As It Should Be

(Salem Journal)

The highest price ever paid for school land in Oregon was paid Tuesday afternoon, when W. J. and Finley Morrison paid $14.27 11-32 per acre for 840 acres in the 15 or 8 east, in Linn county. The land was sold to the highest bidder, all being submitted under seal and accompanied by a check for one-fifth of the purchase price. The ordinary price for school land is $1.25 per acre, but, under a new rule of the board, all newly surveyed sections in Western Oregon are sold to the highest bidder. The school fund profited to over $13 an acre by this method of making the sale. The total amount paid was $4567.50. At the usual price the land would have brought about $600 so the gain was $3767.50. The cost of advertising was less than $40. The next highest bid was $8.81 per acre, made by a representative of H. G. McKinly.

This was all the indictments found, up to last evening.

NOTHING CAN STOP HIM

Lane County Man Says Hermann Will Surely Be Elected.

(Telegram)

A. C. Jennings, of Lane County, Chief Clerk of the lower House of the Legislature, was "asking the sights" of Portland yesterday. For the sake of a short interview he took a brief respite from sight-seeing and drifted into politics. "Oh, yes," said Mr. Jennings. "Hermann will be elected. Nothing can beat him. He'll win by about 3000 votes. It wasn't the best thing to do to nominate him, but he's our candidate, and we've got to elect him. Better send him, a Republican to Washington than Reames, a Democrat.

"Hermann's vote will be smaller than the normal Republican majority, because many members of the party won't go to the polls, and because others will vote against him. Of course, nearly all the persons who are against him will get out and vote, both Republicans and Democrats. But Hermann's nomination was equivalent to election."

DORIC CHAPTER INITIATES

The Largest Class Ever Taken at Once in Marshfield

Last evening a large number of a class of nearly 50 Masons took the Eastern Star degree. This is probably the largest number ever initiated into the O. E. S. in Oregon at one time.

Doric Chapter No. 53, O. E. S., will thus be augmented by the very choicest material to be had in Marshfield and which will not only make this Chapter very strong financially but will give it a stride in advance so the Marshfield Stars will outshine any Chapter in southern Oregon.

Some of the Masons have had this in mind for some time, and the Marshfield Masons never do things by halves as will be seen by this act.

This is a move in the right direction and the Masons are wise to have the full co-operation of their wives, and sisters and cousins, now that they expect to put up a Masonic Temple.

After the initiation the brothers and sisters went to the store-room at the rear of the Gristen Music Co.'s store and partook of a sumptuous banquet. Here the stars shone at their brightest and all those present seemed to be satisfied and glad it happened.

TO MAKE CHEAPER BRICK

Facilities of the Catchlug Slough Yard to be Increased

Messes Langhead and Renfro of the Catchlug slough brick yard went to Myrtle Point yesterday after a brick machine, which will be added to the equipment of their yard.

This will give them a capacity of 25,000 bricks a day. It is desired to fit this yard to make brick in an economical manner and bring the cost down to a figure which will encourage the construction of brick buildings on the Bay. Brick now cost about $15 a thousand, a practically prohibitive price. It is thought that the cost can be brought down $7 or $8 a thousand, and at this price, many of the new buildings will undoubtedly be constructed of brick. It is said that L. J. Simpson is contemplating using brick instead of wood or the large store building which he will construct in North Bend.

With present prospects it seems that cheaper brick will be a decided boon to the builders, and will cut quite a figure in the coming town-building.
