huron, of North Bend sailed up to the city Saturday in his new catamaran. The craft attracted considerable attention while it was moved along the water front. Mr. Huron claims that it will out-sail anything on the bay, and will also hold its own in a rowing race.

The Angler Fish.
A fishing smack had lately a strange catch off the Eddystone lighthouse. It was an enormous specimen of that rare and curious sea monster the angler fish. It measured 4 feet 3 inches long and 3 feet 2 inches broad. The capacity of these fish for devouring large quantities of food is something marvelous, but the peculiar thing is that they change the usual order of things, for instead of the bird catching the fish, in this instance the fish catches the bird and makes a meal of him. Gallinules, seagulls and ducks have been discovered in the stomachs of these gluttons of the deep.

Shipyards Notes

A new donkey engine is being put in the Marshfield shipyard, to replace the one from the James Sennet, which has been placed upon the Polaris. A brick foundation for the new engine has been laid by J. L. White.

In spite of the rumors that J. V. Kruse had struck a snag in carrying out his project of putting in a shipyard, that gentleman is going ahead with his work and it is not likely that there will be any interruptions.

Capt. H. B. Reed expects to resume operations in his yard in the near future. The vessel partly constructed is about to change owners and will then be completed. The tug Katie Cook is also expected to undergo an overhauling in this yard in a few weeks.
