

ALL ROADS LEAD TO SAN FRANCISCO

During Great Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

All roads lead to San Francisco in August, 1903, and to the 37th National Encampment, G. A. R., which promises to be the greatest event in the annals of that patriotic organization and in the history of California as well. The people of San Francisco are prepared to accommodate the vast throng that is expected to sejour within their gates during the Encampment. To see the brilliant illumination of the city, coupled with other unusual attractions, will be worth the trip. The principal feature of the electrical display will be the courts of honor, of which there are to be quite a number, spanning across the intersections of principal streets. Each consists of a canopy of dazzling lights suspended in mid air above the ground, from which will extend blazing streamers in graceful loops, reaching to the ornamental pillars on the sidewalk. Between these courts of honor and extending for many squares beyond them in every direction, garlands with myriads of incandescents will span the streets, making night ever brighter than day, and revealing the wonderful sights of San Francisco, in which the Queen of the Pacific abounds.

The Veterans of the Mexican War, of whom 685 live in California, and 965 on the Pacific Coast, more than can be mustered in any other section of the Union, will take a prominent part in the parade and other demonstrations.

The Veterans of the Spanish-American war will be largely represented, because San Francisco, the gateway to the Philippines, has more than any other city in the United States, bade Godspeed to a greater number of our troops leaving or these scenes of conflict and conquest and again welcomed them on their return, crowned with victory and glory.

Monday, August 17th, will be devoted to receiving and locating Veterans and their friends; reception and "open house" at all headquarters.

Tuesday, August 18th—Parade of United States Troops stationed at the Presidio, Marine Corps, Sailors of the United States war ships, Apprentices from Naval Station, Marines from Navy Yard, National Guard of California, Naval Veterans, ex-prisoners of war, Military, Semi-Military and other patriotic organizations, Native Sons of the Golden West.

Wednesday, August 19th—Parade of G. A. R. In the evening there will be reunions of the civil war associations and camp-fires.

Thursday, August 20th—Opening of the encampment in the Grand Opera house. Two sessions will probably be held. More receptions, reunions and camp-fires in the evening.

Friday, August 21st—Closing the work of the Encampment and general rejoicing for the rest of the day and evening, with interchange of visits from Departments, receptions and camp-fires.

Excursions—During the entire week there will be excursions each day to points of interest, such as Mare Island Navy Yard, Naval Training Station on Yerba Buena Island, Golden Gate Park, Cliff House and Seal Rocks, University of California at Berkeley, Mount Tamalpais, the famous fovea beds of San Francisco and Sausalito, Santa Clara and San Jose, Mount Hamilton, the Lick Observatory, Palo Alto and the Stanford University, the Military Reservation, harbor and coast defenses, Sacramento, and points in the Upper Sacramento Valley the Veterans Home at Yountville, Napa Valley, Pacific Grove, Monterey and Santa Cruz; the Yosemite Valley, Calaveras Big Trees, the Fresno vineyards, the oil fields of Kern County, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Diego, Mount Lassen, and many points of world-wide fame in which California is richer than any other country on the face of the globe.

For Hotel Accommodation the rates are lower than those of any other large city in the United States. Lodging may be had from 50 cents a night, and three good, substantial meals for 75 cents a day. The committee is securing ample accommodation in hotels, lodging-houses and dwellings for all that may come.

In order to obtain the best accommodation at the lowest rates it is absolutely necessary for parties who contemplate coming to the Encampment to communicate with the Hotel Committee at once, stating what kind of accommodation they desire, the rate they wish to pay for how many persons, and date of their arrival and probable departure.

The Naval Parade upon the beautiful land-locked Bay of San Francisco, large enough to accommodate the fleets of all nations, and which reflects upon its placid, mirror-like surface the cloudless, azure sky, typical of California, will be a picture long to be remembered.

The display of California's agricultural and mineral wealth, coming from the fertile valleys, hillsides and from the bowels of the mountains, will certainly be a valuable object lesson.

Encampment week will be one round of festivities for San Francisco and all her guests. A part of the programme for the week has been decided upon and includes the following, subject, of course, to many additions and, perhaps, to some minor changes.

LANDIS CAUGHT AT LAST

Now Awaiting Extradition from Oklahoma

(Salem Statesman, June 6)

Governor Chamberlain, upon information of District Attorney George M. Brown, yesterday issued a requisition upon the governor of the Indian Territory for the return to this state of M. D. Landis, who is held as a fugitive from justice in the town of Collinsville, Cherokee Nation, and is wanted in Coquille City, Coos county, to answer to the charge of murder in the first degree. Landis is accused of having, on May 23, 1901, laid in wait for one Jesse E. Eudaly, shot and killed him for his money, and then buried him. When the dead man's body was discovered and Landis was suspected, he fled. Sheriff Stephen Gallier was appointed states agent to serve the requisition and bring the accused man back to justice.

Surveying for Power Plant

(Del Norte Record)

Surveying near Gasquets by the Northern Power Company, for a ditch to carry water from the Middle Fork of Smith River to a contemplated power station designed to furnish electrical power to points as far south as Eureka, is still in progress. It has been determined to establish the Middle Fork station about a half mile above Gasquets instead of at Adam's and the North Fork station opposite Gasquets, where the two streams meet. The parties in the field claim when the surveys are completed, a large force will be put to work grading right of way for the ditches to carry the water to the points where it will be utilized for making electric power.

As stated several weeks ago, it is contemplated to generate 25,000 horse power, to turn the Industrial machinery in the Humboldt county. This can easily be secured from the North and Middle Forks of Smith River, with the South fork as a reserve.

Hunting Deer With Dogs

EDITOR COAST MAIL—
A certain party on Haynes is engaged in making a practice of running deer with dogs, killing several a week. The dogs are the ones that generally fall prey to the merciless dogs, and this men as the destruction of a few, or two for each deer. They are run into the slough and are either caught on the mudflats and torn to pieces by the bloodthirsty dogs, or they are killed in the slough by the lawless party.

The deer were a killed or run out of that part of the country last year in the same way, principally by this same party. Now that the same lawless work has begun this year, some of the people are beginning to think that it is time to have it stopped. The party is closely watched and if not careful will be strictly dealt with.

Sunflower Fuel

In Russia sunflower stalks gathered from the fields and dried in piles have entirely replaced firewood. In fact, these stalks are preferred even to pine wood, producing a quick and hot flame fire. About 2,000 pounds of such firewood are gathered from an acre of land, thus adding a great boon to a district where wood is scarce. Sunflower shells are also used for heating purposes not only in private houses, but in large factories as well. They are burned in ovens specially prepared for their consumption.

A Town Under One Roof

What would the ordinary woman say to a family that used every day 20,000 napkins, 12,000 towels, 3,800 sheets, 20,000 plates and 18,000 knives and forks? This is what is required by one of the large hotels in New York, at which a man cannot live for much less than $8 a day. The hotel will accommodate 3,000 people, besides 1,500 servants to wait on them.—Youth's Companion.

A Mechanical Catastrophe

Smartness—Hear about Hardink's experience with the automatic electric waiter in New York?
Smartness—He picked out his order, decided he'd take a Bermuda onion and dropped in his money. But the confounded machine sprung a leak on him.—Baltimore American.

Fortunate

Physician—The truth can no longer be hidden, madam. I am obliged to tell you that your little son is—er—weak minded—that is—well, it must be said—he is an idiot.
Mrs. Higgin—How fortunate it is that we are rich! No one will ever notice it.—New York Weekly.

'It Did Him Good'

"I am sorry, doctor, you were not able to attend the supper last night. It would have done you good to be there."
"It has already done me good, madam. I have just prescribed for three of the participants."

Buried in Secret

Two ancient kings were buried in secret. Attila, king of the Huns, after his siege of Rome, died in Hungary A. D. 453. His soldiers, desirous of giving their great leader a royal burial, inclosed his body first in a casket of gold, this in one of silver and this in one of lead and transported it into a desert. There slaves were selected, and under the direction of men who were sworn to secrecy they dug the grave of the dead monarch. When this was accomplished no traces of the spot were left. The slaves were all cruelly slain.
Alaric, king of the Goths, the celebrated conqueror of Rome, died when with his army at Cozenna, south Italy. His men turned the course of a river, interred the body of their sovereign, with much treasure, in its bed and restored the stream to its channel.
No man has ever lighted on the resting place of either of these kings, who in this respect resemble Moses, of whom it is written, "No man knoweth of his sepulcher unto this day."

The Ideal Nurse

A nurse generally arrives in time of crisis, the patient is turned over to her, the family draw a long breath of comfort and relief, confide in her amazingly, question her about the doctor, her treatment, the patient's condition, her experience of similar cases and unhesitatingly make her privy to their most personal affairs.
Besides possessing unblemished courage and professional skill a nurse should be prepared to sweep, keep a room in order, arrange flowers, read aloud, write notes, unobtrusively quiet such family jars as might affect her patient. She must understand what to do herself, what should be left to servants, remembering that this will vary in every household. She must be quick to see when her presence is necessary, when she is in the way. She can allow herself no personal habits as to bed or board, no private existence or amusement while at a case, and when the patient is safely through the exciting period of illness she has to settle down with good grace to the tedium of convalescence, never resenting the inevitable withdrawal of intimacy as the family resume a normal habit of life and no longer made her the recipient of every thought and emotion.—Mary Moss in Atlantic.

One Enough

"But what is your real objection to polygamy?" insisted the argumentative one.
"Oh, give us a rest!" said the other. "Don't you know that a man can't serve two masters?"—Town Topics.
