Mr. Anderson comes recently from Skagway, Alaska, and has had considerable experience in the hotel business. He is repairing and re-fitting the hotel and will put it in first-class order. Mrs. Jackson, who has conducted the hotel since the early days, will retire and take a well-earned rest.

Sale of Hardwood Timber

J. S. Coke, of Sitkum, recently sold the myrtle and maple timber on 200 acres of his Brewster valley land to C. W. Hall & Co., of San Francisco, at $1 per thousand, stumpage. Our fancy hardwood seems to be becoming known on the outside. The purchasers of this tract agree to take everything suitable above 10 inches in diameter and to take the trees out by the roots.

The best physic—Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Easy to take. Pleasant in effect. For sale by John Preuss.

Was a Woodman

It has been learned that Joe Lloyd, the young man killed by a falling tree on Schofield creek Tuesday, was a member of the Modern Woodmen and carried $2000 insurance in that order. He was 19 years of age, and his parents live on Sweet creek, a tributary of the Siuslaw. They have now lost their three eldest sons within five years, one son having been killed at the government works on the Siuslaw about five years ago and another having died about the first of last July. The body was taken to the Siuslaw Wednesday by the Gardiner Mill Co's team.

A. J. Cottingham went to Washington County, Ark., to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off. He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected, that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine. Mr. Cottingham resides at Lockland, Ark. This Remedy is for sale by John Preuss.

Joe Lloyd, aged about 20 years a workman in the Gardiner Mill Co's camp on Schofield creek, a tributary of the Umpqua, was killed by a falling tree Tuesday morning.

The particulars of the accident are not available. The unfortunate man was not known on the Bay, having come from the Siuslaw where his parents reside, and where the body was taken for burial. This fatality comes only eight days after the accidental death of Frank Sanford who was killed by falling under the logging train at the same camp.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS

ENJOY A GOOD PICNIC

An Excursion to the Life-Saving
---A Royal Treat to all
Attending

The R. A. M. excursion to the Life-Saving station was a splendid affair and was attended by about one hundred people. A picnic in the grove was one of the enjoyables, after which an exhibition beach drill was in order. This crew of life-savers are about as well drilled as any on the Pacific and under the captaincy of Norman Nelson, criticism is out of the question. Everything about the institution is in apple pie order at all times, and the unbounded hospitality of Captain Nelson and his crew makes it a pleasure indeed for visitors.

After the beach drill a surf drill exhibition was given which was very enjoyable and showed to the satisfaction of all the wonderful capabilities and of a modern life boat, and indeed it imbues one with a guarantee that should a serious accident occur in Coos Bay entrance that as many lives would be saved as it is possible for any crew of men to save.

Captain Nelson is making many improvements at the station and ere long the buildings will be treated to a fresh coat of paint. This work is all done by the crew and costs the government nothing extra for services.

The picnickers left the station about 4 o'clock and arrived in Marshfield at 5 o'clock making an exceedingly quick trip. All the visiting Royal Arch Masons were highly pleased and speak in the highest terms of the whole affair.

Travel By Sea.

Departures by Arcata Aug. 27: P. F. Clark, W. Atter, B. Olsen, A. Valente, N. Curry, R. Leads, Mrs. Avins, A. Avins, W. Johnson, A. L. Curry.

Too Modest

The Myrtle Point Enterprise evidently hasn't much of an opinion of its own reputation for veracity, for although we published its figures for the distance from Roseburg to Marshfield via Myrtle Point, and intimated that we had lied unintentionally, it still says the MAIL has "failed to correct its misstatement." However, it knocks off 10 of the 13 miles by which it exaggerated the distance from Marshfield to Roseburg, and that is doing pretty well.

Protected His Accomplice

It has developed that Tracy, the dead outlaw, by destroying or hiding the original rifle with which he made his escape from the Oregon state penitentiary has protected his accomplice, and has made the identification of the gun, and the detection of the party that delivered the firearm to him almost an impossibility.

Edwin Baker, who has a farm 6 miles above Myrtle Point, drove over to the bay Thursday on business and returned yesterday. He reports everything prosperous in his neighborhood, the crops being unusually good and fruit first-class.

Major Kinney, chief engineer of the Great Central Railroad, arrived this morning by stage over the Coos Bay Wagon road.

Fred K. Hungerford, assistant secretary of the Great Central Land Co., is fitting up offices over the Golden Drug Store, and will make his headquarters in Marshfield. Mr. Hungerford has charge of the selling department of the G. C. L. Co., and handles their real estate in Empire, Marshfield and Bangor. Mr. Hungerford's family arrived a few days ago, and they have moved into the neat modern cottage recently erected by Mrs. C. W. Tower, on C street.

CRYSTAL AND TIN

WERE THE EMBLEMS

Double Wedding of Two Marshfield Couples Made a Brilliant Social Event.

One of the most enjoyable event of the summer took place Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Heisner, when the crystal wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Heisner and the tin wedding of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Coleman were jointly celebrated.

The guests were received in the front porch, which had been closed in with canvas and beautifully decorated with evergreens, bunting and Chinese lanterns. Throughout the house the decorations were pretty and effective. The hall was in ivy, cut flowers and autumn leaves, the double parlors, in ivy, ferns, white dahlias and autumn leaves; dining room in cut flowers and ferns.

A pretty pavilion had been erected in the yard, with tables arranged on three sides, where refreshments were served.

Music, games and conversation made the time pass all too swiftly, and the guests, warned by the late hour at last departed, wishing the charming hostesses and genial hosts many joyful returns of the day.

Many beautiful presents were received by the happy couples. One hundred and forty three beautiful pieces of glass-ware including seven pieces cut glass, and three whips, contributed by some thoughtful friend to train up the man in the way he should go, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Heisner, while Mr. and Mrs. Coleman were the recipients of about as many pieces of tinware.

Following is a list of those so fortunate as to receive invitations.
