EDITORIAL. THE COUNTY TICKET

Republicans have little reason to complain of the result of the election in this county. After the aggressive and persistent fight for the office of sheriff, made by far the strongest man the Democrats could put up, it is especially gratifying that the voters have shown their appreciation of the good qualities of the present sheriff. It could be wished that this part of the county had done better by Gallier.

It is a great disappointment to Mr. Wolcott's friends that he was defeated, for strong hopes were entertained of his election. However Mr. Hazard is not only a hard man to run against, but he is an official who has given general satisfaction, and will continue to do so. The people evidently took the view that good service should be rewarded, no matter what the political faith of the officer.

The fact is that Coos county has a set of officers of which she may well be proud and taxpayers will have a sigh of relief that there is to be so little change in the administration.

PERHAPS A LESSON.

Now that the election is over and the smoke of battle has about cleared away, we can all take a long breath and begin to count up the casualties.

The head of the Republican ticket is among the slain. This of course, is unfortunate, from the Republican standpoint. At least it would appear so at first glance. At the same time, it may not be such a bad thing, even for the Republican party, that Mr. Furnish was defeated. It may be a lesson for the politicians who are endeavoring to ride the Republican party in Oregon for their own personal end. They are served notice that the people won't stand everything. Portland can lead the horse to water but she can't make him drink.

When the Portland gang took a very new ex-Democrat and shoved him down the throat of the Republican party, they probably thought they were about the smoothest people on earth. Perhaps they will now revise their ideas.

It is unfortunate for both the state and the party that the squabble of the two factions in Multnomah county should dominate everything else in Oregon politics. It is no wonder that the rank and file are permeated with disgust at the whole shooting-match, and have expressed their disapproval by staying away from the polls or voting against the man whose newness in the party gave him no claim on the place at the head of the ticket.

With the Governor-elect, Mr. Chas-

berlain, even the campaign seems to have developed no worse objection than that he is a "good fellow." This is really a more serious objection than it appears, but Mr. Chamberlain's "good-fellowship" may have been grossly exaggerated. It is to be hoped that he will display firmness enough to resist the sinister influence that will be brought to bear upon him. While we may kick about the Republican gang, when it comes to the Democratic gang—Good Lord deliver us!

POLITICAL NOTES FROM OTHER STATES.

Herkimer, N. Y., June 5.—Congressman James S. Sherman was renominated today by the Republican congressional convention of the Twenty-fifth district.

Nashville, Ind., June 5.—The Democratic congressional convention of the Fourth district is in session here today. All indications point to the re-nomination of Congressman Marion Griffith. The only rival aspirant for the honor is William M. Altman of this county.

Atlanta, Ga., June 5.—The Democratic voters of Georgia are today signifying their choice for governor and other state officers to be chosen this fall through the medium of a state primary. The state convention will be held next month when the candidates voted for today will be formally nominated. In addition to the state officers and various county and local officers candidates are being voted for today for congress and for United States senator. There is no opposition to the re-election of United States Senator Clay and in most of the congressional districts the incumbents will be re-elected.

Hutchinson, Kas., June 5.—Prohibitionists of Kansas assembled in state convention here today and were called to order by Chairman Mont Williams of the state committee. The convention will adopt resolutions and name candidates for governor and the other state officials to be chosen at the coming election.

Condition of Oregon Crops.

The condition of grain continues good, especially in the eastern portion of the State. There has been plenty of moisture for spring-sown wheat, and as the plant has stood nicely the yield promises to be larger than usual. Fall wheat is heading, but owing to the cool weather, it is making slow advancement, and steady, mild temperatures are now needed to mature a plump and hard kernel. Some alfalfa has been cut in southern Oregon, and clover and alfalfa is generally ready for harvesting, which is retarded by the unsettled condition of the weather. Pastures continue in excellent condition and stock is now fat and sleek. Sheep-shearing is progressing slowly and the clip will probably be an average one.

Sugar beets in Union county are being thinned and the crop is doing nicely. Gardens, corn, potatoes, and hops, all need warmer weather, but they continue thrifty and promising, although very backward.

The warm weather during the first of the week brought in a number of encouraging fruit reports to the effect that the damage to prunes, cherries and pears was not as great as expected, but the weather later became unfavorable, and the damage in the Willamette valley to Italian prunes, Royal Ann cherries and Bartlett pears is considerable. In southern and eastern Oregon the fruit outlook is very promising, and there will undoubtedly be plenty of berries in all parts of the State. Early apples have dropped badly, but winter apples, as far as can be determined, have set nicely.

Serial Story.

The "Gun Maker of Moscow," by Sylvanus Cobb Jr., a serial story will begin in Sunday morning's daily, Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. was one of the best story writers the world has known. All readers of the daily MAIL will love the opportunity of reading this beautiful written Russian story. The story is rich in character studies of the Russian people.

S. O. Co. Deal Closed

The MAIL is informed by a gentleman who does not care to be quoted that the Southern Oregon Co. deal has been closed and the sale is an accomplished fact.

It is also stated that the parties who have bought out the S. O. Co., are the same who are behind the Coos Bay Salt Lake railroad.

This gives rise to a numberless surmises and opens a wide field for speculation as to what the intentions of these capitalists may be. The fact that Engineer Sears came in over the Coos Bay wagon road instead of by an easier route, is considered significant by those who claim that a railroad can be built on the route of the old road.

On the other hand, one of the men with the surveying party in a minor capacity assured a friend here that the road would come in from the north.

We will all know more about it before the road is completed.

The railroad surveyors were at Empire City yesterday and took the tide levels. They also commenced a thorough examination of the ground in search of the best route out of Empire in the direction of Marshfield.

Now that the "war is over" and when the smoke of battle has entirely cleared away, the atmosphere will be in fine condition to prepare for one of the biggest celebrations Marshfield has ever had.

STRANDED BARODA SAVED AT LAST

Taken off the Beach Thursday
Night and now Anchored
Safely in the Bay

The Baroda is off, and the Baroda is in, and Capt. Burns has a feather in his cap four feet long.

The tugs Columbia and Astoria were off hand Thursday night and about 10 p m the vessel was finally taken off from the beach where she has lain so long. It was a beautiful night, the sea was smooth and all conditions favorable, and no trouble or mishap occurred. The vessel was taken to sea and towed up to the bay, coming in about 10 o'clock Friday forenoon and anchoring at Empire.

Capt. Burns and a crew of about ten men are aboard the vessel. The Coquille life-saving crew, who were on hand to assist in getting the vessel off the beach, came to the Bay on her, and were taken back to the mouth of the river later by the tug.

The Baroda is in excellent condition and the damage from her experience is very light. She is leaking but very little, only two short shifts having been taken at the pumps in 18 hours. Capt. Burns has her painted up and everything in shipshape, and but for the fact that her yards and topmasts are on deck there is little to indicate the desperate straits through which she has passed.

Her sails, etc., are all on board, and she will be rigged up in the bay, requiring three or four days, after which she will take about 200 tons of rock ballast in addition to the sand ballast she has on board, and will be sailed to San Francisco, where she will go on the dry dock for the examination and repair of her bottom plates.

Every one is glad that Capt. Burns has succeeded in his determined efforts to rescue this valuable vessel. He has stayed with the job which many who should be good judges pronounced hopeless, and has fully justified his faith in his own good judgment. He deserves his success.
