Frank Adams, representing B. L. Polk & Co., the directory publishers is on the Bay collecting data for the next issue of the Oregon directory, and incidentally doing some business with advertisers who can use the medium he represents.

Ed and George Farrin went out ducking Tuesday. If you want a feed of ducks, little teal, big redheads, spotted loon, ordinary duck or wild geese, mallards go to E. C. F. and he will give you all you want.

Dave Johnson an escaped incorrigible from the Oregon State Reform school was taken into custody by Constable Lewis Sunday night at Salem. Young Johnson was committed from Coos county about two years ago. He is supposed to be the party who held up several citizens last Sunday night.

After the regular meeting of Doric Chapter, No. 53, Order Eastern Star, the ladies served refreshments, which were enjoyed by those who were present. The luncheon consisted of many good things, among them being hot tamales. Who wouldn't be a Star. This office sends thanks for some of the goodies.

A second operation has been performed on H. G. Ploeger's arm, which was amputated some weeks ago. In healing, which it did quite rapidly, the nerves were constricted in some way so that intense pain was the result and Mr. Ploeger suffered intensely. In the second operation it was necessary to shorten the arm somewhat, but no more trouble is expected.

If you know a social news item at any of your friends' homes or an item of news of any kind, don't put it off but call up this office and give it to us. A newsy paper depends as much on the readers as it does on the editor, who must be put onto news. If you are the only party who knows a news item, and you keep it to yourself how do you suppose he can find it out.

A Surprise Gift

A pleasant surprise was occasioned Monday by J. J. Clinkenbeard, of south Coos river on his children who are attending school at Marshfield. While the daughters were at home on the farm Mr. Clinkenbeard purchased of the Grasen Music Co., a fine new Kimball Organ and had it put into their room, over the Egle bakery and when the young ladies returned on Monday they were delighted to find the present which had been made by their father.

Creamery to Start

The creamery at the Ice and Cold Storage plant is expected to be ready to receive cream on Saturday next. The creamery machinery is all in position now. Finley Schroeder, a practical creamery man from the Coquille, came over Monday and took charge of the plant.

The intention is to start up now and run all winter. While it is not expected that a great deal of butter will be manufactured, the plant will be kept on a working basis, the product will be introduced on the market, and relations will be established with the farmers and dairymen, so that every thing will be ready to go ahead in the Spring on a larger scale.

From Thursday's Daily.

Manager W. S. Chandler went to Myrtle Point yesterday, to meet attorney John S. Coke, who reached that point Tuesday night, on his way home.

Many times the business man neglects an opportunity to unload an article at ten per cent profit and then has to be content with a sale at an absolute loss. The willingness to accept the close margin will sometimes prevent real loss.

The Pending Deal

L. J. Simpson was a passenger to San Francisco on the Alliance, and it is reported that his trip is made in connection with the pending sale of the Porter mill property to the Simpson Lumber Co. It will be a good thing for the Bay if the proposed deal be made and this property pass into the hands of the Simpsons.

Stores Will Close

The Ministerial Union has about finished its canvas of the business houses on the Sunday closing proposition.

They inform the MAIL that they have met with excellent success and have obtained the signatures of all the merchants, with two or three exceptions, and they expect to get these later. They are now confident that the movement will be a success.

One man said that he accidentally got to advertising and that he really forced himself to continue. One day he noticed some very good values in hosiery which he felt ought to be sold to make room for other things. He placed an advertisement for them in the paper to run three days and in that time all the stockings were sold. By that time he had found a lot of handkerchiefs that would make bargain sellers and he followed the hosiery ad with one for handkerchiefs. These sold also and then he found another good value in ribbons, and by that time he came to believe he could keep these special values going and benefit the whole store at the same time. It was the worth of the advertising that made the results, and it was the man who saw the advantage of the advertisement who appreciated the chance he had to do himself good by keeping the advertisements and bargains going all the time.—Ex

From Friday's Daily.

Wm. Ross, of Pleasant Point, was doing business in town Thursday.

Mrs. T. E. Dow and Mrs. Fred S. Dow and children will leave on the Arcata for San Francisco. From there they will go to San Diego, where they expect to remain during the winter.

The Marshfield Shakespeare Club met Wednesday evening with Miss Alice Allen. There was a good attendance. The subject of the evening was the discussion of the third act of King Lear. The club meets next time with Miss Beamis at the residence of R. J. Coke.

If all business men viewed the advertising proposition in the same way there would be such a vast amount of sameness in the advertising that the people might not try to read it all, being contented rather to look at one and think the others would be similar. It is variety that gives life to business.

Arrivals by Arcata, Oct. 30—Mrs M Caldwell, B Caldwell, W F Murphy, Mrs Murphy and child, Mrs Tibbette, Hazel Tibbette, Miss E Nelson, Miss A Lee, M M Allen, Jessie Stewart, N Cope, J A Falkenstein, D Hirschfeld, H S Hirsch, J M Nye, E B Henry, E Gundlinger, D Jackson, C H Dellard, Mrs Cope, Mrs Hongell, Tom Ying, H E Sallan, Joe Elliott, J W Leating, J D Johnson, J Bradley, A Scopello, B Sators, A Lazzarotto, T Ginsare, J E Mattson, O Tommerson, A Schafer.

Be Moderate

Tonight is Hallowe'en and the witches will undoubtedly be abroad in Marshfield. This is generally an interesting event for the spirited young people. It is to be hoped the event will be celebrated within the bounds of reason. Do not go so far as to destroy anything that has a value.

Coos River Items

Coos River is as crooked as it ever was. The Alert gets there both ends first, but always on time while Capt. Dan is at the wheel.

It is gratifying to see how well the strangers are pleased with our country and climate. One man tells me that he left Colorado 5 weeks ago and the snow was falling when he left. He says this is good enough for him. He is going to send his coats back to his friends, as he don't need them here. He will be pulling out for Colorado next Spring to get his clothes dry.

Grass is growing like in Spring time, cattle doing fine.

Jack Bunch's dog chased a panther at Noble's camp a short time ago. Jack chased himself in the other direction though he wont acknowledge the corn.

What is the matter with South fork Zach? There are others. His cry for help through the MAIL must have been a howling success; if not, why so quiet?

It is strange how easy things get lost here on the bay. For instance, Geo. Stemmerman left Marshfield on the Alert with a lot of apple boxes. When he arrived at Allegany, he was there, but where was the apple boxes? Why, they went up some of the creeks in the fog; perhaps Salt creek.

More about it next time.

Back From Roseburg

Dr. Tower has returned from Roseburg. Major Kinney did not come in with him as was expected, but will be here next week. Dr. Tower says that matters in connection with the Great Central are going as well as any one could wish, and there is no question but the road is going through. The Roseburg people are taking much interest in the new road and are quite enthusiastic over the fact that Roseburg is to be the junction of the Great Central and the Southern Pacific.

THINKS MARSHFIELD SHOULD

RAISE A BONUS

TO THE EDITOR:—

Having read the notice in the DAILY COAST MAIL of the intention of the Spreckels Bros, to purchase the old mill site of Dean & Co. for depot grounds etc. I think the people of Marshfield should show their appreciation of the move of this prominent firm in purchasing this property for the purpose stated and should promptly subscribe the small amount of bonus asked, as the benefits accruing to our town would justify it.

CITIZEN OF MARSHFIELD.

CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION

OF THE BELT LINE

The contract for the construction of the Belt Line railroad, from Empire City to a point on Pony slough where it will connect with the section let to Contractor Small, has been let to Frank Wade, — Moriarty, John Diers, Fred McLane and George Flanagan. This will be all trestle and pile work. The contract has been closed, and McLane is now in Portland to purchase two piledrivers for use on the work, which will be fully under way in a short time.
