OF BENEFIT TO ALL.

SENATOR DANIEL ON THE VALUE OF GOOD ROADS.

Why They Are Economical and What They Save—Should Be Built to Last. An Object Lesson in a Virginia County.

In an address at a Virginia good roads convention United States Senator Daniel spoke on the economy and benefits of good highways as follows:

"A good road is a universal public benefactor. It is the highway of the farmer, the merchant, the traveler, the laborer of the land, the carrier of the goods of the world."

fifteen or twenty miles away over a bad road, he cannot get there and sell it before breakfast. But on a good road he can bring his produce with the dew of the morning upon it ten or even fifteen miles to town and get it to market while it is most valuable.

"Think for a moment of the effect upon the man himself. Let him have a rickety wagon and a bad horse and twenty miles to go to town through such mud as we have up in this country, and he will be ready by the time he gets there to appreciate the legend written on a dial in Spain with reference to the flying moments. 'Each one wounds, the last kills.' But if he is journeying upon a good road pleasant thoughts come to him. He has opportunity to think. He has opportunity to take in whatever is pleasant around him. He will enjoy conversation with his companions, and when he gets to town he is a rational, contented man, ready to face the next duty in life, whatever it may be.

"But it is not only in saying that good roads are economical. See what they produce—increasing population, better society, better schools and increased value of property. Just as soon as you get a good road in your neighborhood the value of your land upon each side of it will more than pay for its building. There is not a single thing that you can suggest in the way of public enterprise which offers a more immediate and more certain return for your investment than good roads."

National Aid For Good Roads.

It looks now as if national aid was bound to come in the near future. Already many state legislatures have put themselves on record in its favor.
