Herman's Opinion

Alluding to the skepticism which exists at Marshfield in regard to the Great Central Railroad, Hon. Binger Herman expresses himself substantially as follows:

"I came West as skeptical as could be and pessimistic in every utterance, about the proposed venture, but upon investigating when at the head offices I find altogether a different thing from what I was led to believe, and now see that there is enough stability in the proposition to convince me that we are about to have a railroad. It will be a grand thing for Coos Bay. As soon as it is certain of construction capital will pour into Coos Bay at a surprising rate. I cannot see where the people here can be injured in the least, but on the contrary, the advertising this country is receiving will be a wonderful impetus to immigration and the population must increase very rapidly. The financial centers in the East are already looking up Coos Bay. As an outlet for a railroad the prospect for Marshfield and the bay is very flattering.

Tomorrow the itinerary will be through Vermont where elaborate plans are making for the reception of the distinguished visitors by the cities of Burlington, Montpelier and other places where stops are to be made.
