NEXT DOOR TO POST OFFICE

Beginning this morning we are prepared to serve regular meals and short orders at the lunch counter connected with the Garfield Cafe.

The Margarita Fischer Co., will be in Marshfield next Friday and Saturday night for their two last performances on this trip to Coos, so this will be the last opportunity to hear this excellent little Company.

You certainly have eaten at the Broiler, if not, do so, for to have been in Marshfield and not to have eaten at the Broiler puts you in the rear rank as to being up to date.

School Superintendent W. H. Bunch was in town Saturday, on an official tour.

Sacchi is still in the lead for fancy groceries. Don't forget that. And he is also there with the goods, in the line of staples.

Mrs. Ollie Walter of Coquille came in on the train yesterday and left this morning via the stage for Eugene.

Wickman & Wickman have received a fresh lot of fruit and vegetables, which will go at the bottom price. They are head quarters for fancy groceries etc.

A pleasure party composed of Mrs. Jerrats, Capt. and Mrs. Magee and Mrs. Wickman of Empire and A. Wickman the groceryman of Marshfield are camped at Fairview.

A HEROIC DEED

Injured Logger Carried 24 Miles by Comrades and Exiles

The strenuous life of the woods has just furnished another story of courage, unconscious heroism and death in a Washington logging camp. Albert Lentz, a young employe at Kalb's logging camp, up the Wiabkah, was caught and pinioned by a large log, and his left leg badly crushed. Mr. Kalb at once started on horseback for town, 25 miles distant, and 14 of the men improvised a stretcher and in relays carried the wounded man 24 miles to the boom, where he was met by Dr. Smith, and taken by boat the remainder of the way and put in the Aberdeen General Hospital, where all that medical science could do was done. The patient was brave and courageous, but the nature of the injuries and the shock proved fatal, as he died early in the morning of Thursday. The body will be shipped to his home in Wisconsin. The men who brought him to the boom were nearly exhausted upon reaching there, as they had traveled as fast as possible without food, water or rest, but they were not conscious of doing anything unusual.

Accident

Year old daughter of Mr. accidentally killed near a Wednesday evening. The are enroute from the Palouse to the Rogos River Valley, and ere camped about 5 miles below here when the fatal accident occurred. Some bedding was being lifted from the front of the wagon when a pistol fell out, and, striking the tongue, was exploded, the bullet passing through the little girl's body. She was playing with her small heather just in front of the wagon, and immediately after being shot begged her father to throw the revolver away so that no one else might be killed with it. Mr. Warner is an Oddfellow and Knight of Pythias, and the funeral was conducted under the auspices of the two orders.
