Special to the Mail.
Washington, Nov. 21—The President’s Stewgen was almost the whole topic at the cabinet session. The proof sheets are ready.

The president is said to be opposed to calling an extra session of Congress after March 3rd on the matter of tariff revision. Believing that even the best informed men in the house have not had time to learn on the question, he is in favor of appointing a Tariff Committee to collect all possible information, enabling Congress to approach the matter intelligently.

He fears an extra session might result in a deadlock between Senate and House.

LAWLOR-HOWARD NUTRALS.
The marriage of two such estimable young people as Mr. Wm. M. Lawlor and Miss Elizabeth V. Howard deserves a more extended notice than we were able to give it yesterday. The Howard family possesses a tradition of the occasion.

The invited guests were: Medadmas Mary Brown and F. J. Strange. Misses Anna Fisher, Stella O’Donnell, Eliza Bennett and Gemin Brown, Messrs. Geo. Lawlor and J. W. Flanagan, and Rev. F. J. Strange, who spoke in words whereby the happy couple were united. The bride was handsomely given in a bouquet colored crepe, trimmed in lace mantillas.

After the ceremony and the vocal congratulations the bride and groom led the company, including Mr. and Mrs. Howard, and their daughter Letitia, in the dancing room, where a most beautiful supper was served and everyone enjoyed.

There was a fine display of elegant presents, a talent contest furnished by various McCandless friends, and many others, no doubt, equally valuable and beautiful from friends in California who are thus visiting their friends in the area, just arrived. Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor gave us all a new house built just for them at North Bend, where they will be at home to their many friends, who wish them happy years. It would be good to have a new house built just for us.

North Bend to the Front

Among the many other new enterprises that are being put its operation in that thriving town, the railroad, known as the Portor null, will be one of the first to start wheels in motion.

Mr. Simpson is having the whole road laid over and put in first-class condition to start the work. The cottages on the premises are being reconvened and reconstructed for the use of families. Many of the houses have already been spoken for.

The work of the railroad is apparent. This will show where give employment to about 150 men, and it will facilitate the transportation of lumber and coal. It will be a good thing for the town. There are already training 1000 railroad men.
